

Roy Wilkins Raps Concept of 'Black Power'

Father of Hate,
Mother of Violence,
Negro Leader Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, looks upon the concept of "black power" as "the father of hatred and the mother of violence."

Wilkins condemned the concept in these words Tuesday night as he opened the NAACP's annual convention with a keynote address to 2,000 delegates.

"We of the NAACP will have none of this," he said. "It shall not now poison our forward march."

"Black Death"

"Black power" in the quick, uncritical and highly emotional adoption it has received from some segments of a beleaguered people can mean only black death," Wilkins emphasized. "Even if it should be enthroned briefly, the human spirit would die a little."

The director also criticized the adoption of a resolution by the Congress of Racial Equality calling for retaliation by Negroes against acts of violence.

While stressing that the NAACP has never "signed a pact to turn the cheek forever," Wilkins said: "It seems reasonable to assume that proclaimed protective violence is as likely to encourage counterviolence as it is to discourage violent persecution."

Racial Pride

Instead, said Wilkins, the NAACP should choose as its weapons in the fight for Negro freedom the ballot, participation in government as elected public servants, and efforts to gain increased employment, fair housing and unsegregated public education.

In New York Tuesday, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said he understood the slogan "black power" to mean "an appeal to racial pride, an appeal to the Negro not to be ashamed of being black and the transfer of the powerlessness of the Negro into positive, constructive power."

He said Tuesday he would not use the term in directing his organization, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Fatal Stabbing in Manitowoc Park Called Accident

TWO RIVERS (AP)—Manitowoc County authorities say a Milwaukee youth stabbed fatally in a state forest Tuesday was apparently an accident victim.

"As far as can be determined now, it appears to have been an accident," said Sheriff Edward McConnell. "However, our investigation is continuing."

The body of Frank J. Stefanowski, 19, was found in a camping area at Point Beach State Forest.

Stefanowski had been stabbed in the heart, apparently with a 12-inch hunting knife.

The knife was found a few feet from the body.

McConnell said there was no evidence of a struggle. There were no marks on the body other than the stab wound.

County Coroner Theodore Tietgen said the youth may have fallen on the knife and pulled it out of his chest before he died.

Stefanowski had been wearing the knife in a sheath on his belt.

Hydrogen Tamed For Lunar Flight

29-Ton Satellite Gives Scientists
Chance to Observe Fuel in Space

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — et fuel for man-to-the-moon and other space missions.

The breakthrough came Tuesday when America's heaviest satellite, a 29-ton rocket stage, hurdled around the globe for three orbits while ground stations monitored the behavior of 10 tons of hydrogen packed in the fuel tank.

Throughout this 4½-hour period, the hydrogen performed better than expected, thanks to a unique system of small rockets and gas vents that created a tiny thrust to keep the fuel positioned in the bottom of the 64,000-gallon tank, at the end of the engine.

Previous Tests
Under weightless conditions on previous tests with smaller rockets, the fuel had a tendency to curl into a ball, climb the walls of the tank and pool at the top.

Johnson, Humphrey See Viet Nam Victory

Told U. S.
Must Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told the nation's governors today that the United States has the initiative in Viet Nam and must stay and fight there until it has stopped the aggression from the North.

The vice president, in a prepared address to the 58th annual Governors Conference, said that because of a series of "smashing defeats" to the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong, the initiative in the conflict clearly "has shifted to the allied forces."

The governors are considering a resolution in support of President Johnson's Southeast Asia policy.

Defend Policies

As a representative of the President, who canceled a visit to the conference session, Humphrey launched a defense in depth of the President's course in a war most of the governors said the people want ended quickly.

Humphrey said the nation is faced with only two options — to stay and fight in Viet Nam or to get out. He said withdrawal would only encourage further Communist aggression in Asia and would jeopardize the integrity of independent nations in that part of the world.

"There are those who suggest that we should stay, but be quiet about it — that we should fight, but not vigorously," he said. "I am not sure whether they fully support a half war or give half-way support to a full war."

Halt Aggression

"I say that we must stay and fight and work in South Viet Nam until we have achieved our objective — the halt of aggression from the North, the independence of South Viet Nam and peace in Southeast Asia," Humphrey said that "despite the efforts of a small minority."

Negro Area Of Omaha Tense, Quiet

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Omaha's predominantly Negro North Side was tense but quiet today as Nebraska Gov. Frank Morrison said he would not tolerate civil disobedience.

For three straight nights, throngs of adults and youths in the area threw bottles and stones, smashed store windows and then looted the stores.

"Under no circumstances will this state while I am governor," said Morrison at a news conference Tuesday night. He arrived from Los Angeles, where he had been attending the National Governors Conference.

As city police, state safety patrol troopers and National Guardsmen stood ready to swing into action, the governor toured the strife-torn area.

Authorities Still Searching for Man Who Kidnaped Young Girl in 1965

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Capt. Elza Hatfield, a veteran Kansas City policeman whose major-case unit gets the worst crimes, reached into his pocket and pulled out a picture of a blue-eyed girl, her mischievous, freckled face ringed with curls.

"I carry that with me wherever I go," Hatfield said. "Every man in the office does."

The portrait was that of Denise Sue Clinton, 9 years old and on summer vacation when she was kidnaped July 8 a year ago by a robber who apparently took her only as an afterthought.

There has been no trace of her — no torn or discarded clothing, no ransom demand, no indication whether she is dead or alive.

Soldier Brings Son's Body Home

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — Army Spec. 6 Gerald L. Smith, 43, a career soldier wounded twice in Viet Nam, has brought home the body of his soldier son, killed in combat in Viet Nam June 30.

Smith arrived Tuesday night with the body of Army Pfc. Danny L. Smith, 22. Meeting them were Mrs. Smith and her only other child, Darrell Smith, 20, who had completed his first week of Army basic training at Ft. Bliss, Tex., when he learned of his brother's death.

"I'll bring myself home," Danny had written to a friend in a letter dated the day before the young soldier was killed. "These people can't hurt me."

Details Unavailable

He would have been 23 today. "I'll be an old gray man," he wrote.

Details of the action that killed him were not available. Services were pending today at the nearby Holloman Air Force Base chapel with burial at the Ft. Bliss cemetery.

The elder Smith, nearing retirement from the Army, went to Viet Nam last December with an Army helicopter unit. His son left Ft. Bliss for Viet Nam in January. Danny was with a 1st Infantry unit.

The Smith family declined to speak to newsmen Tuesday night, but a family friend, Mrs. George Ingram, said the father was wounded twice in Viet Nam action. Danny was wounded last May but returned to his unit in June.

Different Tone

My 13-year-old daughter, Belinda, was his pet," Mrs. Ingram said. "He called her 'Kitten.' He told her he was coming home, that, 'they can't keep me over here."

His letters to Belinda's mother took a slightly different tone.

"I sure hope I may get out of this place. I keep telling everyone I will."

The Smiths, father and son, met last May in Viet Nam. Danny's unit was moving along a road when he saw his father standing nearby. There was a brief reunion.

The next day, Danny's mother reported earlier, her husband was called to Danny's unit. His son had been wounded, but not seriously, in a mine explosion. This was Danny's second tour of duty with the Army. He had reached the rank of Spec. 4 on the first tour, his family reported. He was awaiting action on his application for warrant officers' school when his orders to Viet Nam arrived.

106 Missions Flown

American Warplanes Dodge SAMs as Air Raids Continue

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — American warplanes dodged 27 to 29 Soviet-made missiles over North Viet Nam Tuesday during one of the heaviest raiding days of the war, a U.S. spokesman announced.

It was the largest number of surface-to-air missiles expended in one day by the Communists, but the American spokesman said none of the American raiders was hit by the SAMs.

The missiles were fired from sites in the Red River Valley 50 to 115 miles north and northwest of Hanoi. U.S. Air Force pilots reported wrecking four of the sites and also hitting two fuel depots within 33 miles of the North Vietnamese capital.

106 Missions

Air Force and carrier-based Navy jets flew a total of 106 multiple missions, a new high in the 16-month air war.

The raiding fighter-bombers also hammered at bridges, barracks, storage areas, anti-aircraft raiding fighter-bombers in the southern panhandle as well as the Red River Valley.

In the only major ground action reported, a government regiment of about 3,000 men clashed four times with Communist forces 62 miles southwest of Saigon Tuesday. A spokesman said the Vietnamese troops killed 83 Viet Cong and captured a 57mm recoilless rifle, four machine guns and 27 other weapons. He said government casualties were light.

Tuesday Flights

But American pilots flew the unusually high number of 443 sorties in South Viet Nam Tuesday, claiming damage or destruction of about 500 Viet Cong huts and fortifications and causing 55 secondary explosions. They also reported possibly killing 28 Viet Cong.

South Vietnamese air force pilots flew 252 sorties. U.S. B52 bombers hammered at two targets today: a Viet Cong base camp and training center near Cambodia 60 miles northwest of Saigon and a Viet Cong troop concentration 38 miles southwest of Tuy Hoa, on the central coast.

A U.S. spokesman announced the loss of three small two-seat observation planes in South Viet Nam today. One was shot down 25 miles southwest of Quang Ngai and another was shot down a mile away. The third crashed 20 miles southwest of Da Nang, but the cause was not known.

The two fliers in each of the three planes were rescued by helicopters.

Sukarno Accepts Loss Of 'Presidency for Life'

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — the service of freedom." Sukarno told the closing session of the Provisional People's Consultative Assembly Tuesday.

He said he would carry out the resolutions passed by the Congress but declared that under the 1945 constitution only the president has the right to appoint a Cabinet.

Work Together

The Congress ordered the president Tuesday to let Suharto choose the Cabinet. In an apparent last-minute compromise it later issued a call for the two men to work out the appointments together.

"This I accept," Sukarno said. "I don't want to be treated as a king of kings. I've been fighting for nearly 40 years — to be only a king? No, no."

The new Cabinet is to be chosen before Indonesia's National Day Aug. 17. It remains to be seen how much of a voice Suharto will let the president have in choosing the ministers.

Speaking after Sukarno, the army strongman said that anyone who opposed resolutions of the Congress also opposed the 1945 constitution. The resolutions are a manifestation of the Indonesian people's desires, he declared.

LBJ Claims Solution Is 'On the Way'

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, declaring the Communists know they cannot win a military victory in Viet Nam, has voiced optimism that "we are on the way" to solving the Vietnamese problem.

Johnson planned a series of Viet Nam conferences at his ranch home near here tonight, summoning Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and other military and diplomatic advisers for an overnight business visit.

The President expressed an optimistic view of the war during a news conference Tuesday on the front lawn of his ranch — a session preceded by a barbecue buffet lunch served by Mrs. Johnson and daughter Luci.

Fighting Rains

Taking the wraps off a top secret message from the Pentagon, Johnson cited estimates that stepped-up bombing raids on the Hanoi-Haiphong area have wiped out 57 per cent of North Viet Nam's petroleum storage facilities. He said 87 per cent of all storage capacity has been hit during the raids that began last week.

Other conference highlights: —Discussing racial problems, Johnson indirectly chided militant Negro leaders by asserting: "We are not interested in black power and we are not interested in white power, but we are interested in American democratic power, with a small 'd.'" Some militants have raised "black power" as a battle cry.

—Turning to politics, the President said "as time permits."

Ex-Sen. Byrd Ailing With Brain Tumor

BERRYVILLE, Va. (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. Harry F. Byrd Sr., longtime head of Virginia's conservative Democratic party organization, is suffering from a brain tumor.

A source close to the Byrd family said Tuesday night that there has been a "steady deterioration" in the 79-year-old former senator's condition, and that he is partially paralyzed.

Byrd, who was hospitalized for a short time in March, was reported seriously ill at his home here last week. However, family spokesmen have declined to specify the nature of his illness.

Byrd, a former Virginia governor, retired from the Senate last November after serving for 32 years. A son, Harry F. Byrd Jr., was appointed to succeed him.

and scored as John Kennedy singled. Jim Maloney suffered his fourth defeat against nine victories.

Billy Williams got all three Chicago hits off Fryman, who stopped Ron Santo's hitting with a streak at 26 games. Don Cline, who hit a two-run homer for the Pirates, while Jose Pagan collected three doubles and drove in two runs.

Al Jackson pitched a two-hitter as St. Louis cut San Francisco's lead over the Pirates to 1-0. Jackson, 26, retired the last 16 batters in a row. Tim McCarver homered for the Cardinals, and Lou Brock stole three bases and scored a run.

Philadelphia's Larry Jackson pitched a six-hitter and doubled home two runs against New York. His clutch double in the sixth put the Phillies ahead 2-1, and he scored the third run on a single by John Callison. Ed Kranepool drove in the Mets' run with a sacrifice fly.

Joe Torre batted in two runs with a homer and scored three times as Atlanta won its fourth straight. Torre led the attack against Houston's Mike Cuellar, who suffered his first setback after winning six games. Dave Nicholson homered twice and Jim Wynn once for the Astros.

Dodgers Sign Dick Stuart as Pinch Hitter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The third-place Los Angeles Dodgers announced Tuesday a players' shuffle through which they hope to beef up their batting roster and close the four game gap separating them from first place San Francisco.

First baseman Dick Stuart, a 218-hitter with four home runs and 15 runs batted in this season, was signed as a pinch hitter. Stuart, a right-handed batter with 224 home runs during his major league span, will be utilized mostly for pinch hitting chores.

Also signed was Spokane outfielder Jim Barbiere, currently leading the Pacific Coast League with a .355 batting average.

Infielder Bart Shurley and outfielder Derrell Griffith were sent down to Spokane, an L.A. farm club, to make room. Shurley was hitting .200 and Griffith .067.

Browns' Brewer To Be Linebacker

CLEVELAND (AP) — Veteran 16-foot-4, 235-pound Brewer will make the switch because line-backer and defensive captain signed his 1966 contract with the Cleveland Browns and will start the training season as a line-end of this National Football League season, "and we are going to need some help in our line-backing department."

Coach Blanton Collier said the line-backing department.

Against Better Judgment

Koufax Interviewed About Win Before Tilt

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The pre-game incident brought to reality something pressure on Sandy Koufax when he squared off against Cincinnati by Dodger relief pitcher Ron Perranoski.

"Sandy is the only pitcher in baseball," said Perranoski, "who could afford to tape a postgame show before the game ever starts."

Koufax, now 15-3, leads the National League in victories, in complete games with 15 in 20 starts, in strikeouts with 162 in 161 1/3 innings, and in earned run average with 1.51.

35th Shutout

The shutout against the Reds was his 35th for the Dodgers, equalling the club record held by Nap Rucker.

More important, Sandy is seven days ahead of the pace Dizzy Dean set for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1934 when he became the last major leaguer to enjoy a 30-victory season.

"All I'm thinking about now is winning number 16," said Koufax when asked about his chances of winning 30.

"I doubt if anyone will ever win 30 again," said Dodger Manager Walter Alton, "but Sandy seems to have a good chance."

Dean Rusk, Left, U.S. secretary of state, talks with Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan tonight at a dinner in Sato's Tokyo residence. Rusk will leave Friday for South Korea. Earlier, in Kyoto, where he was attending the annual

U.S.-Japan discussions, Rusk told a news conference "with whatever means would be required" if Red China launches a nuclear attack against any of America's Asian allies. (AP Wirephoto)

'With Whatever Means Required'

U.S. Would Retaliate if China Attacked in Asia, Rusk Vows

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk today warned Red China that it "with whatever means would be required" if it launches a nuclear attack against any of America's Asian allies.

Asked at a news conference if the United States is prepared to reply with atomic bombs if one of its Asian allies is attacked with nuclear weapons, Rusk paused, then answered with quiet deliberation:

"I can't think of anything more insane than an attack with nuclear weapons on an ally of the United States in Asia."

"We would meet our obligation under our mutual security treaty with whatever means would be required."

Though Communist China was not referred to either in the question or the answer, the exchange followed a discussion of Chinese nuclear testing and a statement by Rusk that the United States will take further development of Chinese nuclear capability "fully into account in our own defense arrangements."

Rusk held the news conference with Japanese Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shima at his side after the end of a three-day meeting of U. S. and Japanese Cabinet ministers.

The conference was the fifth annual meeting of the Joint U. S.-Japan Committee on Trade and Economic Affairs.

Disagreements between the two countries on Viet Nam and trade

Long-Term Credits

The United States said it disapproved of long-term credits to Communist countries. The Japanese had wanted American approval for five-year credits for China to match those being extended by West Germany and other West European countries.

The communiqué did not mention the Japanese view on credits but said Japan would continue to develop trade relations with Communist countries "on the basis of the principle of separating the political and economic aspects of Japan's relations with them."

The communiqué also did not mention Viet Nam. It is known, however, that the United States would like to see greater Japanese nonmilitary participation in Viet Nam, while Japan wants military moderation and an early peace. Japan's aid in Viet Nam consists of a medical team and help for refugees.

Differences Slight

Both Rusk and Shima said the differences between their governments were slight. But they loom large in Japan, where the

Used As Insecticide

Parathion is used as an insecticide in farming areas. There were no immediate effects from the poisonous chemical, he said, but an emergency supply of atropine, an antidote, was being flown from Minneapolis as a precaution.

Residents were advised to spray water on grass, shrub and trees and to scrub exposed clothing.

Bankruptcies Doubled From Depression Era

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bankruptcies in the eastern district of Wisconsin during the past fiscal year were double those of the 1936-37 Depression period, a federal court summary showed today.

The total for the year ending June 30 was 2,797, compared with 1,320 in fiscal 1935.

Dale Ihlenfeldt, clerk of the District Court, said several factors were involved in the increase.

"Many people go into bankruptcy now to avoid having their wages seized to satisfy debts," he said.

Recess Nice, Say Mice

Capital Cats Are Away; Reporter, Staffs Play

WASHINGTON (AP) — 'Twas the midsummer recess on Capitol Hill. Not a thing was stirring, not even a bill.

From office to office, each corridor and hall Senate and House staffs were having a ball.

"A holiday!" "no memos!" came the refrain. "The congressman's home kissing babies again!"

With the boss gone, there's more time for brunch. More time for flirting, for knitting and lunch.

Two hours at the beauty shop, nobody's countin'. A walk on the lawn, leisurely lunch by the fountain.

No buzzers for roll calls, fewer phones jingling. Get on the elevator without even ringing.

It Isn't Johnson

Kennedy's rafting, Morse went to Wisconsin. Someone's in the White House and it isn't ohnson.

Fulbright's out of pocket and Teddy went north. Proxmire had five parades to celebrate his Fourth.

Tourists still flock to the Capitol with questions. With children, sun tan oil and suggestions.

In big empty chambers amid great dins, workmen are hammering and cleaning out bins.

Least Congress return Monday and wail in dismay, some staffs put in work before they play.

One office has installed a new red rug. Owner Joe Karth will have reason to be smug.

Deftly Adroit

Another office proved itself deftly adroit by fixing a typewriter for Nedzi of Detroit.

Voters ignore the recess and write stacks of mail. Efforts to ignore it are of no avail.

It comes by the bushel, fills all the desks. There are demands to be answered, many requests.

So between brunches and lunches and beauty shop, there's a continuous huddle by the old mail drop.

Then it's time for coffee, milk and tea. But one is missing—where can she be?

"It's Goldie Pence of the Stennis compound. 'My big man,' she said, 'was not out of town.'"

'On Target,' Navy Pilots Report After Striking Key North Viet Nam Facility

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Navy planes today bombed the oil storage depot in the Haiphong dock area two miles northeast of the heart of the city for the second time, the U.S. military command announced.

The Haiphong depot, through which 95 per cent of North Viet Nam's petroleum supplies move, was first bombed on June 29 along with another major depot three miles from the heart of Hanoi. The attacks set off a worldwide debate.

A U.S. spokesman said A4 Skyhawks from the aircraft carrier Hancock struck the fuel installation at 1 p.m. and that pilots reported "all bombs on target."

Plane Downed

The spokesman said one Skyhawk was shot down by anti-aircraft fire but the pilot was rescued.

Pilots reported smoke from the depot rose 20,000 feet and a fireball erupted from a secondary explosion, the spokesman said.

He said pilots saw no ships at the piers near the oil depot but that there were three ships in the outer harbor. The ships apparently were not attacked.

Earlier the U.S. command announced American planes Air Force, Morris is in charge of a record 113 missions of manpower.

His brief memo says: "To preclude possible inequities concerning sole surviving sons, military personnel who become qualified sole surviving sons subsequent to their enlistment or induction, will be afforded the opportunity to apply for a hardship discharge, with favorable consideration resulting therefrom."

Uniform Policy

Morris told the service secretaries: "It is desired that this policy be applied uniformly throughout the military departments and that implementing regulations be disseminated at the earliest practicable date."

The action, a Pentagon spokesman said, brings defense policy in line with that of the Selective Service System, which he said refrains from drafting sole surviving sons.

Such hardship discharges are open to men whose father and/or brothers or sisters have been killed in line of military duty, died of wounds, accidents or disease, or have been totally disabled physically or mentally "as a result of hazards incident to their service in the armed forces" since September 1940.

It does not apply to a man whose civilian relatives have been killed in mishaps or have died of disease or other causes.

The provision for hardship discharge of sole surviving sons was added to a Korean War directive which permitted men in this category to be assigned to noncombat duties upon their own request or application filed by a parent.

Defense Ordered

Deny Dismissal of Alfonsi Bribe Trial

MADISON (AP) — Circuit Judge William Sachjen denied a motion today to dismiss bribery charges brought against Assembly Minority Leader Paul Alfonsi by a grand jury, and ordered the defense to present its case.

Counsel for the Minocqua legislative veteran asked for a recess to discuss procedures. The attorneys had moved for dismissal late Wednesday, after the state had presented its evidence on the first day of the trial.

The prosecution, argued Alfonsi's attorney, had "miserably failed" to prove its accusations, charged that Alfonsi, Republican legislator from Minocqua, was indicted on a charge of accepting a $100 check from Anthony Wise of Hayward with the understanding he would help promote passage of a bill to speed highway construction.

Wise, a resort owner, was the prosecution's chief witness. Alfonsi's attorney, John C. Fritschler Jr. of Madison, underscored Wise's testimony that the check was meant for expense money and not as a bribe.

Sachjen refused.

Political, Not Violent

SNCC Head Explains 'Black Power'

By DON MCKEE ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A leader of the new "black power" faction within the civil rights movement defines the term as political strength interwoven with an attempt to build stronger racial pride among Negroes.

"We just want to get the white people off our backs. That's all we want," said Stokely Carmichael, national chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and a leading advocate of "black power."

Carmichael, 25, who has been SNCC chairman nearly two months, said in an interview at his Atlanta office that the new philosophy might split the civil rights movement.

SNCC Objective

He said the SNCC's objective is to build political power for Negroes, instill within them a determination to make their own decisions—about civil rights and anything else—and to create a sense of identity with the civil colored peoples of the world, particularly Africans.

But, the SNCC chairman said, the new move is not antiwhite nor black supremacist. Anti-white violence by Negroes is merely a fear of white persons, he said.

"And it's a healthy fear," Carmichael said. "It's one that they deserve to have for all they have done to the black people."

Some of the questions and answers from the interview:

Q: Who originated the term "black power?"

A: I don't know. That's a term that has been familiar with me ever since I was small. SNCC vocally started it among the civil rights organizations on the Mississippi march.

Q: What is your definition of the concept?

A: Black power seems to me a number of things. Number one, that black people in this country are oppressed for one reason — and that's because of their color, and that's what this country has to face. Their rally cry must be the issue around which they are oppressed, as it was for unions. The workers came together. They were oppressed because they were workers. And we must come together around the issue that say, "black power." It seems to me the only people who should be worried are the people who are exploiting and oppressing black people.

Q: Does the concept of black power involve cooperation at any level with the white community?

A: It's obvious that it has to. The question is when do you do that. We say that when you do it now, you do it from a point of weakness. You beg them. You say, "Look, man it's morally wrong for you to treat us this way. We're marching, getting beat up. You should be ashamed of yourself." Rather from a point of strength where you say, "We have x number of votes. We want this road fixed right away or else we won't vote for you." Now that seems to me to be a much different point.

Q: Wilkins has said that the aim of the civil rights movement always has been to include the Negro in white society. Do you agree with that?

A: No. I totally disagree. I've never seen myself fighting to get into a country that's bombing the hell out of Viet Nam or a country that sees money as its

Measures Temporarily Remove Deficit from Administration Budget

Republicans Upset at What They Call Deception of Electorate

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON, AP — President Johnson's administration is pushing a variety of measures to increase the amount of money available to the federal government next year, but Republicans are protesting that the measures are a deception of the electorate.

Republicans are protesting that the measures are a deception of the electorate. The House Agriculture Committee rejected even a compromise that would have stretched out the transition. The Appropriations Committee brought out legislation to make loan funds available next year as in the past.

The measures involved in the appropriations and without a $1 billion difference in the government's books for the fiscal year that ended June 30 was made by a Treasury move to speed up the depositing of income tax withheld by employers.

They were directed to remit the proceeds twice a month, instead of once a month as before. This resulted in an extra half-month's deposit reaching the Treasury during June, increasing receipts for the year by about $1 billion.

Before the House Agriculture Committee is a proposal to establish a multibillion-dollar bank that would supplement and perhaps in part replace the present low interest lending activity of the Rural Electrification Administration, which helps finance electrical cooperatives.

Borrowing Authority
The bank would start out with government capital, to be retired after 1981 and with extensive borrowing authority, perhaps more than $10 billion. There also would be established in the Treasury a sort of revolving fund tied to the bank. Receipts going into it could be used for designated purposes without further congressional appropriations, and without figuring in the budget.

cessful day, according to an official account.

The Thunderchiefs first evaded three SAMs 60 miles northwest of Hanoi and attacked three control radar vans — the nerve center of the SAM sites. The pilots said they left all three radar vans burning.

The flight went on to hit another SAM site 50 miles northwest of Hanoi and reported its radar went off the air after the attack.

The same flight spotted two missiles in the air 50 miles northwest of Hanoi and saw smoke from the missile launchers at a site covered with camouflage netting. The Thunderchiefs attacked with rockets and 20mm cannon, and pilots reported an orange fireball which set the netting on fire.

Proceeding 50 miles northwest of Hanoi, the same flight spotted two more SAM sites in the air, attacked the SAM site and said they damaged it.

Another flight of four Air Force F4C Phantoms reported spotting eight to 10 missiles fired at them while they were flying protective cover against MIG jets. The Phantoms evaded all the missiles and got away without damage.

Other flights of Thunderchiefs and Phantoms reported missiles while flying missions 75 to 115 miles northwest of Hanoi. One Thunderchief flight spotted five SAMs.

Authorities Continue Probe Of Kidnaping

The question, "Is she alive, is she dead" is debated agonizingly by Mrs. Clinton and her husband.

"There are times when my enthusiasm builds up," says Clinton, service manager for a new-car dealer. "There are times when it fades some. Until they prove to me with some evidence that she is not alive, I won't believe she is dead. But I don't understand how she could disappear from the face of the earth without some clue."

With Grandparents

Denise had just returned from a vacation in California with her parents and 6-year - old sister Diana. She spent the first night with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chelcie Reynolds, managers of a Kansas City motel.

At 2.20 a.m. the night began to rain. Mrs. Reynolds got up from bed at the rear of the office, passed Denise sleeping on a sofa, and admitted a man.

As she handed him a registration card, the man laid an automatic pistol on the counter and demanded money. Mrs. Reynolds gave him $246.

"Anyone else here," the robber asked. Mrs. Reynolds said her husband was in the bathroom. The robber bound them both with adhesive tape, but the Reynoldses freed themselves and called police.

It was then they noticed that Denise had disappeared. Her clothing and shoes still were piled neatly beside the sofa.

Established Roadblocks

Roadblocks were set up immediately. After dawn, helicopters went up, police combed the area. Boy Scouts and Civil Air Patrol cadets made a sector search over the brushy, wooded terrain near the motel.

"At the very beginning there was no doubt in our mind she would be released within a hour," says Mrs. Clinton. "It wasn't reality for a long time."

"My husband disagrees — but my personal opinion is if someone had Denise and had a good attitude toward her, she would accept this and be reasonable and content. Suppose there is a woman involved and she felt the woman liked her. She would fall into a pattern of being content. My husband thinks they would not be able to control her."

Working Full Time

Karl Ducky, the FBI agent in charge of the Kansas City office, says one man still is working full time on the case.

"Usually in kidnaping cases you have the situation where you have some kind of demand — the principal object of a kidnaping. This case is different. It appears the prima motive was robbery and that the kidnaping was an afterthought."

When she was taken, Denise was 160 lb. and weighed 150 pounds. Her reddish blonde hair was cut short and she wore bangs. She was blue-eyed like her parents.

"The hardest thing is not knowing," says Mrs. Clinton. "I never could believe that she not still alive and that there

Four Traffic Deaths Bring Toll to 462

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The deaths of two persons in a Rock County accident today, in addition to two others who were injured during the weekend, have brought Wisconsin's 1966 highway toll to 462 — the same as on this date a year ago.

The names of the Rock County victims, occupants of a car which struck a tree in Janesville, were not immediately available.

John Ray, 68, of Streator, Ill., died in a Watertown hospital today of injuries suffered Saturday in a collision near Watertown. Mrs. Andrew Palaschak, 61, also of Streator, was killed in the accident.

Bruce Zehr, 12, died Tuesday in a Racine hospital of injuries suffered in an accident in a construction zone of Interstate 94 Saturday.

The boy's father, The Rev. John Zehr, 43, Goshen, Ind., was also injured fatally in the accident at the Milwaukee - Racine County line.

Joan Wahleitner, 18, of Milwaukee died Tuesday in a Milwaukee hospital of injuries suffered Saturday.

Miss Wahleitner was a passenger on a motorcycle hit by a car while stopped for a traffic signal.

Rural Areas Said to Lack Youth Facilities

MADISON, AP.

Services for juvenile offenders are lacking in rural areas of Wisconsin, officials of Wisconsin's correctional institutions systems have been told.

Alfred Ball of the National Conference on Crime and Juvenile Delinquency made the statement Tuesday. The conference is making a national study of correctional needs.

Ball spent a week in Wisconsin studying facilities in Milwaukee, Waukesha, Outagamie and Clark counties.

While adult correctional facilities are well organized in Wisconsin, Ball said, there is a need for better juvenile services, particularly to identify potential delinquents.

He also said that Wisconsin has no system in operation that allows alternative sentencing of offenders between 18 and 21. All must be sentenced under the cri-

Imitation Play Gives Results

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

If you don't have a real play for your contract try an imitation of the genuine article. Your opponents may be taken in if the imitation is close enough to the real thing.

When this hand was played in an English national championship, Joel Tarlo found himself in an impossible contract. His jump to three hearts and his partner's jump to six hearts had both been slight overbids, and the sum of two overbids is usually a bad contract.

of spades. Tarlo won in dummy with the ace of spades and dropped the seven from his own hand. The contract might depend on making East think that his partner had the other low spades — and therefore a spade suit headed by the queen-jack.

Tarlo had already seen that it would do him no great good to discard two spades on dummy's top clubs. He would still have to lose a spade trick, unless . . .

Fake Squeeze

The only chance was to hornswoogle East into thinking he was squeezed. Tarlo therefore ran off his six trumps and the king-queen of diamonds, saving all of dummy's clubs even though he could no longer get to them.

When South led his last red card East had to reduce to three cards. At this stage he had three clubs and the king of spades — and something had to go. Thinking that he had the only club stopper and that his partner had the jack of spades, East threw away the king of spades.

Tarlo kept a straight face as he claimed the rest of the tricks with the J-5-3 of spades. His bidding had been poor, but there was nothing wrong with his character.

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son Jackie is not quite 13 years old. He likes a girl who lives down the block. They have been going to school together since the kindergarten.

A few weeks ago Jackie asked me if he could invite Lizette to sleep at our house. I was surprised at this request and told him so. He replied, "Why is it such a funny thing to ask? I have invited Johnny and Bill and Chuck over to sleep, and now I'd like to invite Lizette. We could watch TV and play records and talk a lot."

I mentioned our exchange to Jackie's father and he didn't know what to make of it. He suggested that I speak to a friend who is a child psychologist.

I asked this friend about Jackie's request and he explained that some children don't recognize the difference between boys and girls until puberty and that Jackie may be a little slow. He said we should not be concerned.

What are your views? — Baffled Parents

Dear Parents: Jackie is either a little slow — or a little fast. Regardless of which it is, a 13-year-old boy should not be entertaining a girl at a slumber party. Tell him to call Johnny or Billy or Chuck.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My

18-year-old daughter is pregnant. She insists that the father of her unborn child is in the Army and unable to marry her. A few weeks ago she said the father was in the Navy and already married. Before that she said the father was a prominent man in the community whose name she could not reveal. Frankly, I don't think I see knows who the father is.

I am a widow and I have four younger children. I want this girl to go to a home for unwed mothers and give up her child for adoption. My daughter says she cannot bear to give up her own flesh and blood and that the baby will give her a reason to go on living.

Ann, I am struggling to raise my own family without a husband and there are days when I don't think I will make it. I work at a dry cleaning

Wedding Promises Exchanged

St. Matthew Evangelical Lutheran Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Julie Ann Selle and Gary Francis Schaefer at 4 p.m. Saturday. The Rev. Sylvester Johnson officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hinzman, route 1, Appleton. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Schaefer, 1231 W. Taylor St.

Miss Nancy Dickvoss, a sister of the bridegroom, attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Laura Hinzman and Miss Vicki Lemke.

Richard Haferkorn served as best man. Groomsmen were John Selle and Paul Hinzman. Ushering duties were performed by Keith Krueger and Leo Kempen.

The reception was held at the May-Nor Club.

The bride is a graduate of City College of Cosmetology, where she was a member of Delta Kappa Gamma. The bridegroom is employed by Superior Electric Company.

Near-Teen Wants to Invite Girl, Boys to Slumber Party

Landers

I feel that it would be better for the baby to be adopted by a married couple who can give him a stable home.

I want your advice. — Uphill

Fight

Dear Uphill: You are right and I urge you not to let this girl beat you into a corner.

Landers

Your daughter's "love" for her unborn child is a sick kind of thing — a mixture of self-pity and self-destruction.

The unwed mother who has a genuine love for her child wants him to have a good life in a socially acceptable environment — and this means both parents. Tell your daughter "no" . . . and make it stick.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A lovely tree on our property overhangs our neighbor's property. They built a brick platform for their picnic table and it cost quite a lot of money.

The birds that light in our tree make quite a mess on their picnic table and the neighbors want us to cut down the tree. We love that tree and we don't want to cut it down. What should be done? — Peoria

Dear Peoria: Obviously that picnic table is strictly for the birds. Your neighbors should have thought of the hazards before they invested in the blamed thing. They should move their table.

Jackets Go to New Lengths

NEW YORK — The longer jacket has made an appearance here this week, and does one more trick in a fashion world that has come more and more to the costume look. It has taken the form of the little topcoat that slides over sliver dresses, or assumes the shape of a short topcoat, sometimes lined with fur, that tops an easy suit jacket. These longer jackets look prophetic with double vent backs and weskits. Fencer jackets are very much new and button far to the side, worn over 'sandwich board' skirts with side pleats. The costume look, or tying one's fashion image into a look of total planning, is exciting when the shorter than full length coat has a square cutout to show dress details. Twin or identical fabrics put the final touch to these longer jackets, with tweed or grosgrain wool matched exactly by silk blouses.

So here they are for some good eating!

FRANKFURTER TACOS
2 tablespoons shortening
1 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup finely chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
8 ounces canned tomato sauce
1 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
12 frankfurters, cut in thirds

Shortening for frying tacos

12 frozen tortillas, defrosted
1 can chili con carne with beans (15 1/2 oz. can)
2 1/2 cups shredded lettuce
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
12 thin tomato slices
1 cup shredded cheese (cheddar)

To prepare the sauce: Melt two tablespoons shortening in pan over low heat. Add onion, green pepper and garlic. Cook slowly until soft. Add tomato sauce, blend in blender until smooth or force through sieve. Return to saucepan, add water, salt and chili powder. Simmer gently 12 to 15 minutes to blend flavors.

At serving time, the franks are heated slowly in sauce.

To prepare the tortillas: Use a small skillet; add enough shortening to make 1/2-inch depth of melted fat. Test by placing one-inch cube of bread in it, when it browns in one minute, frying temperature has been reached.

Add one tortilla to hot fat at a time. When tortilla becomes limp, almost instantly, fold in half using tongs and keep holding with tongs until tortilla is crisp. Remove from fat; stuff clean paper toweling in fold; place on paper toweling to drain.

After the franks have been heated thoroughly in the meat sauce, let each guest fill a tortilla as desired with lettuce, hot chili, green pepper, tomato, and cheese. Top each taco with wiener in sauce.

PARTY POLE KABOBS

1 pound frankfurters
1 can pineapple chunks (1 lb. can)
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 cup pickle relish
20 strips cheddar cheese
10 frankfurter buns

Cut each frankfurter crosswise into three pieces. Drain pineapple, reserving one cup syrup.

In mixing bowl, combine pineapple syrup, brown sugar, salad oil, dry mustard and pickle relish. Marinate franks in this sauce three to four hours, or overnight.

Remove from marinade; place on 10 skewers, alternately with pineapple chunks. Broil six to seven inches from heat source for about five minutes, brushing with sauce as needed.

Cross-center of serving tray with strips of cheese. Affix top of kabobs to ribbons attached to center pole and arrange skewered kabobs around center pole on top of cheese strips. Edge of tray may be filled with potato chips. Serve Party Pole with long buns and a relish.

FRANK 'N' NOODLE PLATTER

1 pound frankfurters
8 ounces noodles
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped fresh parsley
1/2 cup sliced green onion
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Heat franks, cook noodles; drain. Melt butter in saucepan, blend in parsley, green onion, salt, paprika and pepper. To serve, place noodles on heated platter, pour melted butter sauce over noodles.

APPLE-FRANKFURTER CASSEROLE

4 frankfurters, sliced
1/2 cup minced onions
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
5 1/2 cups canned green lima beans
2 cups well-drained canned tomatoes
2 cups canned apple sauce
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

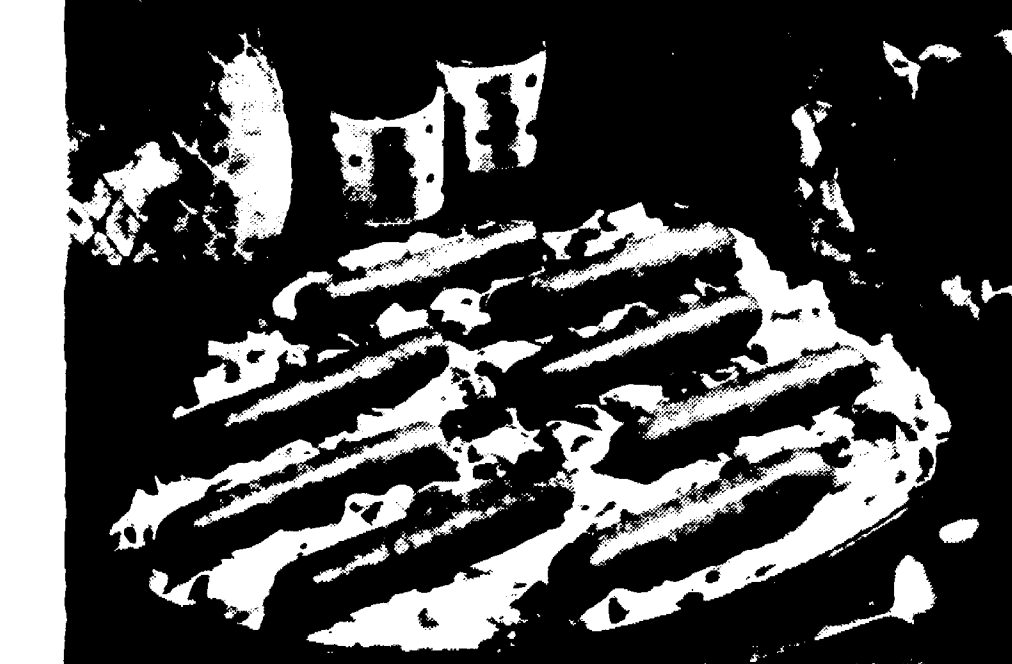

Saute wiener slices and onion in butter or margarine until minced onions are golden brown. Combine with beans, tomatoes and applesauce. Worcestershire sauce and seasonings. Turn into two-quart casserole. Arrange franks in a design on top of casserole.

Bake, uncovered, in 350-degree oven for about 40 minutes. Recipe makes from six to eight servings.

POTATO-CAPPED FRANKS

8 frankfurters
2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes
1 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 cup chopped green onions
1/2 teaspoon salt
Paprika

Cut franks lengthwise, almost through. Top cut surface of each frank with quarter-cup mashed potatoes; place in baking dish.

One of qualities of the frankfurter is its "go-togetherness" with so many foods. Here, heated wieners top a dish of noodles that's been enhanced with a special butter sauce. Crisp, green onion slices, snips of fresh parsley seasoned with salt, pepper and paprika promote an intriguing flavor when blended carefully into melted butter.

Combine sour cream, chopped green onions and salt. Place about 2 1/2 tablespoons sour cream mixture over each potato mound. Bake in 350-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes or until potatoes are lightly browned. Sprinkle with paprika.

The split frankfurters topped with potato-sour cream mixture also may be broiled or grilled for five to seven minutes about three inches from heat source.

Reassessment Of Little Chute Land Nears End

Assessor Plans Open House for Property Owners

LITTLE CHUTE — A general reassessment of land in the village was made during the past year to bring land values more in line with the true value, according to Nick Vanderpas, village assessor.

An effort was made to appraise land at a realistic figure in relation to its location, desirability and potential use. In many cases the assessed value of land doubled over the previous year.

"In the past, we have been assessing land at only a fraction of true market value. The amount of increase is contingent on existing market trends in your area of the village," noted the assessor.

Law by Comparison

A reappraisal study of all property in Outagamie County, conducted by state assessors, revealed the municipality was assessing land at a much lower percentage than buildings in relation to true market value, noted the assessor. The change will put land assessments in line with those on buildings.

No general valuation increase was made on buildings. "In most cases, any increase or decrease on buildings results from new construction, improvements made, previous irregularities, obsolescence, or other influencing factors as determined by the assessing department," continued Vanderpas.

The general increase in land value does not necessarily mean higher taxes. It is an across-the-board valuation increase which means the tax rate could be reduced due to higher valuation. However, income from other sources and the amount of the forthcoming budget will determine the final tax rate.

Review Board Monday

In most cases, if tax bills are higher, it will be the result of an increased operating budget and not because of the increase on land values. Plans call for the assessor's books to be open for inspection at the city clerk's office Thursday, Friday and Monday during regular office hours and from 6 to 9 p.m. Friday.

The initial meeting of the board of review, at which property owners may question assessments, will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Monday at the village hall.

2 Transients Fatally Shot In California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Shotgun blasts from a moving car killed two Negro transients Tuesday night in Sacramento's skid row area. Police arrested three white men.

The victims, shot in the neck and groin, fell in the Old Sacramento district made up of flop houses, abandoned buildings dating from the gold rush, saloons, a strip tease joint, cheap restaurants and small motion picture houses.

Arrested were three young men from towns across the Sacramento River, to the west.

Police, citing recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions concerning the rights of defendants, refused to give details. They said they had not established a motive.

Police Chief Joseph Rooney declared: "As far as I'm concerned, there are no racial overtones" to the shooting.

Food Shopper Challenged To Get More for Money

By MARY FEELEY

Nobody has more respect for the family cook and food-shopper than I have. Every day she's faced with a big shopping list and not quite enough cash to match it. When she goes to the market, she feels like the fishmonger who sets out to trade a herring for a whale.

But I tell you this — after years of family budget counseling, I'm convinced that a lot of following, if you want to give families suffer more from boredom at the dinner table than milk, cheese, ice cream; dark-they do from malnutrition. One major factor that ups the bill is the plea for "something different. Ma — not the same old thing again." But if Ma goes all-out for something different on Thursday, she doesn't have enough money left to buy even the same old thing on Friday.

What she has to evaluate is what really makes "something different." Does it necessarily have to be a higher-priced item? I say no.

The first thing to do is to change the family's eating habits. Slowly, of course. You can't change anybody's habits, good or bad, overnight. Introduce new types of food which are comparative strangers to your family. Different types of meat — including the organ meats — unfamiliar types of fish and unaccustomed vegetable dishes. Or dress up the old familiars with new seasonings. I think an interesting assortment of seasonings and spices in the onions; add a little red cooking cupboard is one of the most economical and gratifying ways to make the most of your food money. If you want to challenge this, go ahead, but at least try it first.

Balanced Meals

Naturally, you must be concerned with nutrition as well as with family likes and dislikes. Professional nutritionists point out you should not neglect the following, if you want to give your family balanced meals: Protein, vitamins, minerals, fats, carbohydrates, and fiber.

And now here I come, not as a nutritionist but just as a ready eater, and say again: Why don't you try some new seasonings to pep up the old standard favorites? Such as some of the experiments I've enjoyed — especially because they don't raise the food bill enough to even figure out in pennies per dish:

Pork with caraway seed sauerkraut; Cape Cod pot roast doused with cranberry sauce before it's consigned to the oven; stuffed pancakes — stuffed with cooked sausage and green peppers or chicken or any combination of left-overs — and add some basil or curry, maybe a touch of sage and oregano. Bake the chicken this time with pineapple and/or coconut. Put cumin seed in a hash that starts with ground meat and of seasonings and spices in the onions; add a little red cooking

Auto Body Firm Seeks to Buy Old City Garage

Remodeling Planned By Pierce, Would Add 25 Employees

With an eye toward expansion, Pierce Auto Body Works, Inc. 315 S. Pierce St., is interested in purchasing the old city garage property on Spencer Street.

Delmar F. Drumm, manager of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, made the disclosure at a meeting of the board of public works Tuesday afternoon.

"The chamber is interested in working closely with local companies and wants them to stay in Appleton so the tax base can be retained," Drumm said.

Cash Offer

He indicated the Pierce firm was in a position to make a cash offer for the old garage which would be remodeled into a facility to provide employment for an estimated 25 to 50 persons.

"We will bend over backwards to help existing industries just as we would new ones," Mayor George Buckley commented.

The garage property is situated at 920 W. Spencer St. City officials hope the move to the new municipal garage on the city's far northeast side will be made by Sept. 1.

Drumm was told the city is obtaining an appraisal on the old garage property.

The board recommended to the council that the sale of the old garage be negotiated with Pierce Auto Body Works.

151 Register For Medicare In Fox Cities

A total of 151 of the 539 patients now registered in the four Fox Cities hospitals are under medicare, the federal hospital care plan for those 65 years of age and over.

As of late Tuesday, Theda Clark Hospital, Neenah, with 257 patients, had 78 on medicare; Appleton Memorial, with 85 patients, had 28 on medicare; St. Elizabeth, Appleton, with 150 patients, had 35 on medicare; and Kaukauna Community, with 47 patients, had 10 on medicare.

The number, which has increased by 20 since July 1 when the bill went into effect, substantiates the expectations of hospital officials who agreed that there would be no rush immediately after the opening date.

Medicare affects about 19 million Americans who are eligible for government-insured hospital care at any of 6,704 hospitals.

Woman Fined $50 for Unlawful Phone Call

An Appleton woman, apprehended through the joint efforts of the Wisconsin Telephone Co. and Appleton police, was found guilty Tuesday of making an unlawful telephone call with the intention of annoying the party called.

Mrs. Lois Gasper, 32, 2421 W. Wisconsin Ave., appeared before Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller Tuesday and was fined $50 and costs or 24 days.

An investigation into the "nuisance call" case started when a complaint was filed with police on June 15. The complainant said that the annoying calls had been going on for about three months.

Woman Arrested

Detectives looked into the matter and Mrs. Gasper was arrested June 16. District Attorney Nick Schaefer issued a court summons for June 24. When Mrs. Gasper failed to appear, a bench warrant was issued and she was apprehended July 2 and detained in Outagamie County jail until Tuesday's trial.

Police Detective Robert Frailing said today that telephone company officials, through the use of a mechanical device, were able to determine the origin of the call beyond a doubt.

Frailing pointed out that

Previously, the central business plan for College Avenue as proposed by a St. Louis, Mo. firm had been approved by the council and the working drawings are being prepared by the city engineering office.

The petitioners said they were opposed to a special design for the avenue, such as the proposed curb projections, which they claimed would serve no useful purpose.

They are also suggesting reducing the width of sidewalks to approximately 12 feet and widening traffic and parking area to keep angle parking. The council has already gone on record that when College Avenue is reconstructed, angle parking will be removed.

Sheriff Pepler 'Ducks' Issue, Says No Thanks

OSHKOSH — Not that he wants to duck the issue, but Winnebago County Sheriff Marvin Pepler would just as soon not have a duck—the naval amphibious type.

Use of a navy duck has been offered to the sheriff's department through the county civil defense organization for rescue work on the waterways in the county.

While formal ownership would be retained by the navy, the county would be responsible for equipping the craft and for the upkeep and maintenance.

Accept if Insist

The sheriff told the sheriff and coroner's committee he would accept the duck if they insisted upon it but did not feel they had any need for it.

The department now has a rescue boat, as does the Oshkosh Fire Department and the Neenah Police Department.

Pepler said they would have difficulty finding a storage area for the large vehicle, plus training men to operate it. The issue will be discussed again Thursday night at a meeting of the civil defense committee Supv. John Pawlowski, Menasha, a member of both committees, will report back at the next meeting of the sheriff and coroner's committee.

District Seeks Extension of Sewer Pact

Appleton Unit Okays Request From Area In Town of Menasha

Sanitary district No. 2 in the Town of Menasha has requested an extension of its sewer contract with the City of Appleton.

The board of public works, meeting Tuesday at the city hall, recommended approval.

F. J. Miller, clerk of district No. 2, asked for a 30-day extension of its sewer contract.

It was noted the town is constructing its own facilities and the project has been hampered due to strikes at the firms which are supplying two motors and a pump.

In other action, the board: —Rejected all bids and decided to ask for new quotations on an estimated 4,000 feet of fence to be installed around the new municipal garage.

—Instructed the fire department to get its aerial truck painted at the lowest price possible. It rejected the $6,600 bid of a Milwaukee firm.

Vacationers' Cruiser Hits Rocks In Fox River, 2 in Family Injured

The vacation of two families was somewhat dampened Tuesday night when the 23-foot express cruiser they were riding in struck some rocks in the Fox River and rapidly filled with water.

The James Wangemann family, Sheboygan, and Arthur Scharer family, Mount Morris, Mich., were returning from a cruise up the Fox River about 8 p.m. when the boat hit some rocks in the river directly below the Alicia Park, about 400 yards south of the Appleton Yacht Club.

The rocks, which tore a two-foot long hole in the bottom, were about three or four inches below the surface of the water. When the boat hit the rocks, Mrs. Scharer, her son Brad, 10, and daughter, Dawn, 10, were thrown into the cabin. The girl

Fox Cities Boards Favor District Boundaries for Area Vocational School

Oppose County Line Concept Proposed by State Officials

A resolution to reaffirm the original resolution to form an area vocational school on the basis of school districts rather than county lines, was passed by representatives of the four Fox Cities vocational schools at a joint meeting Tuesday at Kimberly High School.

The board also decided to request a hearing by the educational committee of the Legislative Council as soon as possible.

The decision was made after more than two hours of discussing a resolution which would have included Outagamie County, the school districts of Neenah and Menasha and parts of Waupaca and Calumet counties in the proposed district.

Not Omitted

To date, resolutions to join an area vocational school in the Fox Cities have been adopted by Neenah, Menasha, Kimberly, Appleton, Stockbridge, Hortonville, Shiocton and Wrightstown.

It was indicated that in spite of the fact that the new resolution does not include the four latter school districts, they are not omitted from the Fox Cities area plan.

"This is merely action by the nucleus group to indicate our feelings to the state Board of Vocational and Adult Education and the Coordinating Committee of Higher Education (CCHE)," one member said.

Representation on the area vocational school board was the major reason for turning down the county line plan, recommended by the state wherever possible.

According to state law, the chairmen of the county boards involved in the school would appoint board members, according to population figures.

Many of the members felt politics should be kept out of the picture and proposed to retain the original idea, formulated two years ago, "as long as we meet the criteria."

The criteria, as recommended by a three-man committee composed of a member of CCHE, state board and legislature, was recently modified to better serve areas that could not meet the standards.

The criteria calls for 16 general courses twice a week and seven courses once a week. The Fox Cities program has 25 courses twice a week (Appleton only) and the area is capable of having from 25 to 30 courses twice a week, according to statistics prepared by Carl Bertram, AVS director.

Full-Time Students

About 780 full-time students are required by the state; Fox Cities have a total of 400 presently and are capable of handling 1,500. About 3,000 high school graduates are required by the state; Fox Cities have 2,390 and are capable of handling 5,666.

Population required is 187,500; Fox Cities have 137,650 and the area capability is 262,089. Part-time students should number

4 Injured in 2-Car Accident

Vehicle Driven by Neenah Man Struck In Rear on U. S. 45

Four persons were advised to consult physicians after sustaining injuries in a two-car accident on U.S. 45 and Spring Road, Town of Greenville, at approximately 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Outagamie County traffic reports indicated the mishap occurred when a car driven by Edwin Mellenstien, 62, 302 Grunwald St., Neenah, was waiting to turn left and a car driven by Carla E. Vaughn, 19, Wittenberg, struck the rear of the Mellenstien vehicle.

Both autos were headed north on U.S. 45 Sarah Breitreiter, 50, route 1, Neenah, received neck and back injuries and Spencer Breitreiter, 39, injured his left elbow, the report said. Both were passengers in the Mellenstien auto. A third passenger in the car, Evelyn Mellenstien, 63, also of Neenah, was uninjured.

Mrs. Clarence Stai, 51, Wittenberg received a bruise on the forehead, and Brian Dobbe, 8, Milwaukee, had a bruised knee. They were riding in the Vaughn car. Laura Lee Stai, 14; Mark Vaughn, 3; Boyd Vaughn, 2, and Greg Dobbe, 4, escaped injury. The children were passengers in the Vaughn auto.

Youngsters Make Requests

New Voices Heard at Kaukauna City Council

KAUKAUNA — Council members Tuesday night were faced with a petition from their counterparts at Glenview Park. Elections were held at various playgrounds in the city last week, youngsters being named mayor, aldermen, health officer and to all other city officers.

Tuesday about 25 youngsters from Glenview Park, wearing their badges of office, appeared before the council to ask for lavatories at the Park.

Dave Helf, Glenview mayor explained why the petition was drawn. Fourth Ward Ald. Richard Helf tried to interrupt his son, but was rapped down by being out of order by Kaukauna Mayor Joseph Bayargeon.

Outagamie Industrial Unit

Says 3 Firms Indicate Tentative Projects Would Employ 600 Men

Industrial development projects that could create between 600 and 700 new jobs within the Appleton area were discussed late Tuesday afternoon at the organization meeting of the newly-formed Outagamie County Industrial Development Corp., which presently are in the 4 per cent interest area; and then reloan the money to an industry at the same rate.

Borrowing Rate

Currently, the prime borrowing rate for industries which borrow directly from lending agencies is 5 1/2 per cent. Several banks throughout the country, including banks in Chicago and Milwaukee, recently raised their "prime rate" to a 5 1/4 per cent.

UW Center at Green Bay Asks For More Space

Facility Already Overcrowded as Enrollments Climb

GREEN BAY — Although a new branch of the University of Wisconsin is now being planned for Green Bay — to open in 1969 or 1970 — the local university center can't wait that long.

Officials at the local school have requested the Brown County Board of Supervisors to provide four additional classrooms for the expected increased enrollment this fall. The county passed on the request to the Green Bay Council Tuesday which will have its finance committee look into the matter.

The center, opened several years ago, has a capacity of about 850. This past year nearly 1,000 freshmen and sophomores were enrolled. This fall more than 1,200 are expected — and generally the projections have been conservative.

Need Classrooms

Center officials say they have used all the space available and have re-scheduled some classes to accommodate the students, but that for the coming year it's simply a matter of needing more classrooms.

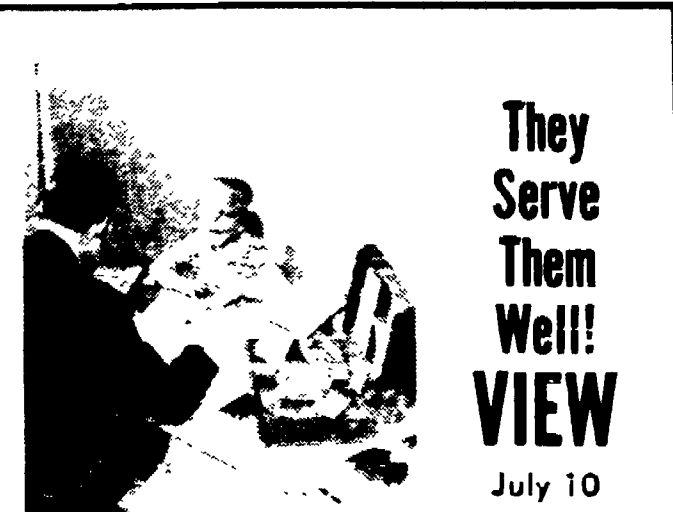

In the crowded conditions, expansion of needed office space for instructors and administrators has been postponed. Another result of the crowdedness is that the lounge-cafeteria has been turned into strictly a cafeteria, with the "rest and study" area filled with tables.

Cyclist Injured When Hit by Car

KIMBERLY — Mark Van Cuyk, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Van Cuyk, 431 S. Joseph St., Kimberly, suffered cuts and abrasions of the face and hands when he was riding his bicycle and was involved in a collision with a car about 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.

According to police, Van Cuyk was riding east on Maes Avenue when a car being driven by Cornelius Evers, 65, 400 S. Wilson St., Little Chute, attempted to make a left turn across his path.

The youth was treated at a local physician's clinic. The driver of the auto was issued a citation for failing to yield right of way.

FHA Approves Wittenberg Golf Links Loan

$100,000 Will be Used to Develop New 9-Hole Course

WITTENBERG — Approval of a $100,000 insured loan by the Farmers Home Administration (FHA) to develop a nine-hole golf course and club house near here was announced Tuesday.

The loan for the Maple Hills Golf Club, Inc., project will finance the purchase of 76 acres of land previously in cropland and pastureland and pay the costs of constructing a nine-hole golf course and club house.

The loan was obtained by the Maple Hills Golf Club, Inc., a nonprofit organization of 150 Appleton and Mrs. Richard W. Wittenberg. Members of the association are paying $10,000 of the cost of the project development. Members also will pay annual dues and fees to support the facility. In addition, income will be received from fees charged non-members using the golf course.

The recreation area will serve the communities of Wittenberg, Tigerton, and Bowler and surrounding farm areas. Approximately 25,000 people live in the area to be served, and some 3,500 will use the facilities each year, association officials estimate.

Supporting this project are the Lions Club, Village of Eland, Village of Tigerton, and the Tigerton Public Schools.

Construction will provide 2,200 man-days of labor for carpenters, grading crews, masons, electricians, and other workers. The project will create one full-time, and three part-time jobs to operate and maintain the facility.

The Farmers Home Administration will be repaid over a 40-year period.

Association officers are Robert O'Dell, Tigerton, president; Lee Boldig, Tigerton vice-president; Russell Kostrak, Tigerton, secretary; and Milton Voelz, Wittenberg, treasurer.

Brillion Lions Barbecue Set Saturday Night

BRILLION — Serving at the annual Lions Club chicken barbecue at Horn Park will begin at 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

Proceeds from the event finance the Lions Club sponsored Halloween party and Easter egg hunt for area youngsters and a faculty night for all Brillion School District teachers and their spouses.

The club also gives financial aid to the camp for the blind at Rosholt.

The Brillion City Band, directed by Ray Artz, will play during the evening.

Advance tickets may be purchased from any club member, at the Brillion Sport Shop or at the Rent-A-Truck office, according to General Chairman Jerry Ruden.

WHY LIZ TAYLOR GETS SECOND BILLING

In the July 10 issue of Family Weekly

As far as her husband Richard Burton is concerned, that's the way beautiful Elizabeth Taylor wants it, according to Adele Whitley Fletcher's article, Is There a New Liz Taylor? As she told the cast in an Oxford University production of Dr. Faustus, "Richard is the star." She turns to Richard for direction, plays her scenes as he says they should be acted, and listens to him with devout attention.

One of the world's most exciting, most dynamic women, there can be no doubt of the great love Elizabeth Taylor has given her fifth husband. As a team, they've put a high price on their appearances as costars. They argue lustily and make up enthusiastically. Will their highly publicized romance last? It will, the author of this intimate Family Weekly study suggests, as long as "Elizabeth loves Richard."

Woman From Algoma To Succeed Birch On State U.N. Group

Post-Crescent, Madison Bureau

MADISON — Mrs. Christine Graff of Algoma has been appointed by Gov. Warren P. Knowles to a seat on the Governor's Committee on the United Nations formerly held by a member of the John Birch Society.

Mrs. Graff succeeds Mrs. John H. McEwan, who resigned from the committee when she and her husband moved out of the state for occupational reasons.

Mrs. McEwan had been appointed to the committee by Gov. Knowles, and after accepting the post, it was found that she belonged to the ultra-conservative group which is opposed to the U.N.

Brillion Girl, 5, Dies Enroute To Hospital

According to the girl's father, Kay Marie was taken to a Brillion physician about 5 a.m. today. Before treatment could be administered, he said, she stopped breathing. Emergency treatment by rescue squad personnel failed to revive her.

Mrs. Krueger said she was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Vincent Hospital, Green Bay.

An autopsy was being performed this morning, her father said.

Appleton Physician Seeks Congressional Seat for Democrats

Dr. Marvin Kagen, Appleton physician who is seeking the Eighth Congressional District seat on the Democratic ticket, filed his nomination papers today at the secretary of state's office in Madison.

Dr. Kagen, a former Appleton health Commissioner who has been in private practice for 18 years, announced his candidacy two months ago.

He said today that "for too long I have felt that our area has not been getting the kind of congressional representation it requires."

He singled out water pollution as one of the district's foremost problems and said he favors cooperation among individuals, industries and government to help control pollution.

"I want to see uniform standards for pollution control throughout the country," Dr. Kagen commented, adding that he favors "research into the best ways to prevent pollution and legislation that will speed up the application of latest methods of pollution control."

The Eighth District consists of Brown, Outagamie, Manitowish, Kewaunee, Door, Marinette and Oconto counties.

Dr. Kagen said he had celebrated his fifth birthday on Independence Day.

Counties Receive Checks, Credits For Road Work

Four Fox Valley area counties have received checks totaling more than $250,000 from the State Highway Commission for county trunk roads as allotments from highway taxes. In addition the four counties have been given credits totaling $442,987 toward work on state highways.

Calumet received a check for $31,978 and credit of $35,643; Outagamie, $87,185 and $146,762; Waupaca, $68,158 and $104,917 and Winnebago $78,706 and $135,585.

The basic highway aids for county trunks are the second of three major allotments made to counties during the year and altogether are expected to total about $18 million statewide.

Molner Recommends Stroke Patient Exercise

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D. important, from their own view point, they are people who have surrendered. They have "re-signed" from active life.

Dear Dr. Molner: My mother, who is 77, had a stroke four years ago. For a time she could, with help, go to the bathroom and sit at the table. Suddenly some degree of paralysis robs them of ability to the family to let her stay in bed. Now she has sluggish bowels, lives, in addition — and this is too bad, too — they have heard a lot about strokes leaving people helpless. And so they give up.

Dr. Molner

Some exercise for this woman family is divided. Some of us will change her outlook on life think she should be exercised as well as improve her general constantly, even against her health. Instructions should have will. Others say, "Leave her been given long ago as to the alone; you're only hurting her type and extent of exercise. Dear Dr. Molner: I am a boy with quite wavy hair. Is there any way I could get it straight? cover cost of printing and How long would it stay that handling.

Just as it is possible to give "permanent" waves, hair can be uncured by chemical applications, but the chemicals can be irritating after a time, and should be used by a professional operator or hair stylist. When the hair grows out, it will be wavy again, because that's the kind of hair roots you have. But how about taking the easy way? Have a brush cut.

Measles do not affect the testes. The likely answer is one or both. Having only one testicle does not necessarily cause sterility. Communists Flourish in West Berlin

6,000 Registered in City Surrounded by East Germany

BY HUBERT J. FRB
BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin, surrounded by a Communist wall and barbed wire, has 6,000 card-carrying Communists.

Although banned in West Germany, the party operates legally in West Berlin under a 1945 four-power agreement. It has the same name as the East German Communist party — the Socialist Unity party (SED) — but members deny they are affiliated with the Communist regime in East Berlin.

The local party held its first convention this year in an out-of-way hall surrounded by police posted to prevent incidents. There were none. The city's 2.2 million people mostly ignored the event.

Among the some 500 invited delegates and observers were a number of stylishly dressed young women.

Militaristic State
One of these, asked why she was a Communist in West Berlin, repeated an East German slogan: "West Germany is a militaristic state and the Communist party would insure that there never again would be a war involving Germany."

The woman, about 30, said she was a master locksmith.

Her companion, a 22-year-old student at West Berlin's Free University, said: "Communism is the wave of the future. My being a West Berliner has nothing to do with it. I am a Marxist, therefore I can belong to no other party."

Asked how he reconciled being a Marxist while taking advantage of a capitalistic economic system, the student answered: "The economics of it can come later. Right now, we need more people."

Economic Reasons
Others gave primarily economic reasons for joining the party.

"Things are not as good here as they look," said a 27-year-old welder and father of two. "For someone in my position, wages will never catch up with skyrocketing prices. The Communists are the only ones who have plans to do something about it."

The welder said he lived in a big apartment house and had no difficulties with his neighbors because of his party affiliation. "As a matter of fact," he said with a grin, "when something is going on with the East, my neighbors ask me questions, figuring I have inside information. But I never do."

A slightly built 19-year-old apprentice mechanic said he peddled the party pamphlet door-to-door but "outside of having some doors slammed in my face, I have not had much trouble."

Not Always Easy

Life for a West Berlin Communist was not always so smooth.

"Five years ago," a man of 32 said, "if people found out you were a Communist, they planted one in your kisser and no questions asked."

Another working man said he believed public opinion was easing up because the wall dividing the city was almost five years old and "people are getting used to it."

How do the West Berlin Communists view the wall, put up by the East Germans, and the killing of refugees trying to escape to West Berlin?

"When it was first built, I was shocked, too," a 34-year-old delegate said. "But now I see it was necessary. The West would have bled the East white by kidnapping all the best workers."

Another delegate repeated this theme, that those fleeing to the West were being paid or otherwise enticed and the wall was a logical result. As for the continued shootings, he added, "if the refugees did not try to keep coming, they would not get shot."

The quarterly journal, is published by the Hospital, Research and Educational Trust, an affiliate of the American Hospital Association.

In the introductory editorial, Specter states: "For many years the Hospital Research and Educational Trust has been concerned with the lack of a national, continuous, national, and international source of comparative data in the various disciplines of health service. Health Services Research is designed to provide a prompt, significant research and information need."

A check for $50 was donated by the Northside Kiwanis Tuesday for the coffeehouse, being built in the basement of the old St. Joseph School. Accepting the check from Ralph DeDecker, left, youth activities leader, and Willard C. Johnson, right, vice president of Kiwanis, is the Rev. Timon Costello, assistant pastor at St. Joseph and in charge of the project. The purpose of the coffeehouse, which will open sometime this month, is to give the young people a place to meet informally and discuss their ideas with other young people.

Council to Reconsider Motion for Park Sale

MENASHA — The common council will reconsider the defeated motion to begin sale proceedings on the Racine Street Park at its Aug. 2 meeting.

Voted down by a 7-5 margin June 21, the measure was rescued from lying dormant a year by Ald. Robert Probst at Tuesday night's session.

Probst told fellow aldermen the council rules provide that a motion once defeated must be

Ask for New County Police Radio System

OSHKOSH — Transfer of about $36,000 from the county board's general fund to replace the county's police radio system will be asked of the board by the sheriff and coroner's committee.

The committee, Tuesday instructed Harold Davis, County Radio Technician, to bring in specifications for bidding at the next committee meeting.

Required will be a new base station, at an estimated cost of more than $15,000, and about 14 mobile units at an estimated cost of $931 each. The exact number of mobile units needed will be determined after the specifications are drawn.

Committee chairman E. G. Steinhilber, Oshkosh, proposed asking for the money from the general fund rather than budgeting the amount for next year so the new base station could be installed this fall.

Obsolete equipment and a federal communications commission requirement that the county change its police frequency were cited as reasons for the need of a new radio system. Davis said the present base station was purchased by the county in 1935.

When the takeover is made Davis also suggested the new police frequency be limited to strictly police use and that all other users be put on the second county frequency used by the rural fire departments.

The new base station and tower will be located at the county highway garage on Knapp Street and the present tower near the County Institution would no longer be used.

The committee and County Civil Defense organization also reached agreement on moving a 15 kilowatt generator, which the Civil Defense has stored at the county fair, to the county garage for emergency and training use.

Neenah Labor

Council Action Postponed

NEENAH — Action again was postponed on engaging a labor relations counsel for the city to negotiate salaries and fringe benefits with city personnel — most notably the police department.

Members of the finance committee decided to hold off hiring James Dixon, a labor relations counselor, until a report is received from the state job classification survey now underway.

But the need for assistance in bargaining with city employees for next year's contracts was agreed upon by the aldermen, especially after they heard a report that the policemen's demands could increase that department's expenditures by more than 60 per cent.

Clerk R. V. Hauser told committee members the 12 per cent salary increase, the 37½ hour work week and various other benefits sought by the Neenah Professional Police-men's Association would increase the operating budget by more than $121,000. The current payroll in the police department is $191,186.

Ald. Walter Rimmel, who had championed the defeated measure, was unable to attend last night's session.

Appleton to Pay Increased Costs For Copper Piping

The price of copper piping is starting to dent the pocketbook of the Appleton Water Department.

The disclosure was made Tuesday by the city water commission when it approved purchase of 5,000 feet of pipe for the season.

It was estimated the pipe will cost about 75 cents a foot, with Russell Fulcer, distribution superintendent, claiming the price has doubled over the past year or so.

The commission told Fulcer to get the best price possible and to expedite the pipe purchase if possible.

On the subject of water, Dr. William Gallaher, plant superintendent, gave a rundown on last week's shortage in Appleton and announced the Wisconsin Public Service Commission will hold a hearing here late this month on a proposed ordinance giving the city authority to impose restrictions when necessary.

Meyer Renamed To School Office

NEENAH — Jack Meyer was unanimously elected president of the board of education for a second successive year at Tuesday's organizational meeting.

Frank Hochholzer succeeds himself as vice president and Mrs. John Bietzinger is the new secretary. The election of a new secretary was the center of activity, requiring two secret ballots in addition to the nominating ballot.

The three board offices are for one year terms. Jack Meyer will name the heads of standing committees of the board building and grounds, finance, teacher textbook and curriculum within the next 10 days or two weeks.

Circus Wagons Returned to Baraboo Home

BARABOO (AP) — The Circus World Museum's 50 precious antique circus wagons were back on home grounds today after highlighting Milwaukee's annual Fourth of July parade.

The wagons rode 14 flatcars back to Baraboo Tuesday. Workmen began today repairing whatever minor damage was done during the holiday weekend.

After the touching up job, the wagons will return to their displays.

Meanwhile, in Milwaukee, the Sanitation Department reported it had gathered 40,000 pounds of trash from the parade route.

The haul was up 10,000 pounds from a year ago.

Depot Bombing Psychological Or Tactical?

Blockading Harbor Would be Next Step In Viet Nam War

WASHINGTON — Although President Johnson agonized for months before ordering the bombing of the oil depots in Chi Minh trail, President John Hanoi and Haiphong, that decision's next step would be sion was easy compared to the infinitely more dangerous, next one that may logically follow: closing the port of Haiphong.

Actually, the President expects relatively little response from either Communist China or the Soviet Union to the pinpoint destruction of the oil storage tanks

But since destruction of the oil that fuels thousands of North Vietnamese trucks (also shipped in from Russia) is based on military as well as psychological factors, then the imports of new oil from the Soviet Union ought also to be halted.

The reason for this is quite simple. Instead of delivering its oil from tanker to storage depot, the Russians now need only package it in oil drums. The North Vietnamese will then transport the oil drums to new hiding places. This undoubtedly will put a harsh new burden on Ho Chi Minh's transport, but it is a perfectly feasible method to counteract destruction of the oil depots.

Thus, those advisers who have been advocating bombing of the oil depots are already telling the President that this was only the first, essential step. The next is to close the harbor to prevent new accumulations of oil.

But a relatively unnoticed incident in the North Vietnamese port of Cam Pha, some 30 miles north of Haiphong, on April 19 is a sinister portent of how the Russians might react to the closing of the port of Haiphong. Officials at the highest diplomatic levels are well aware of this incident.

What happened on April 19 was that the Polish freighter Beniowski was dock-side when a bombing attack was made against Cam Pha. It scurried to the outer harbor as the attack started. The Polish government formally protested to the U.S., even though the ship was undamaged.

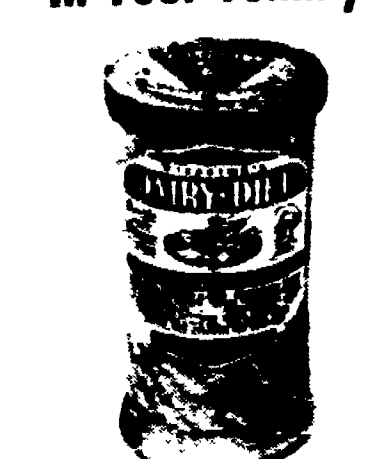

Soviet experts in the U.S. government suspect that Poland was acting as agent of Moscow in a calculated warning to Washington that interference against maritime trade would be unacceptable to the Soviet Union.

More Danger in Blockade If this appraisal is correct, President Johnson's logical second step in denying Ho Chi Minh new oil supplies is fraught with far more danger than the bombing of the oil depots. It means that mining the harbor of Haiphong could bring Soviet retaliation.

Behind this appraisal are the following assumptions: the Russians will do nothing more to help North Viet Nam than they are now doing — supplying oil, trucks, and anti-aircraft equipment — so long as the U.S. doesn't directly challenge the Soviet ships delivering these supplies. But the blowing up of a Soviet ship would be so direct a challenge to Moscow that it could not be ignored, particularly in view of the acerbic Peking campaign against Moscow as an "agent" of the "imperialistic" United States.

Accordingly, if the primary purpose of the new bombing attacks against the oil depots was to cut traffic along the Ho Chi Minh trail, President Johnson's next step would be sion was easy compared to the infinitely more dangerous, next one that may logically follow: closing the port of Haiphong.

Your Money's Worth

'E' Bonds Defer Taxes For Long Term Savers

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If you and your wife have a net taxable income in the $20,000 bracket and you're setting up a retirement savings plan, consider including some U.S. Savings "E" bonds returning you 4.15 per cent over their seven-year life. For a 4.15 per cent rate in your tax bracket is cost to human life and the manpower demands in North Viet Nam

Basic Purpose Political

Thus, the evidence is strong For months, Secretary of the Defense Robert S. McNamara has resisted military demands for bombing the oil depots on that the U.S. is going to tire of grounds that the infiltration would not be much affected. In great middleground of U.S. return is the equivalent of 7.98

Even now, top military strategists admit that the tonnage required to meet minimum political results in Hanoi of his needs of the three North Vietnamese divisions currently in South Viet Nam could be moved over the Ho Chi Minh trail by foot, regardless of the actually the equivalent of 6.10 per cent

If the net taxable income you and your wife report on your joint return is in the $40,000 range, definitely weigh putting part of your retirement savings in these familiar 4.15 per cent bonds. In your tax bracket, that return is the equivalent of 7.98

Even if your net taxable income is as low as $3,000, this bond warrants a place in your retirement savings plan. In your tax bracket, 4.15 per cent is equal to 5 per cent

Defer Federal Taxes

The key to this tale is, of course, that you can defer payment of the Federal income tax due on your accumulated E interest until you actually cash in your bonds. You could wipe out your entire income tax liability if you don't start redeeming your E bonds until you retire and move into an income range which may exempt you completely from paying income taxes.

This is an era of the fiercest competition in memory for out savings. All over the country, financial institutions are dangling interest rates of 5, 5 1/2 and 5 1/2 per cent before us in an attempt to attract our savings.

But few, if any, of the institutions advertising their juicy rates mention the income tax angle.

Net Tax Return

Yet, what matters particularly to long term savers is not just the obvious interest rate but the net return after income taxes. As an illustration, say you put your money in an institution offering you $5 interest per $100. If you're in the 25 per cent income tax bracket, the interest is $1.25 of that $5 in come with a 25 per cent tax rate Federal income taxes leaving will earn 5.76 per cent

U.S. Savings Bonds are not if your income is $30,000 and the best place for your cash if your tax rate 48 per cent, the you're saving for the short-interest would amount to 7.98

These bonds return 4.15 per cent only if held to maturity in interest is exempt from state and city income taxes ably less in the early years. You can get a lot more just by putting your money in a simple savings account at a corner institution or in a savings certificate

Retirement Savings

But these bonds are an excellent medium for long term savings, especially savings designed for your use in your retirement. Low tax bracket years. They are superb for you if you need the discipline of a payroll deduction plan to make you save regularly.

If your net taxable income exceeds $3,000 and your tax rate is 17 per cent, your 4.15 per cent bond interest with tax deferral is equal to 5 per cent.

When the net taxable income is $4,000, and the tax rate is 19 per cent, the 4.15 per cent interest and tax deferral equals 5.12 per cent.

If income is $8,000 and tax est per $100. If you're in the 25 per cent income tax bracket, the interest is $1.25 of that $5 in come with a 25 per cent tax rate Federal income taxes leaving will earn 5.76 per cent

U.S. Savings Bonds are not if your income is $30,000 and the best place for your cash if your tax rate 48 per cent, the you're saving for the short-interest would amount to 7.98

These bonds return 4.15 per cent only if held to maturity in interest is exempt from state and city income taxes

New Minister Learned To Live With People

Pastor Christian Thearle Traveled Widely Before Accepting Call to Trinity Lutheran

S.C., Bermuda, and the U.S. Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo. His last stop before coming to Appleton was at First Lutheran Church, Colorado Springs.

Student of Humans

An avid student of human beings, Pastor Thearle says he has enjoyed all the experiences and learned as much as he could about people because "ministry is people and you can't help but learn."

He adds with a smile, however, that he's gotten into quite a few situations which have taught him a great deal more than he bargained for.

During his years in the seminary, the former chaplain obtained an internship at the Santa Rita Rehabilitation Center (prison) where he "preached, counseled and learned much about what motivates a human being."

In later years Pastor Thearle was assigned to establish an English nucleus in a staunch old German neighborhood, and a than anywhere else, but all the year later, in an equally staunch Finnish neighborhood, and viewed on a smaller plane and anything out of the ordinary is more noticeable," he said.

Experience For Best

"Right about then I began to question whether someone up there didn't like me. Looking back at the experiences I had, I now know it was for the best," he said.

After graduation Pastor Thearle decided to enter the Air Force chaplaincy, even though his denomination's policy was to accept men with at least two years experience.

Nevertheless, he soon found himself Protestant minister at Lackland: in South Carolina, where he served for two years, and in Bermuda, where "there was just enough foreign culture to make life a little different."

The minister feels the service, more than anything, is a great place to learn about people — how they live and what's important to them.

"Life isn't any different here in to listen to his first sermon in Appleton.

After the sermon the bat followed parishioners out into the vestibule and disappeared.

Throughout his career in the ministry, Pastor Thearle has been involved in building programs.

"In Bermuda and at the Academy the Army Corps of Engineers took care of the whole thing, but when I got to First Lutheran, gone were the corps of engineers and I finally realized what it means to build a church," he recalled.

"That's one appealing thing about Trinity — I foresee no building programs in sight," he said.

The pastor feels Trinity has the "fantastic" opportunity, as a big church, to be meaningful in the community and to accomplish those programs for which the smaller churches are not able to do.

"This is the only justification for a large congregation," he said.

But he would like to be instrumental in some of the community projects.

"I just hope the bat in the church was not a bad omen," he adds with a smile.

Youths Foiled in Attempt to Rob Police Station

DE KALB, Ill. (AP)—DeKalb police were holding three teenagers on charges of attempted armed robbery of the police station after a desk officer prevented the robbery.

Police said a 16-year-old boy, hooded, entered the office early Monday and pointed a rifle at Desk Officer Ralph Lizer who was alone in the station. Lizer disarmed the youth and apprehended him after a struggle during which a round went off and struck a concrete wall.

Lizer summoned other police and after questioning the youth, two other teenagers were arrested. One was identified as Donald Murphy, 17, of DeKalb. The names of the other two were not made public.

The police station holds cash for DeKalb merchants.

The Rev. Christian Thearle brings a wide range of experience to his new post as head pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church. The former Air Force chaplain has lived all over the United States, including service at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Miniscule March Held in Line to Swimming Pool

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP)—A Negro man began his own integration march here Monday by walking about 10 miles — all end of the line and work his way within the ticket line leading to a segregated swimming pool.

Christopher Thorne, 26, said, "and that's about the size of it."

AL All-Stars To Have Young Pitching Staff

McLain, Hunter, Kaat, Barber Picked For First Time

By DAVE O'HARA BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — A young staff of eight pitchers, including four chosen for the first time, was named to the American League All-Star team today to face the National League in the annual midsummer baseball classic July 12 at St. Louis.

Minnesota Manager Sam Mele, who earned the honor of leading the American All-Stars by piloting the Twins to the pennant last season, picked a pitching staff of four right-handers and four left-handers with an average age of 25.

Mele, whose choices were announced by league headquarters, named two Cleveland pitchers, and one each from Detroit, Baltimore, Minnesota, Kansas City, Washington and New York. Pitchers for the California Angels, Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox were bypassed.

The right-handers selected were Gary Bell of Cleveland, Denny McLain of Detroit, Jim Hunter of Kansas City and Mel Stottlemyre of New York. The southpaws were Sam McDowell of the Indians, Steve Barber of Baltimore, Jim Kaat of the Twins and Pete Richert of Washington.

Nicked for Run McLain, Kaat, Barber and Hunter were named to the team for the first time. McDowell was the losing pitcher in a 6-5 defeat by the National League last year, when he was nicked for the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning.

Bell was tagged for two runs in three innings in the All-Star Game in 1960, while Stottlemyre did not see action as a member of the American squad last year.

Bell is the oldest of the eight at 29. Hunter, 20, is the youngest. McLain is 22, McDowell 23, Stottlemyre 25, Richert 26, Barber 27 and Kaat 28.

The selection of McDowell and Stottlemyre surprised some observers. McDowell has a 6-2 record, but the young fire-baller has been sidelined much of the season by arm trouble. Stottlemyre has a 7-9 record with the second division Yankees.

McLain boasts the most victories with a 12-3 record. Barber has a 9-2 mark with the league-leading Orioles. Kaat, who won 18 games last year, is 10-6, while Bell, reconverted to a starter, is 8-4.

Hunter, who hasn't had much time to spend his $75,000 bonus, is 8-6 as a major league sophomore, while Richert, a National League castoff, owns an 8-8 record.

The starting fielders were chosen in balloting by managers, players and coaches. The remainder of the 25-player squad, coaches, batting practice pitchers etc. will be announced Friday.

Tokyo Olympics Structure Sinking

TOKYO (AP) — The Tokyo Olympics' most striking structural feature designed by Japan's world-famed architect, Kenzo Tange, is in cracking, creaking, leaking and sinking today, only two years after it was built.

It is the 15,000-seat swimming pool which has a scallop-shaped roof supported by huge cables and suspended across two pillars.

The construction, costing $6,300,000, was rushed to meet the 1964 Olympics opening deadline. Contractors say the ground on which the concrete building is built has been found to be weak and shaky.

Fryman Halts Santo Streak

By JOE MOOSHIL CHICAGO (AP) — Woody Fryman, Pittsburgh's rookie southpaw, hurled his third straight shutout Tuesday with a 6-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs—yet did not have good stuff.

The 23-year-old Kentuckian, who stayed out of organized ball for five years because tobacco farming was more profitable, had the Cubs talking to themselves after hurling his three-hit shutout for a 7-3 record.

In two previous outings he blanked Philadelphia on three hits and followed with a one-hit shutout over the New York Mets.

The Cubs were facing him the first time and midway in the game coach Whitey Lockman asked Pirate first baseman Donn Clendenon, "Is this guy for real?"

Fryman Pitches Third Shutout in Succession; Koufax Gains 15th Win

By MURRAY CHASS Associated Press Sports Writer Sandy Koufax is halfway to a 30-game season, and Woody Fryman is just about halfway to Sandy Koufax.

Koufax gave up 10 hits Tuesday night but still won his 15th game as Los Angeles edged Cincinnati 1-0.

Lower 3-Mile Standard Enroute to 5,000-Meter Mark

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Ron Clarke, the first runner to crack the 13-minute barrier for the three miles and the 28-minute barrier for 10,000 meters, again is exciting the track and field world.

The slim 29-year-old Australian regained the world mark in the 5,000 meters Tuesday with a blazing 13:16.6 and en route lowered the three-mile world record to 12:50.4.

An enthusiastic crowd of 10,000 stood on its seats and cheered Clarke as he far outdistanced the field for his two world records at an international track and field meet.

The 12:50.4 in the three-mile broke the world standard of 12:52.4 that Clarke set in London last July 10. The 13:16.6 for the 5,000 meters shattered the mark of 13:24.2, held by Kenya's Kipchoge Keino. The Kenya star had snatched the record from Clarke last Nov. 30 at Auckland, N.Z., when he bettered the 13:25.8 set by the Aussie in Los Angeles June 2, 1965.

Lech Boguszewicz of Poland finished second in 13:51.8 followed by Tony Cook of Australia in 13:52.6. Bill Baillie of New Zealand in 13:58.2, Bengt Nadj of Sweden in 14:09.8 and Nedo Faric of Sweden in 14:12.2.

Atkins, 26, with 14 years in the National Football League, decided to quit when he was in Los Angeles in January for the Pro Bowl game. He said he was leaving for personal reasons. At Tuesday's signing, he said he had changed his mind.

The 6-foot-8, 270-pound defensive star was an all-NFL selection in 1960, 1961 and 1963. For seven consecutive seasons — 1958 to 1964 — he played for the West team in the Pro Bowl.

A star tackle at the University of Tennessee, Atkins was the No. 1 draft choice of the Cleveland Browns in 1953. He was traded to the Bears in 1955.

Cubs' Broglio Draws Release

CHICAGO (AP) — Pitcher Ernie Broglio was released outright by the Chicago Cubs Tuesday to Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League.

The right-hander, who will be 31 next month, completed two of 11 games he started this season and had a 2-6 record with a 6.39 earned run average in 62 innings.

He joined the Cubs June 15, 1964 in one of the club's biggest recent deals.

Doug Clemens and Bobby Shantz came to the Cubs along with Broglio from the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for Lou Brock, Jack Spring and Paul Toth.

Broglio was 15-8 for the Cardinals in 1963 but was 4-7 for the Cubs in 1964 and 1-6 last year.

Bob Martin Takes NEW Meet Medal

McDonald, Beaumont Are Second

BY TERRY GALVIN

Post-Crescent Staff Writer Justice prevailed in the qualifying round for the Northeastern Wisconsin Golf Association's amateur tournament at the Butte des Morts Golf Club Tuesday.

R. A. (Bob) Martin Sr., a 46-year-old member of the host club who authored tuneup rounds of 72, 68, 67 and 71 over the July 4 weekend on his home track, matched the par 35-35 BDM card to capture the qualifying medal and the No. 1 spot in the 32-man elite field for today's double round of match play.

Continuing the justice motif, defending seniors champion Herb Stinski, Sr., of Ridgeway Country Club, garnered the Seniors' qualifying crown with a nifty 75. The Juniors' medal was won by Oshkosh Country Club phenom Mike Guest, a junior-to-be, who came into the tournament as the favorite in the 18-and-under division.

Share Runnerup Spot

Former Butte des Morts club champion Jim McDonald, now of Manitowish Branch River, and former NEWGA amateur ruler Chuck Beaumont, of Sheboygan's Pine Hills, shared the runnerup spot behind Martin with 1-over-par 71s. McDonald was even par on the front side and lost his stroke coming home, while Beaumont went one over regulation on the first four holes before chalking up 14 consecutive pars.

BDM's John Dever, after a sterling 8-iron shot that hit within two inches of the cup and an 8-foot birdie putt on the 123-yard 17th, needed a birdie on the 5-par, 475-yard 18th to tie Martin, already in with his 70. But the youthful BDM shotmaker, after two excellent wood shots, needed four to get down from 60 yards out.

3-Putt Green Costly

Dever's 3-putt green on No. 18 cost him a share of the run-scoring single to Norm Cash in runnerup spot. Tournament chairman Don Jabas, of BDM, November, retired Al Kaline, fashioned a 73 on nines of 35 and 38 for fifth place, while Burdette, who starred at Milwaukee for 10 seasons with Adcock, got into a jam in the ninth when Paul Schaaf booted Bill

McLain Suffers First Defeat Since June 4; Twins Nip Tribe

Medicare is here but Joe Adcock and Lew Burdette aren't quite ready for it, thank you.

California's two leading senior citizens worked the Detroit Tigers over Tuesday night and handed that young whippersnapper, Denny McLain, his first loss in over a month.

Adcock walloped a three-run homer, his third in three days, and Burdette slammed the door on Detroit rallies in the eighth and ninth innings as the Angels whipped the Tigers 4-3.

Both of the elderly Angels started the game on the bench. Adcock got into the line-up in the fourth after Norm Siebern hurt his right leg running out a single. Burdette was in the bullpen until the eighth when starter Dean Chance and reliever Minnie Rojas ran into trouble.

Plays 17th Season

Adcock, who at 39 is playing in his 17th major league season, hammered his 10th homer of the season in the sixth. That gave the Angels a 4-0 lead but the Tigers fought back, knocking out Chance in the eighth.

Rojas came on and gave up a run-scoring single to Norm Cash before Burdette, who'll be 40 in November, retired Al Kaline, ending the threat.

Burdette, who starred at Milwaukee for 10 seasons with Adcock, got into a jam in the ninth when Paul Schaaf booted Bill

KNOW WHEN OUR SHIP CAME IN?

In 1859.
That was the year an imaginative 26-year old, named George H. Hartford, had a brilliant idea.
The idea?
Buy tea direct from the Orient by the clipper shipload.
Eliminate expensive in-between costs.
Sell directly to the public, at great savings...
1859...that's when our ship came in.
That was the beginning.
That's when our founder showed he cared about people.
Today, in keeping with that proud heritage,
A&P is still dedicated to bringing the most good food, to the most people for the least amount of money.
Today, more than a century later, we can honestly say,
"WE CARE...about you."
Is this a good reason for shopping A&P?
It's one of many.

Bob Martin Riddles Par Twice at BDM

R. A. Bob Martin, Sr. logged rounds of 77, while Bill bumbled Butte des Morts Golf Schleisner posted a 78. Club's challenging par-70 track with two blazing sub-par rounds en route to a 3-under regulation total for four 18-hole tours over the holiday weekend.

Martin opened his par-busting, only hole-in-1 in the Fox Cities. 4-round jaunt with a "mediocre" 2-over par 72, but followed Friday with a terrific 3-under par 67 on nine of 33 and 34 on the par 35.5 layout.

Respectable Bob's Sunday effort was a 2 under the par 68 pair of 34s and a 1-over par 71 followed July 4 Martin's 278.

For the week sliced two strokes off the BDM card overall Ridgeway Country Club, with and stamped him as a red-hot contender for the Northeastern Wisconsin Golf Association Amateur tournament at BDM 70 and added a 75 for good measure.

Bonduel, the Dairyland League's once-beaten Northern Division first round pennant winner, found the going rough when it met the Southern Division co-titlist, Seymour, in a showdown in Sunday's second half opener, as the latter posted an 8-7, come-from-behind victory.

The eventual losers had leads of 2-1, 4-1, and 5-3, and were leading, 5-4, going into the final frame before Seymour caught fire to pull out a win.

Seymour tallied four times in the ninth on three walks, two errors on only two safeties. Bonduel came back with two in its half of the ninth and had the tying run on third when the game ended.

Vern Freemore was the winning moundman with five strikeouts and the same number of walks. John Wartman, who relieved Leon Drage in the seventh, was hung with the loss.

Jim DeWaal led Seymour's attack with three hits, including a 2-run homer. Teammates Dick Eisenrich and Freemore collected a double apiece. Ron Rosenow went 3-for-4 for the losers with a double.

Carl Lemke fared a 3-hitter as Nichols blanked Bear Creek, 2-0. He fanned 11 batters and issued one walk. Don Bohman had two of the three Bear Creek hits. Mike Plamann doubled and drove in one of the two runs for Nichols.

Hofa Park stopped Garson, 10-1, behind the 4-hit pitching of Dick McDermid. McDermid was touched for a lone run in the first and went the rest of the way unscathed, finishing with six strikeouts and four walks. McDermid aided his own cause with a solo home run in the second and a double.

Gary Tilken's clouted two home runs, one a grand slam and the other with two, to lead Black Creek to a 19-7 verdict over Shoctor. Harry Johnson also had a grand slam for the losers. Jerry Rohm was the winning pitcher.

In other games, Freedom broke loose for five runs in the third and went on to down Cecil, 11-7, behind Ray Yaeger. Orrie Ritter lost. Navarino turned back Oneida Mission.

sixth gave the Packers the lead for good and they iced the decision with four more tallies in the seventh and added a clincher in the eighth. The big seventh inning included a single, a pair of walks and a 3-run double by the pitcher Alverson, in addition to a Foxes error.

Bob Von Eps doubled home the first Foxes' run in the second and Jones doubled home another tally in the third. Following Jones' homer in the fifth the Foxes added a run in the seventh when Jim Maness singled, got to third on an error and scored on a sacrifice fly by Al Fitzmorris.

Jerry Boehmer made his debut for the Foxes at third base and had one hit in three

Hawkins Signs 2-Year Pact With Vikings

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP)—Rip Hawkins, stalwart Minnesota Vikings' middle linebacker the past five years, has reconsidered and signed a new two-year contract with the National Football League team in stead of retiring to return to law school.

General Manager Jim Finks of the Vikings said Tuesday that Hawkins agreed to terms after deciding he would try to go back to law school in Minnesota.

Finks also announced the signing of quarterbacks Frank Tarkenton and Ron Vander-selen and halfback Dave Osborn.

Hawkins, 27, a graduate of North Carolina, has completed 1 1/2 years of law school at Emory University in Atlanta and feared he would lose credit for the work he has done if he did not return to school there this year.

Fox had been ill three years. He leaves his widow, Helen, two sons, James, 30, Largo, Fla., and Don, 18, and daughter, Mrs. John Markey, Evansville, Ind.

Escape Not Discovered For 12 Hours

Robbery Suspect Sawed Through Bars At Superior Jail

SUPERIOR, AP—A bank robbery suspect's escape from Superior County Jail was not discovered until almost 12 hours after it occurred, Sheriff Louis Bannick said Tuesday.

Bannick had failed to check the cell of the suspect, Robert D. Ross, 35, of Flint Mich., the sheriff said.

Ross, charged in the $32,000 robbery at the Bank River Mich. State Bank, sawed his way out of the jail Monday.

He was accompanied by cellmate Jerome O. New, 24, of Superior, who had been held on a traffic charge. Both are still at large.

Bannick said the escapees used a hacksaw to cut through bars in their cell, the cell block and a window.

They used soap to disguise where the hacksaw did its work. The sawing apparently began Tuesday, the day Ross was jailed after a high speed chase from Duluth, Minn., Bannick said.

Other prisoners in the cell block apparently knew of the escape plan but said nothing.

Ross could have had the hacksaw sawn into the lining of his shoes, Bannick said. The suspect had been searched thoroughly at the time of his booking, but nothing was found he related.

Bannick said he had told the staff to use extra caution from midnight until 8 a. m. Monday with no less than one cell check each hour. The checks weren't made, he said.

Pills were supposed to have been brought to Ross at 6:30 in the morning, but were never brought to him, Bannick said.

Bannick said the escape wasn't discovered until 1 p. m. or about 12 hours after it probably occurred.

Ross was to have gotten a new cell on Monday, Bannick said. He said it was customary to change the cells of federal prisoners every two or three days.

It was not done in Ross's case, Bannick said, because a federal marshal had been expected to arrive Sunday to take charge of the prisoner.

13 of 19 Conservatives Running Against '64 Democratic Victors

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nine-term former Republican congressmen, many of them pro-Goldwater conservatives, are making comeback attempts this year against Democrats who were elected to the House two years ago in the Johnson landslide.

Thirteen are running against the same Democrats who defeated them in 1964 and 16 of the 19 are competing in districts considered marginal, because the incumbent Democrat won with less than 55 percent of the vote.

Some Democratic strategists admit it will be an uphill fight to retain these seats, as well as the 47 other marginal districts the party now holds. Most of these were won in 1964 in areas which had been Republican for years.

In contrast, only one former Democratic House member, Charles O. Porter of Oregon, is trying to regain his seat. He is seeking the post being vacated by Rep. Robert B. Duncan, who is running for the Senate.

While the return to Washington of the 19 former GOP congressmen would not endanger the Democrats' 294-139 numerical majority, it could cut heavily into the party's working majority.

Because most Republicans frequently vote with Southern Democrats against administration domestic programs, replacement of 20 to 30 pro-administration Democrats by conservative Republicans could erase majorities for such controversial programs as the National Teachers Corps and rent supplements.

In five primaries this year, conservative former congressmen have overcome opposition of moderate Republicans. The five are Steven B. Derouman and John R. Pillion of New York, Gene Snyder of Kentucky, George A. Gooding of Pennsylvania and Peter A. Garland of Maine.

Snyder is running in Kentucky's new 4th District against a pro-administration state senator, John J. Moloney, while Garland is seeking the normally Republican seat being relinquished by moderate GOP Rep. Stanley R. Tupper.

Derouman, Pillion and Gooding face the Democrats who defeated them two years ago. Reps. Lester L. Wolff, Richard D. McCarthy and N. Norman C. Cray Jr. are also running against Democrats who were elected to the House two years ago in the Johnson landslide.

Wisconsin's Henry C. Schadeberg is up against the GOP nomination against freshman Rep. Lynn E. Staibbaum in the 1st district.

Chicago (AP)—Motorists who take long vacation trips will get away from home, office and dull daily routine—but not from taxes.

Commerce Clearing House studied the nation's tax map and reported today.

Forty-two states and the District of Columbia levy general sales taxes.

Every state except North Carolina taxes cigarettes.

And all have state taxes on gasoline.

Commerce Clearing House, a private organization which does research on tax and business law for its clients, said sales tax rates range from 2 per cent in Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Nevada, New York, Oklahoma, Texas and Virginia to 5 per cent in Pennsylvania.

Virginia recently adopted a 2 per cent sales tax, but it won't go into effect until Sept. 1.

That will leave only Alaska, Delaware, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Oregon and Vermont without a general sales tax.

This tax on sales and services is popular with the collectors. It brings in about 26 per cent of the total state revenues.

Commerce Clearing House says state gasoline taxes range from 5 cents a gallon in Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Texas and Wyoming to a combined Hawaii-Hawaii County tax of 11 cents a gallon.

New Jersey boosted its cigarette tax rate this year from 8 cents to 11 cents, joining Texas and Washington as the states with the highest rates on cigarettes.

Teamster Leadership in Doubt

Hoffa Keeps Silent on Resignation Intentions in Event of Prison Term

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—James R. Hoffa kept other high Teamsters Union officials in the dark today about whether he will keep his promise to resign as president of the giant union if he goes to prison.

"He wouldn't resign if he had two machine guns pointed at him," snorted one member of the powerful Teamsters executive board which Hoffa so far has kept from open rebellion.

"He's made that commitment and I think he will," said another board member of Hoffa's promise to quit if he loses appeals on his federal jury tampering and mail-fraud convictions.

Dispute Denied
The question is crucial in the power struggle shaping up among the 13 Teamsters vice presidents despite Hoffa's denial of any dispute in the union hierarchy.

Hoffa prepared today to gavel through constitutional changes boosting his salary from $75,000 to $100,000 a year, authorizing the union to pay his huge legal expenses and empowering him to assign his duties to a new general vice president if he is jailed.

Despite the outward appearance of solidarity at the Teamsters convention, the private grumbling in the union's top echelon grew louder over Hoffa's open attempt to keep control of the world's biggest and richest union by one means or another.

"The hell with our enemies," Hoffa yelled and some 2,000 delegates stood and gave him a cheering vote of confidence.

"Let that be an answer to our enemies and those stupid individuals who think they can divide us with their filthy propaganda," Hoffa said.

But the major question dividing other high Teamsters officials appeared to be caused by Hoffa himself in a series of complicated changes in the union's constitution.

They aren't sure just how Hoffa will try to perpetuate his nine-year reign over the 1.7-million-member union with some $1 billion in assets.

"A power grab," one executive board member called it and predicted Hoffa would never turn the presidency over to Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons, Hoffa's choice to replace him if he dies, resigns or is removed from office.

Hoffa has said in the past he would resign if he goes to prison to serve any of his 13 years in pending prison sentences, but the proposed constitutional changes would not force him to step down.

Fairchild Named To Federal Bench

Justice in Line for Wisconsin's Top Judgeship to be in Appeals Court

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—Justice Thomas E. Fairchild, in elected in 1936 and re-elected in line to become the next chief justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, has been nominated for a federal Circuit Court of Appeals judgeship in year-old son.

Seniority determines the selection of chief justices in Wisconsin.

The nomination, announced by President Johnson Tuesday, was expected.

If the nomination is approved by the U.S. Senate, Fairchild would succeed Judge F. Ryan Duffy Sr., of Milwaukee, Wis., who retired last Friday.

Sens. William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson, Wisconsin Democrats, had recommended Fairchild for the nomination. They offered no other candidates.

The senators announced earlier Tuesday that Johnson was preparing to nominate the 54-year-old Fairchild, who was elected in April to a second 10-year term on the state's highest court.

Justice Delighted
Fairchild, vacationing in Colorado, said he was "honored and delighted" by the nomination. He said he did not know how long it would be before he would assume his new judicial role.

When it happens, Gov. Warren P. Knowles will have the job of appointing a successor to the Wisconsin bench.

The successor would serve until Fairchild's current term expires in January.

The governor elected in the fall could appoint a replacement in January when Fairchild's new term is scheduled to begin. The successor would serve until a justice could be elected in April.

The name Fairchild has been associated closely with high judicial circles in Wisconsin for 36 years. Justice Fairchild succeeded his father, Edward E., on the Supreme Court bench in 1936.

The elder Fairchild was appointed to the court in 1930.

consin, and only chief justice George Currie has longer tenure on the court.

Although Justice Fairchild assumed the judicial mantle worn by his father, he did not follow the same political path.

Fairchild was a Progressive during his college days in the late 1920s, heyday of the Progressive push in Wisconsin. Later he joined the Democratic party, and while running on ticket, won one term as state attorney general and failed twice to unseat incumbent Republicans in bids for the U.S. Senate.

His father was a Republican, a member of the faction opposing the La Follette Progressives.

Fat Max Appears on Racks At Staid Brooks Brothers

NEW YORK (AP)—Brooks Brothers, the Madison Avenue store that has been turning out stock brokers' uniforms since 1846, has gone and done something very unbuttoned down—the Fat Max.

There are murmured apologies, of course—"Not really our kind of merchandise, we generally try to avoid fads." But the display cases don't lie.

In them are rows of bookies' delights—four-inch-wide Fat Max ties, broad as bibs, cross enough for a race track touts, big enough to hide a dirty shirt front.

Significantly, the salesmen say, the buyers are standard Ivy League types, the advertising men and Wall Street people whose preference for narrow ties had kept wider ones obsolete since the end of World War II.

Slim Jim's Fall
Their interest has manufacturers predicting a drop in the popularity of Slim Jim's and pushing their fall sales campaigns to the wide widths. Most standard ties are now between 2 1/2 and 3 1/2 inches.

Brooks spokesman Richard Whiting says: "I'm amazed by how astronomical business has been with them. They're not really our kind of merchandise, but I suppose a certain amount of innovation is understood."

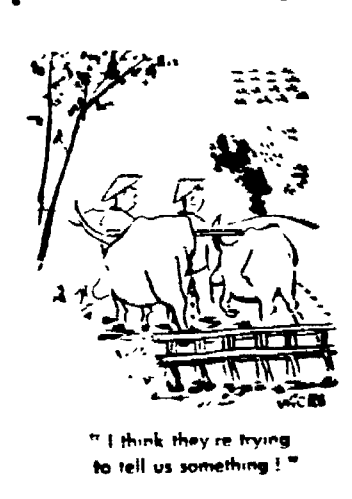

The store has kept the width limit at three inches on its exclusive first floor, while letting it reach four in its university and young executives' departments.

Sober Stripes
J. Press and Chipp two of Brooks Brothers' competitors in the city's tailoring enclave off Madison Avenue at 43rd Street, also sell the wide ties, like Brooks in sober regimental stripes and club patterns.

A salesman at Press, which has outfitted Lodges, Cabots and Rockefeller's, says the fad apparently developed early this year at Harvard and Yale. The same report came next door from Chipp, where John F. Kennedy sometimes had his suits made.

Virtually every major manufacturer will carry the wide ties in their fall lines. Prices for the new models are expected to be higher, with makers passing along the cost of extra silk to retail outlets.

Roy Wilkins Raps Concept of 'Black Power'

Father of Hate, Mother of Violence, Negro Leader Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, looks upon the concept of "black power" as "the father of hatred and the mother of violence."

Wilkins condemned the concept in these words Tuesday night as he opened the NAACP's annual convention with a keynote address to 2,000 delegates.

"We of the NAACP will have none of this," he said. "It shall not now poison our forward march."

"Black Death"

"Black power" in the quick, uncritical and highly emotional adoption it has received from some segments of a beleaguered people can mean only black death," Wilkins emphasized. "Even if it should be enthroned briefly, the human spirit would die a little."

The director also criticized the adoption of a resolution by the Congress of Racial Equality calling for retaliation by Negroes against acts of violence.

While stressing that the NAACP has never "signed a pact to turn the cheek forever," Wilkins said: "It seems reasonable to assume that proclaimed protective violence is as likely to encourage counterviolence as it is to discourage violent persecution."

Racial Pride

Instead, said Wilkins, the NAACP should choose as its weapons in the fight for Negro freedom the ballot, participation in government as elected public servants, and efforts to gain increased employment, fair housing and unsegregated public education.

In New York Tuesday, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said he understood the slogan "black power" to mean "an appeal to racial pride, an appeal to the Negro not to be ashamed of being black and the transfer of the powerlessness of the Negro into positive, constructive power."

He said Tuesday he would not use the term in directing his organization, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Fatal Stabbing in Manitowoc Park Called Accident

TWO RIVERS (AP)—Manitowoc County authorities say a Milwaukee youth stabbed fatally in a state forest Tuesday was apparently an accident victim.

"As far as can be determined now, it appears to have been an accident," said Sheriff Edward McConnell. "However, our investigation is continuing."

The body of Frank J. Stefanowski, 19, was found in a camping area at Point Beach State Forest.

Stefanowski had been stabbed in the heart, apparently with a 12-inch hunting knife.

The knife was found a few feet from the body.

McConnell said there was no evidence of a struggle. There were no marks on the body other than the stab wound.

County Coroner Theodore Tietgen said the youth may have fallen on the knife and pulled it out of his chest before he died. Stefanowski had been wearing the knife in a sheath on his belt.

Jury Drawn to Hear Trial of Assemblyman

MADISON (AP)—A jury of seven men and five women was drawn today to hear the trial of Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, who was indicted on a bribery charge by a Dane County grand jury investigating alleged illegal lobbying.

Circuit Judge William Sachtjen swore in the jury today after about 45 minutes of questioning and deliberations by Dist. Atty. Michael Torphy and Alfonsi's lawyer, John Fritschler.

Alfonsi, an Assemblyman from Minocqua, appeared composed as he sat beside Fritschler.

Torphy, in questioning the prospective jurors, asked whether any of them had political beliefs which would not enable

Hydrogen Tamed For Lunar Flight

29-Ton Satellite Gives Scientists Chance to Observe Fuel in Space

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — et fuel for man-to-the-moon and other space missions.

After years of engineering headaches, it appears that U.S. scientists have harnessed liquid hydrogen as a high-energy rocket

The breakthrough came Tuesday when America's heaviest satellite, a 29-ton rocket stage, hurdled around the globe for three orbits while ground stations monitored the behavior of 10 tons of hydrogen packed in the fuel tank.

Throughout this 4½-hour period, the hydrogen performed better than expected, thanks to a unique system of small rockets and gas vents that created a tiny thrust to keep the fuel positioned in the bottom of the 64,000-gallon tank, at the end of the engine.

Under weightless conditions on previous tests with smaller rockets, the fuel had a tendency to curl into a ball, climb the

Governors Told U. S. Must Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told the nation's governors today that the United States has the initiative in Viet Nam and must stay and fight there until it has stopped the aggression from the North.

The vice president, in a prepared address to the 58th annual Governors Conference, said that because of a series of "smashing defeats" to the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong, the initiative in the conflict clearly "has shifted to the allied forces."

The governors are considering a resolution in support of President Johnson's Southeast Asia policy.

Defend Policies

As a representative of the President, who canceled a visit to the conference session, Humphrey launched a defense in depth of the President's course in a war most of the governors said the people want ended quickly.

Humphrey said the nation is faced with only two options — to stay and fight in Viet Nam or to get out. He said withdrawal would only encourage further Communist aggression in Asia and would jeopardize the integrity of independent nations in that part of the world.

"There are those who suggest that we should stay, but be quiet about it — that we should fight, but not vigorously," he said. "I am not sure whether they fully support a half war or give half-way support to a full war."

Halt Aggression

"I say that we must stay and fight and work in South Viet Nam until we have achieved our objective — the halt of aggression from the North, the independence of South Viet Nam and peace in Southeast Asia."

Humphrey said that "despite the efforts of a small minority

Negro Area Of Omaha Tense, Quiet

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Omaha's predominantly Negro near North Side was tense but quiet today as Nebraska Gov. Frank Morrison said he would not tolerate civil disobedience.

For three straight nights, throngs of adults and youths in the area threw bottles and stones, smashed store windows and then looted the stores.

"Under no circumstances will civil disobedience be tolerated in this state while I am governor," said Morrison at a news conference Tuesday night. He arrived from Los Angeles, where he had been attending the National Governors Conference.

As city police, state safety patrol troopers and National Guardsmen stood ready to swing into action, the governor toured the strife-torn area.

Authorities Still Searching for Man Who Kidnaped Young Girl in 1965

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Capt. Elza Hatfield, a veteran Kansas City policeman whose major-case unit gets the worst crimes, reached into his pocket and pulled out a picture of a blue-eyed girl, her mischievous, freckled face ringed with curls.

"I carry that with me wherever I go," Hatfield said. "Every man in the office does."

The portrait was that of Denise Sue Clinton, 9 years old and on summer vacation when she was kidnaped July 8 a year ago by a robber who apparently took her only as an afterthought.

There has been no trace of her — no torn or discarded clothing, no ransom demand, no indication whether she is dead or alive.

Soldier Brings Son's Body Home

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — Army Spec. 6 Gerald L. Smith, 48, a career soldier wounded twice in Viet Nam, has brought home the body of his soldier son, killed in combat in Viet Nam June 30.

Smith arrived Tuesday night with the body of Army Pfc. Danny L. Smith, 22. Meeting there were Mrs. Smith and her only other child, Darrell Smith, 20, who had completed his first week of Army basic training at Ft. Bliss, Tex., when he learned of his brother's death.

"I'll bring myself home," Danny had written to a friend in a letter dated the day before the young soldier was killed. "These people can't hurt me."

Details Unavailable He would have been 23 today.

"I'll be an old gray man," he wrote.

Details of the action that killed him were not available. Services were pending today at the nearby Holloman Air Force Base chapel with burial at the Ft. Bliss cemetery.

The elder Smith, nearing retirement from the Army, went to Viet Nam last December with an Army helicopter unit. His son left Ft. Bliss for Viet Nam in January. Danny was with a 1st Infantry unit.

The Smith family declined to speak to newsmen Tuesday night, but a family friend, Mrs. George Ingram, said the father was wounded twice in Viet Nam action. Danny was wounded last May but returned to his unit in June.

Different Tone

My 13-year-old daughter, Belinda, was his pet," Mrs. Ingram said. "He called her 'Kitten.' He told her he was coming home, that, 'they can't keep me over here."

His letters to Belinda's mother took a slightly different tone.

"I sure hope I may get out of this place. I keep telling everyone I will."

The Smiths, father and son, met last May in Viet Nam. Danny's unit was moving along a road when he saw his father standing nearby. There was a brief reunion.

The next day, Danny's mother reported earlier, her husband was called to Danny's unit. His son had been wounded, but not seriously, in a mine explosion.

This was Danny's second tour of duty with the Army. He had reached the rank of Spec. 4 on the first tour, his family reported. He was awaiting action on his application for warrant officers' school when his orders to Viet Nam arrived.

106 Missions Flown

American Warplanes Dodge SAMs as Air Raids Continue

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — American warplanes dodged 27 to 29 Soviet-made missiles over North Viet Nam Tuesday during one of the heaviest raiding days of the war, a U.S. spokesman announced.

It was the largest number of surface-to-air missiles expended in one day by the Communists, but the American spokesman said none of the American raiders was hit by the SAMs.

The missiles were fired from sites in the Red River Valley 50 to 115 miles north and northwest of Hanoi. U.S. Air Force pilots reported wrecking four of the sites and also hitting two fuel depots within 33 miles of the North Vietnamese capital.

106 Missions

Air Force and carrier-based Navy jets flew a total of 106 multiplane missions, a new high in the 16-month air war.

The raiding fighter-bombers also hammered at bridges, barracks, storage areas, anti-aircraft raiding fighter - bombers tions in the southern panhandle as well as the Red River Valley.

In the only major ground action reported, a government regiment of about 3,000 men clashed four times with Communist forces 62 miles southwest of Saigon Tuesday. A spokesman said the Vietnamese troops killed 83 Viet Cong and captured a 57mm recoilless rifle, four machine guns and 27 other weapons. He said government casualties were light.

Tuesday Flights

But American pilots flew the unusually high number of 443 sorties in South Viet Nam Tuesday, claiming damage or destruction of about 500 Viet Cong huts and fortifications and causing 55 secondary explosions. They also reported possibly killing 28 Viet Cong.

South Vietnamese air force pilots flew 252 sorties.

U.S. B52 bombers hammered at two targets today: a Viet Cong base camp and training center near Cambodia 60 miles northwest of Saigon and a Viet Cong troop concentration 38 miles southwest of Da Nang, on the central coast.

A U.S. spokesman announced the loss of three small two-seat observation planes in South Viet Nam today. One was shot down 25 miles southwest of Quang Ngai and another was shot down a mile away. The third crashed 20 miles southwest of Da Nang, but the cause was not known.

The two fliers in each of the three planes were rescued by helicopters.

Political Front

On the political front, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky set up a special disciplinary committee of 20 generals with court-martial powers to judge five other generals involved in the recent Buddhist-inspired revolt in the northern provinces.

The latter included Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, Ky's rival whose dismissal as commander of the army's northernmost 1st Corps area last March precipitated the unrest, and Ton That Dinh, Huynh Van Cao, Nguyen Can Chuan and Pham Xuan Nhuan.

Air Force Pleased

U.S. Air Force officers were jubilant at the success of their F105 Thunderchiefs and F4C Phantoms in evading the missiles over North Viet Nam.

The most missiles the North Vietnamese had fired on any previous day was about a dozen. One flight of four F105 Thunderchiefs had an especially suc-

Retains Cabinet Power

Sukarno Accepts Loss Of 'Presidency for Life'

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — President Sukarno today accepted the loss of his "president-for-life" title but said he would oppose any attempt by Lt. Gen. Suharto to form a Cabinet without his approval.

"I don't want to be president for life. I have no desire even to be elected president. I want to dedicate myself to the people. To the service of freedom," Sukarno told the closing session of the Provisional People's Consultative Congress.

He said he would carry out the resolutions passed by the Congress but declared that under the 1945 constitution only the president has the right to appoint a Cabinet.

Work Together

The Congress ordered the president Tuesday to let Suharto choose the Cabinet. In an apparent last-minute compromise it later issued a call for the two men to work out the appointments together.

"This I accept," Sukarno said. "I don't want to be treated as a king of kings. I've been fighting for nearly 40 years — to be only a king? No, no."

The new Cabinet is to be chosen before Indonesia's National Day Aug. 17. It remains to be seen how much of a voice Suharto will let the president have in choosing the ministers.

Speaking after Sukarno, the army strongman said that anyone who opposed resolutions of the Congress also opposed the 1945 constitution. The resolutions are a manifestation of the Indonesian people's desires, he declared.

Wisconsin Man Killed in Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pfc. Kenneth L. Schaefer, U. S. Army, has been killed in action in Viet Nam, the Defense Department said Tuesday. Schaefer was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Schaefer of Beaver Dam.

LBJ Claims Solution Is 'On the Way'

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, declaring the Communists know they cannot win a military victory in Viet Nam, has voiced optimism that "we are on the way" to solving the Vietnamese problem.

Johnson planned a series of Viet Nam conferences at his ranch home near here tonight, summoning Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and other military and diplomatic advisers for an overnight business visit.

The President expressed an optimistic view of the war during a news conference Tuesday on the front lawn of his ranch — a session preceded by a barbecue buffet lunch served by Mrs. Johnson and daughter Luci.

Bombing Raids

Taking the wraps off a top secret message from the Pentagon, Johnson cited estimates that stepped-up bombing raids on the Hanoi-Haiphong area have wiped out 57 per cent of North Viet Nam's petroleum storage facilities. He said 67 per cent of all storage capacity has been hit during the raids that began last week.

Other conference highlights:

—Discussing racial problems, Johnson indirectly chided militant Negro leaders by asserting: "We are not interested in black power and we are not interested in white power, but we are interested in American democratic power, with a small 'd.'" Some militants have raised "black power" as a battle cry.

—Turning to politics, the President said "as time per-

Ex-Sen. Byrd Ailing With Brain Tumor

BERRYVILLE, Va. (AP) — Former U. S. Sen. Harry F. Byrd Sr., longtime head of Virginia's conservative Democratic party organization, is suffering from a brain tumor.

A source close to the Byrd family said Tuesday night that there has been a "steady deterioration" in the 79-year-old former senator's condition, and that he is partially paralyzed.

Byrd, who was hospitalized for a short time in March, was reported seriously ill at his home here last week. However, family spokesmen have declined to specify the nature of his illness.

Byrd, a former Virginia governor, retired from the Senate last November after serving for 32 years. A son, Harry F. Byrd Jr., was appointed to succeed him.

Appleton Moves to Expedite Pipeline to Lake Winnebago

Commission Approves Laying Main at Highway Intersection

City officials took steps on various fronts Tuesday to expedite construction of the proposed Lake Winnebago pipeline and an addition to the municipal water treatment plant.

These were the developments: —The Appleton Water Commission gave formal approval to the immediate laying of a 42-inch main at the intersection of U.S. 10 and State 114.

—Disclosure was made that Consoer Townsend and Associates, one of two consulting firms working on the water expansion project, will have the intersection water main construction plans ready soon. —Public Works Director Robert W. Bues said an opinion had been received from the city attorney that the city could proceed with that phase of the pipeline project, having the work done on a cost and materials basis.

—The board of public works instructed a group of city officials to hand deliver Appleton's request for a $1.5 million water expansion grant to the regional office of the Housing and Urban Development Department at Chicago as soon as possible.

—Because Bues has resigned and will be leaving city employment soon, the board appointed City Engineer Frank Keuler as its agent in dealing with the federal agency concerning the requested grant agreement.

By installing the 196-foot-long 42-inch circumference pressure pipe now at the highway intersection before it is paved by the state, the city hopes to save from $7,000 to $9,000.

The pipeline being planned will lead from the intake in Lake Winnebago and then follow S. Oneida Street, leading to the filtration plant.

State Doing Work

The state is now reconstructing and widening the intersection of State 114. Installing the pipeline later would result in cutting up the new intersection or tunneling beneath it, both expensive procedures, according to Bues.

"I would definitely recommend that we lay this 196 feet of water main now before the paving," Bues told the board of public works. He said the Appleton Water Commission would pay for the work because it was part of the cost of the overall water expansion program.

The program is expected to cost $3 million, including $1 million for the addition to the filtration plant. City officials previously received application blanks for federal officials to apply for a grant.

Bond Issuance

Entire cost of the Lake Winnebago project will be underwritten through the issuance of water revenue bonds by the city for the water department.

"I would say that by all means we should install the pipeline underneath the intersection now," commented Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th). His motion met with unanimous approval.

It was felt it would be to the city's advantage and save time if the mayor and other officials delivered Appleton's federal aid application in person.

"If there are some questions to be answered or changes made in the document, it can be done right there," Bues advised. "The city could save itself a lot of time and correspondence."

Midwest Blasted by Tornadoes

Funnel Clouds Cited in Chicago, Minneapolis Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — A series of severe thunderstorms and tornadoes blasted through five Midwestern states Tuesday.

Moderate damage and minimal injuries were reported.

Tornadoes and funnel clouds were sighted in several Chicago suburbs, near Minneapolis, Peoria, Ill., and Richmond, Ind. Seven small twisters touched down in the Minneapolis suburbs of Brooklyn Park, Brooklyn Center and Maple Grove, uprooting trees and damaging three homes.

Power lines were downed in many areas.

Sirens Used

Civil defense sirens in downtown Minneapolis warned pedestrians to take cover. Suburban police used portable public-address systems to warn of the tornado danger.

In Vandalia, Ill., midnight thunderstorms knocked down power lines, causing several small fires. Power was knocked out for 30 minutes in sections of Vandalia.

Wind gusts of up to 100 miles an hour were recorded at Mid-Continent Airport at Kansas City. Other reports of high winds included Ottumwa, Iowa, 60 miles; Springfield, Ill., 60 miles; and Joliet, Ill., 58 miles.

Leaking Valve in Water Main Hinders Menasha Repairs

MENASHA — A leaking valve was letting water into the broken water main under the Fox River and complicating efforts to repair the separated three sections of the main came today. But Water & Light Supt. F. Marion Hageman said current over some 40 or more shutting off water in the Paris years.

Hageman said that turning off the water — possibly sometime this morning — was expected to permit quick completion of the capping job.

liability for a debt. Liability for a loan lies directly between the industry and the lending agency.

Drumm pointed out today that the three industrial development prospects have been in contact with the agency about the prospects of expanding in Outagamie County, either in writing or by direct interview with members of the Chamber's staff. The prospects were presented for consideration by Gus A. Zuehlke, a member of the corporation's board of directors and chairman of the Chamber's industrial development committee.

Officers were authorized to contact underwriting firms and to hire legal counsel when the industrial development prospects express a definite intention to expand or locate within the county.

Approve Bylaws

The board also authorized the officers to act in a formal manner between board meetings. In addition, articles and bylaws which are in accord with Wisconsin Department of Resource Development recommendations were approved.

Outagamie County government has nine representatives, including six supervisors, on the corporation's board of directors; they are Esler, Woehler, Babbitt, Treasurer Peter Berg, Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath and Supvs. Waldemar Klein (Appleton), Paul Koska (Little Chute), J. W. Weyenberg (Kaukauna) and Walter Fredericks (New London).

The citizen members, in addition to Rugland, Zuehlke and Drumm, are Harold Adams, president of the First National Bank of Appleton; E. R. Sutherland, board chairman of Thilman Pulp and Paper Co.; Kaukauna; Mrs. Niels Miller, president of Miller Electric Manufacturing Co., Appleton; James Allen, executive vice president, Kimberly State Bank; Philip Dahlman, executive vice president of the First National Bank of Seymour; and Oscar J. Menasha Council Up a Tree Over Log Question MENASHA — Ald. William Erickson's log, a topic that has rolled around the council chambers for months, has aldermen stumped once more.

Only this time, it's two logs. At Tuesday night's council session, a letter and bill of sale were presented to the council in which the Menasha Corp. expressed pleasure that land at the point where the Fox River and Government Canal separate has been donated to the city. The company turned over the two logs, measuring 12 and four feet, respectively, to the city to display on the point.

Somebody asked since when the land had been turned over to the city, Mayor Kenneth Holmes said the Army Corps of Engineers had made the offer, on a 99-year lease basis for $1, to the park board some time ago. The board accepted, Holmes reported.

Somebody raised the question of upkeep and the limited access because the Mill Street Bridge is closed. Erickson, seeing the council was up a tree over the matter, won quick approval of a motion to hold the matter over for consideration.

Appleton Firm Is Low Bidder

NEENAH — An Appleton construction firm, C. O. Green, Inc., was the low bidder for sanitary and storm sewer pipes 1, 1970 and Seithamer's term is until July 1, 1971. Both Pros-mains with a total bid of $15,331, almost $30,000 lower than the highest of six bids. John Darchelet and Chmn. opened at the finance committee meeting Tuesday.

The other firms and their bids for three-year terms after their were McHugh and Coppens, Appleton, $34,157; Central Contracting, Oshkosh, $58,662; C. F. to the park and recreation Kaluna, Berlin, $61,603; Bahn board and Jerome Langnofski Construction Co., Manitowoc, was appointed to succeed Mrs. Boldt, president of the Oscar J. Boldt Construction Co. Oshkosh, $74,211.

Public Works Inspector Okayed By Finance Unit

NEENAH — Members of the finance committee approved a request for a public works inspector for city construction projects.

Public Works Director Wayne Bryan said the post had been vacant for several years and a large volume of sewer, water and street work made the position necessary.

He recommended the hiring of Donald R. Laux, presently employed by the Neenah Joint School District as a bus driver and maintenance technician to fill the job.

2 Oshkosh Professors Finish Doctoral Work

OSHKOSH — Professors who are now completing doctoral work at the University of Pittsburgh and the University of Connecticut are among those named to the Wisconsin State University. Oshkosh staff in physics and astronomy, according to Dr. Richard Netzel, department chairman.

Mrs. Sandra A. Gade, a graduate of Valparaiso University with a B.S. degree, is finishing doctoral work at the University of Pittsburgh where she has been a part-time instructor. She has been named an assistant professor here. James E. Gueths, also named an assistant professor, holds degrees from Ripon College and the University of Connecticut where he is now completing the Ph.D. A member of Phi Beta Kappa, Gueths has been a research assistant at Connecticut. He is married and has two children.

Old Neenah Post Office May See Use as School

NEENAH — As the result of an informal polling of the city council and the resulting consensus that the Neenah joint school district might advantageously use the old Neenah post office building, a study of the facility was approved Tuesday night.

Supt. Donald Scott brought the board up to date on a chain of events which may lead to the use of the building after it is vacated the first of next year. A letter on June 27 from a district postal official in Chicago concerning the post office building sparked the informal discussion among members of the board. Mayor Carl Lochning and members of the committee, Scott related.

"The building will be declared surplus and will be made available to any public institution, with schools having top priority." Possible use for the building for the school district is as an annex to the administrative center, according to Scott, and it could be adapted for a materials and curriculum center housing the office of the assistant superintendent and the curriculum coordinator. Storage space and docking facilities are adequate, a quick survey has determined.

The procedure for applying for the building to be used by the school district has been worked out with Palmer John, surplus properties department head of the department of Health, Education and Welfare. An 80 per cent discount would be available on the cost of the building to the school district.

No price tag has been placed on the 20 per cent value of the building, which the school may have to pay. There is also a possibility that the school district could receive the building without cost.

Board Questions A number of questions from the board as to how much of the 20 per cent value of the building would be required in a plan for the building. A special meeting will be called by the board to study these facts before July 15, when the "letter of intent" must be filed with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Auto Body Firm Seeks to Buy Old City Garage

Remodeling Planned By Pierce, Would Add 25 Employees

With an eye toward expansion, Pierce Auto Body Works, Inc. 315 S. Pierce St., is interested in purchasing the old city garage property on Spencer Street.

Delmar F. Drumm, manager of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, made the disclosure at a meeting of the board of public works Tuesday afternoon.

The chamber is interested in working closely with local companies and wants them to stay in Appleton so the tax base can be retained," Drumm said.

Cash Offer
He indicated the Pierce firm was in a position to make a cash offer for the old garage which would be remodeled into a facility to provide employment for an estimated 25 to 30 persons.

"We will bend over backwards to help existing industries just as we would new ones," Mayor George Buckley commented.

The garage property is situated at 920 W. Spencer St. City officials hope the move to the new municipal garage on the city's far northeast side will be made by Sept. 1.

Drumm was told the city is obtaining an appraisal on the old garage property.

The board recommended to the council that the sale of the old garage be negotiated with Pierce Auto Body Works.

151 Register For Medicare In Fox Cities

A total of 151 of the 539 patients now registered in the four Fox Cities hospitals are under medicare, the federal hospital care plan for those 65 years of age and over.

As of late Tuesday, Theda Clark Hospital, Neenah, with 257 patients, had 78 on medicare; Appleton Memorial, with 85 patients, had 28 on medicare; St. Elizabeth, Appleton, with 150 patients, had 55 on medicare; and Kaukauna Community, with 47 patients, had 10 on medicare.

The number, which has increased by 20 since July 1 when the bill went into effect, substantiates the expectations of hospital officials who agreed with Theda that there would be no rush immediately after the opening date.

Medicare affects about 19 million Americans who are eligible for government-insured hospital care at any of 6,704 hospitals.

Intended to Annoy

Woman Fined $50 for Unlawful Phone Call

An Appleton woman, apprehended through the joint efforts of the Wisconsin Telephone Co. and Appleton police, was found guilty Tuesday of making an unlawful telephone call with the intention of annoying the party called.

Mrs. Lois Gasper, 32, 2421 W. Wisconsin Ave., appeared before Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller Tuesday and was fined $50 and costs or 24 days.

An investigation into the "nuisance call" case started when a complaint was filed with police on June 15. The complainant said that the annoying calls had been going on for about three months.

Woman Arrested

Detectives looked into the matter and Mrs. Gasper was arrested June 16. District Attorney Nick Schaefer issued a court summons for June 24. When Mrs. Gasper failed to appear, a bench warrant was issued and she was apprehended July 2 and detained in Outagamie County jail until Tuesday's trial.

Police Detective Robert Frailing said today that telephone company officials, through the use of a mechanical device, were able to determine the origin of the call beyond a doubt.

Frailing pointed out that

City Gets Petitions Opposing Segments of Avenue Plan

Appleton Council to Consider Objections to Projected Curbs

Petitions and letters opposing other designs would hinder the College Avenue reconstruction project as now proposed. He said it would interfere with the use of the avenue by office this morning and will be fire trucks and trucking equipment received by the Appleton Council meeting tonight.

The petitions were signed by Attorney Samuel Sigman said 89 signers representing 121 as attorney and spokesman for individual business properties on the owners and merchants who signed the petitions, he was those who submitted the documents, requesting early action by the council.

Previously, the central business plan for College Avenue as proposed by a St. Louis, Mo. firm had been approved by the council and the working drawings are being prepared by the city engineering office.

Oppose Curb Projections

The petitioners said they were opposed to a special design for the avenue, such as the proposed curb projections, which they claimed would serve no useful purpose. They are also suggesting reducing the width of sidewalks to approximately 12 feet and widening traffic and parking area to keep angle parking.

The council has already gone on record that when College Avenue is reconstructed, angle parking will be removed.

Sigman contended that proposed projected curbs and

Appleton Unit Okays Request From Area In Town of Menasha

Sanitary district No. 2 in the Town of Menasha has requested an extension of its sewer contract with the City of Appleton.

The board of public works, meeting Tuesday at the city hall, recommended approval.

The Menasha district gets sewage treatment services from the city on a monthly rate charge basis.

F. J. Muller, clerk of district No. 2, asked for a 30-day extension of its sewer contract.

It was noted the town is constructing its own facilities and the project has been hampered due to strikes at the firms which are supplying "no motors and a pump."

In other action, the board rejected all bids and decided to ask for new quotations on an estimated 4,000 feet of fence to be installed around the new municipal garage.

Instructed the fire department to get its aerial truck painted at the lowest price possible. It rejected the $6,600 bid of a Milwaukee firm.

Vacationers' Cruiser Hits Rocks In Fox River, 2 in Family Injured

The vacation of two families was somewhat dampened Tuesday night when the 23-foot express cruiser they were riding in struck some rocks in the Fox River and rapidly filled with water.

The James Wangemann family, Sheboygan, and Arthur Scharer family, Mount Morris, Mich., were returning from a cruise up the Fox River about 8 p.m. when the boat hit some rocks in the river directly below Alicia Park, about 400 yards south of the Appleton Yacht Club.

The rocks, which tore a two-foot long hole in the bottom, were about three or four inches below the surface of the water.

When the boat hit the rocks, Mrs. Scharer, her son Brad, 10, and daughter, Dawn, 16, were thrown into the cabin. The girl suffered a cut lip and several teeth were knocked loose. Mrs. Scharer suffered a sore lip.

Fox Cities Boards Favor District Boundaries for Area Vocational School

Oppose County Line Concept Proposed by State Officials

A resolution to reaffirm the original resolution to form an area vocational school on the basis of school districts rather than county lines, was passed by representatives of the four Fox Cities vocational schools at a joint meeting Tuesday at Kimberly High School.

The board also decided to request a hearing by the educational committee of the Legislative Council as soon as possible.

The decision was made after more than two hours of discussing a resolution which would have included Outagamie County, the school districts of Neenah and Menasha and parts of Waupaca and Calumet counties in the proposed district.

Not Omitted
To date, resolutions to join an area vocational school in the Fox Cities have been adopted by Neenah, Menasha, Kimberly, Appleton, Stockbridge, Hortonville, Shiocton and Wrightstown.

It was indicated that in spite of the fact that the new resolution does not include the four latter school districts, they are not omitted from the Fox Cities area plan.

"This is merely action by the nucleus group to indicate our feelings to the state Board of Vocational and Adult Education and the Coordinating Committee of Higher Education (CCHHE)," one member said.

Representation on the area vocational school board was waiting to turn left and a car driven by Carla E. Vaughn, 19, Wittenberg, struck the rear of the Mellenthin vehicle.

Both autos were headed north on U.S. 45. Sarah Breitreiter, 50, Neenah, received neck and back injuries and Spencer Breitreiter, 59, injured his left elbow, the report said. Both were passengers in the Mellenthin auto. A third passenger in the car, Evelyn Mellenthin, 63, also of Neenah, was uninjured.

Mrs. Clarence Stai, 51, Wittenberg received a bruise on the forehead, and Brian Dobbe, 8, Milwaukee, had a bruised knee. They were riding in the Vaughn car. Laura Lee Stai, 14, Mark Vaughn, 3, Boyd Vaughn, 2, and Greg Dobbe, 4, escaped injury. The children were passengers in the Vaughn auto.

The criteria, as recommended by a three-man committee composed of a member of CCHHE, state board and legislature, was recently modified to better serve areas that could not meet the standards.

The criteria calls for 16 general courses twice a week and seven courses once a week. The Fox Cities program has 25 courses twice a week (Appleton only) and the area is capable of having from 25 to 30 courses twice a week, according to statistics prepared by Carl Bertram, AVS director.

Full-Time Students
About 780 full-time students are required by the state: Fox Cities have a total of 400 presently and are capable of handling 1,500. About 3,000 high school graduates are required by the state: Fox Cities have 2,890 and are capable of handling 5,666.

Population required is 187,500; Fox Cities have 137,650 and the area capability is 262,089. Part-time students should number 1,500.

Youngsters Make Requests
KAUKAUNA — Council members Tuesday night were faced with a petition from their counterparts at Glenview Park. Elections were held at various playgrounds in the city last week, youngsters being named mayor, aldermen, health officer and to all other city officers.

Tuesday about 25 youngsters from Glenview Park, wearing their badges of office, appeared before the council to ask for lavatories at the Park.

Dave Helf, Glenview mayor, explained why the petition was drawn. Fourth Ward Ald. Richard Helf, tried to interrupt his son, but was rapped down by being out of order by Kaukauna Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon.

Cindy Theriault, Glenview alderman who campaigned on the issue, explained how youngsters living four or five blocks from the park often were taken to homes nearer the park by friends playing in the area. She termed this a nuisance for parents.

To add weight to the children's petition, about 50 parents of the area signed a separate petition on the same question. Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon said there was always room for children to present their views before the council and he appreciated their concern. The matter was referred to the health and recreation committee for study and recommendation — the Kaukauna Council local physician's clinic. The health and recreation committee driver of the auto was issued a citation for failing to yield right of way.

Outagamie Industrial Unit Says 3 Firms Indicate Tentative Projects Would Employ 600 Men

Industrial development projects that could create between 600 and 700 new jobs within the Appleton area were discussed late Tuesday afternoon at the organization meeting of a newly-formed Outagamie County Industrial Development Corp.

During the meeting, held in a conference room of the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce building, the quasi-public corporation also elected Walter Rugland, Aid Association for Lutherans president, its first president.

Other offices named were Delmar F. Drumm, manager of the Chamber, executive vice president; County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, vice chairman; County Executive Secretary Alvin Woehler, secretary, and County Board Vice Chairman Marvin Babbitt, Seymour, treasurer.

2 Possible Expansions
The new corporation's directors discussed three prospects that could result in between 600 and 700 new jobs within the county. Two of the prospects would be industrial expansions and the third would be an entirely new industry. The three projects would have a new construction value in excess of $16 million.

The corporation, or industrial development agency of the county, was approved by a 44 to 1 county board vote on May 10. Its principal purpose is low-cost financing for industrial expansion within the county.

The agency acts as an intermediary between a lending agency and an existing business seeking expansion funds, or for a new industry considering locating within Outagamie County. Since it technically is a government agency, the corporation can obtain financing at municipal borrowing rates (which presently are in the 4 per cent interest area) and then re-loan the money to an industry at the same rate.

Borrowing Rate
Currently, the prime borrowing rate for industries which borrow directly from lending agencies is 5½ per cent. Several banks throughout the country, including banks in Chicago and Milwaukee, recently raised their "prime rate" to a 5¼ per cent. Under terms of its charter, the county does not assume

UW Center at Green Bay Asks For More Space

GREEN BAY — Although a new branch of the University of Wisconsin is now being planned for Green Bay — to open in 1969 or 1970 — the local university center can't wait that long.

Officials at the local school have requested the Brown County Board of Supervisors to provide four additional classrooms for the expected increased enrollment this fall. The county passed on the request to the Green Bay Council Tuesday which will have its finance committee look into the matter.

The center, opened several years ago, has a capacity of about 850. This past year nearly 1,000 freshmen and sophomores were enrolled. This fall more than 1,200 are expected — and generally the projections have been conservative.

Need Classrooms
Center officials say they have used all the space available and have re-scheduled some classes to accommodate the students, but that for the coming year it's simply a matter of needing more classrooms.

In the crowded conditions, expansion of needed office space for instructors and administrators has been postponed. Another result of the crowdedness is that the lounge-cafeteria has been turned into strictly a cafeteria, with the "rest and study" area filled with tables.

Cyclist Injured When Hit by Car

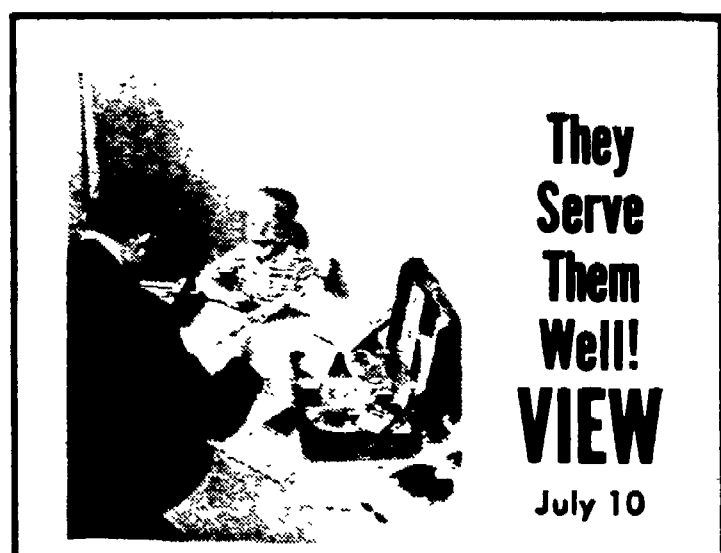

KIMBERLY — Mark Van Cuyk, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Van Cuyk, 451 S. Joseph St., Kimberly, suffered cuts and abrasions of the face and hands when he was riding his bicycle and was involved in a collision with a car about 10:30 a.m. Tuesday.

According to police, Van Cuyk was riding east on Maes Avenue when a car being driven by Cornelius Evers, 65, 400 S. Wilson St., Little Chute, attempted to make a left turn onto N. Sidney Street and struck the cyclist, dragging him about 10 feet.

The youth was treated at a local physician's clinic. The driver of the auto was issued a citation for failing to yield right of way.

'Black Power' Certain to Have Profound Effect

Indefinable Slogan Initiated During Mississippi March

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Black power." It defies definition. But its impact on the civil rights movement and on American society promises to be profound.

The slogan came crashing into the lexicon during the civil rights march through Mississippi. "Say black power!" Supporters of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee shouted to rural Negroes. "Black power!" They shouted back.

What had been an idea in the mind of Stokely Carmichael, the new chairman of SNCC, had bloomed into a battle cry.

It was evident at once that part of the civil rights movement was undergoing change. John Lewis, who was ousted as chairman of SNCC by Carmichael in May, found himself out of step. He dropped out of the organization, saying he disagreed with its slogan. "I'm not prepared to give up my personal commitment to nonviolence," he said.

Dominant Philosophy
But the Congress of Racial Equality fell into line. It concluded its convention in Baltimore Sunday by adopting "black power" as the dominant philosophy of the movement.

"CORE will not initiate—and I emphasize that—any form of violence," said Lincoln Lynch, association national director, "but when one is attacked he should defend himself."

"Nonviolence is another move to dehumanize the Negro man—to take away his last remaining right," Lynch said.

As if overnight, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, seemed middle-aged. The question now is whether the civil rights banner has been wrested from them by the younger and more militant.

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, stood fast against the tide. He told newsmen in Los Angeles, where the NAACP is holding its 57th annual convention: "The trouble with 'black power' is it implies 'anti-white' and we can't have anything to do with it. We are loath to talk about it."

Wilkins then went before the convention's 2,000 delegates to slash "black power" as "the father of hatred and the mother of violence."

"We of the NAACP will have none of this," he declared. "It shall not now poison our forward march."

Dr. Martin Luther King, who as director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference had made nonviolence the byword of the civil rights movement, said "I have not lost faith in nonviolence." And he said he will not use the term "black power" in directing his organization.

King Undecided

But so far as King is concerned, the jury is still out on what the slogan actually means. "Black power has not been clearly defined, it's still ambiguous," he said in New York Tuesday.

If, it turns out, "black power" simply means using the ballot to exert greater political influence, only diehard opponents of Negro rights are likely to take offense. And, if it means whites in leadership positions within the civil rights movement are to be dislodged by Negroes, "black power" essentially denotes an internal struggle.

But there is more than just a hint that "black power" means a good deal more.

Lemonade Puts Out Firecracker Fire

ROACHDALE, Ind. (AP) — Authorities say a firecracker apparently was responsible for a fire which destroyed three tents and caused an estimated $3,500 damage during a Lions Club fish fry in downtown Roachdale.

Since it was the handiest liquid available, firemen used buckets of lemonade to extinguish the blaze.

Long Arm of Green Bay's Law Has Twice as Far to Stretch

By William C. Carey
Packertown Staff Writer

GREEN BAY — Since 1964 the local arm of the law has reached out from 31 to 42 square miles — doubling its enforcement scope within a two-year period.

The reason is obvious — Green Bay had a major consolidation with Preble.

over the huge area which had to the pre-consolidation police been Preble.

City police now patrol 83 miles of road compared to 206 miles before the big merger, and half from the farthest side of the city.

There are now 46 schools and 36 Green Bay. We have run into a few instances in which the consolidation and expansion of the city has made it difficult to find consolidation and expansion of the city.

Unusual Calls

Madson said his department could use 20 more men and five more equipment. Replacing the additional squad cars to return them to their original use was a problem.

On the surface — Green Bay the Deckner Avenue station, appears to be one big, enthusiastic city.

"The city picked up several of the former volunteer fighters who are now receiving much better pay, training and overall experience," commented Assistant Chief Lester Brammer.

In fact, the town's former chief is now an engineer with the city fire department and doing much better salary-wise.

Packers Help

He said there have been no serious problems posed by the Packers since they moved into the city. If anything, the full-time fire protection may make the city more insurable.

Autopsy Results In Brillion Girl's Death Not Known

GREEN BAY — Results of the autopsy performed on Kay Marie Krueger, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Krueger, 136 Schley St., Brillion, will not be known for several days, authorities at St. Vincent Hospital said today.

Funeral services for the girl who died early Wednesday enroute to the hospital, will be 2 p.m. Friday at Trinity Lutheran Church in Brillion. Burial will be in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Wieting Funeral Home in Brillion after 2 p.m. today.

She is survived by her parents, maternal grandmother, paternal grandparents and a sister at home.

The girl was pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital Wednesday. She was taken to a Brillion physician's office after she had stopped breathing. Efforts by a rescue squad unit failed to revive her.

dated with Preble's rapid growth.

It has resulted in a major metropolitan city, more and expanded services to the general public, along with helping to beef up the industrial base and rejuvenate downtown.

The Green Bay-Preble consolidation, while not a bed of roses for everyone, appears to have given this region a new vitality and progressive spirit.

New Headaches

Many city departments have headaches they never had before, but the area formerly known as Preble didn't have the wealth of know-how and equipment to call on for services, either.

While city police are enforcing the laws in a much larger region, fire-fighting services have been extended, along with public works activities and — probably most important — the professional planners are hard at work molding a still brighter future.

curse that Preble was a nice town in which to live and raise a family. The town board and its employees were capable people who took pride in their community, and residents say municipal services were good.

However, the town kept bumping into two obstacles — lack of industries wanting to locate there because of limitations and the fact it was just growing too big for its own good.

Taken in Stride

While there are those who expected more much sooner — for the most part the residents of the town once called Preble have taken things in stride.

Until Jan. 1, 1965, the 15,000 persons in the 19 square mile area had but one police officer with another county policeman on call.

Since then, according to Green Bay Police Chief Elmer Madson, 16 men have been added to the police department, raising its strength to 124. This averages out to 142 police per 1,000 population.

Madson, a former FBI agent who went to Green Bay after leaving the bureau about 12 years ago, was asked what he thought of the men posted while patrolling the new addition.

"So far the reaction has been excellent," Madson said. "And it might be interesting to note that Green Bay's crime rate has dropped since it took in Preble."

However, the city's auto accident rate is up but that's a general thing with traffic constantly hitting new peaks.

Getting Bigger

Madson said residents of what was formerly the town have been most cooperative. Adding that since the consolidation there has been growing mutual appreciation that Green Bay has received a big city and is getting bigger.

The consolidation presented no operating problem for the department, Madson explained, because patrol cars can easily be dispatched to the call area or scene of an accident.

"Some of the area is unfamiliar to the men yet," Madson said, and he explained it was a bit hectic keeping up with the new streets and new names

15 warehouses and an open stor- age area. In the past last week 45 Navy planes dropped 15 tons of bombs and 100,000 gallons of napalm on the depot and re- naissance plots the next day re- ported tremendous destruction.

Of 100 planes also were among the American raiders' targets Wednesday. They attacked one storage area 35 miles north of Hanoi, a fuel tank plant 30 miles north of the capital, and an oil storage area 31 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Missile Site

They also struck at a missile site 55 miles northwest of Hanoi as well as at bridges, roads, trucks and rail lines.

One of the planes lost Wednesday was an F4E, a late-model, two-seat version of the single-seat F4B Thunderchief. It was the first F4E lost in the Viet Nam war. A spokesman said it was on a "patrol mission" for a flight of Thunderchiefs but he would not elaborate.

The other plane lost Wednesday was an RF101 Voodoo reconnaissance plane last heard from 40 miles northeast of Hanoi. Pilots in the area reported heavy antiaircraft fire and saw a fireball that could have been the Voodoo.

These two losses plus the Sky hawk shot down over Haiphong today brought the total of U.S. planes reported lost over North Viet Nam to 231.

113 Missions

The 113 multiplane missions flown Wednesday were the highest number for any single day since the United States began bombing North Viet Nam in February 1965. But a spokesman said the number of sorties (single-plane flights) was about 250.

The previous high — 106 missions — was recorded the day before, when American jets dropped 16 missiles. That was the highest total reported for any day of the 17-month air war. The U.S. command had announced earlier that 27 to 29 SAMS had been fired, but the command said this figure resulted from duplications in pilots' reports.

The U.S. command said 115 Americans were killed in battle last week, 487 were wounded and four were missing in action or captured.

Total Killed

This brought to 2,281 the number of Americans reported killed by enemy fire since Jan. 1 and to 4,014 the number of U.S. battle dead since the United States became involved in the Vietnamese war on Jan. 1, 1961.

The week before there were 131 Americans killed, 755 wounded and seven missing or captured.

A Vietnamese spokesman said

125 government troops died in battle and 58 were missing last week, compared to the previous week's total of 285 dead and 61 missing. The Vietnamese do not report their wounded.

A total of 1,370 enemy dead were reported, with 114 captured. The week before the reported enemy toll was 1,125 killed and 204 captured.

Australian, Korean and New Zealand troops reported two battle deaths and nine wounded.

Hanoi Radio indicated that North Viet Nam may carry out its repeated threat to try captured U.S. airmen as war criminals. The hint came in a broadcast describing the parading of a group of American fliers through angry throngs in Hanoi Wednesday.

Nekong Delta

The South Vietnamese army announced its third major military success in two days, the destruction of a big Viet Cong medical and arms depot in the Mekong Delta.

The government said 155 Communists were killed in the day-long battle Wednesday. Vietnamese officers at the battle scene 80 miles south of Saigon said another 100 of the enemy may have been killed by air and artillery fire as they pulled back into the mangrove swamps and rice lands Wednesday night.

Ten guerrillas were captured. With the militant Buddhists back under control, the government has stepped up its operations in the delta ricefields where most of South Viet Nam's major crop grows. The military regime appears anxious to show its prowess with a major success in the south, where there are no big U.S. troop concentrations.

LBJ Reviews War With McNamara

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson has reviewed current military operations in Viet Nam with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, an overnight guest at the President's ranch.

Johnson and McNamara got together in advance of day-long talks the secretary will have Friday in Honolulu with Adm. U. S. Grant Sharpe, commander of all American forces in the Pacific and Southeast Asia.

The defense chief flew to the LBJ Ranch, some 60 miles north of here, shortly after three other Viet Nam experts ended a four-hour visit to the Johnson home and flew to Los Angeles to brief the National Governors Conference.

The earlier visitors were roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, Lt. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpastor, secretary to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Walt W. Rostow, Johnson's special presidential assistant for national security affairs.

Johnson has said McNamara and Sharpe will discuss military operations and logistical plans in connection with the Viet Nam war.

War Criminal Trials May be Held for Airmen

TOKYO (AP) — Hanoi Radio indicated today that American airmen captured by the North Vietnamese may be put on trial as war criminals.

Describing the parading of a group of the American prisoners through the crowded streets of Hanoi Wednesday, the North Vietnamese broadcast said the people of Hanoi "knew that the government would represent them all to try and punish the pirates in proportion to their crimes."

The broadcast said the Americans were handcuffed in pairs and marched under armed escort. It said the crowds of Hanoi residents constituted "a form of street tribunal to try the peace-disturber, child-killers."

The number of fliers paraded through the streets was not given, but the broadcast said they included:

- 1st Lt. Robinson Risner, 41, captured last Sept. 16, U. S. Navy Cmdr. James Bond Stockdale, 40, captured Sept. 9, Capt. R. D. Daz Berg, captured last July 27, Lt. J. G. Gerald Leonard Coffee, captured Feb. 3, 1965, 1st Evertt Alvarez Jr., San Jose, Calif., captured Aug. 3, 1964, and Lt. Cmdr. Robert Shumaker, 30, New Wilmington, Pa., captured Feb. 11, 1965.

Hanoi said the pilots were "dressed in their war criminals' olive khaki pajamas, wearing Thai rubber sandals. They walked slowly, dragging their heads in the face of the marching fliers and the formidable screams of a human sea."

The broadcast said those paraded were only a small part of the number of air pirates captured in North Viet Nam whose crimes are engraved in the heart of every Vietnamese.

A Pentagon spokesman in Washington said records there showed there are 37 U.S. prisoners in North Viet Nam, including 21 from the Air Force, 14 Army men and 2 Marines. Although the Hanoi broadcast listed three naval officers, the Pentagon spokesman said its records showed no Navy prisoners.

North Viet Nam has repeatedly threatened to try captured American airmen as war criminals but has never reported any actual trials.

When you talk about power in this country, you talk about being able to live within the political spectrum. I don't see why that concept would be any different from anybody else wielding their political power.

Q: You are talking also not only in terms of political power, but what's implied in this is the whole scope of power or strength whether it's economic or political or otherwise?

A: Yes. That's correct. When you talk about black people in this country, you talk about propertyless people. I mean, as a whole we don't have any property. We're still waiting for our 40 acres and a mule. The only power now left to us that we can win from is political power. And maybe using that as a stepping stone, we can get to economic power, which is really the crucial problem.

Q: So, when you boil it down, really what you're talking about is political power?

A: That's correct.

Political Power

Q: Do you feel the black power approach will split the civil rights movement?

A: Well, it might. I don't know. But I think what the civil rights movement has to do is to not act as a buffer zone between the black community and the white community, but to express the feeling of the black community in the tone of the black community. That's what we in SNCC are going to do.

Better Things

Now, this is all we want. We want better roads. We want better jobs. We want better things. You can continue to bomb the hell out of Viet Nam as far as we're concerned. But this is what we want.

Q: Does the black power concept exclude the approach of nonviolence?

A: It seems to me that that's totally irrelevant to what we're talking about. I'm not talking about making black people non-violent or making them violent. I'm talking about organizing black people to get decent houses, to get decent jobs, to get decent things and the tactics will depend upon the resistance what was built up against those things.

A: Nonviolence and black power—how do they go together?

A: I still don't see in my own mind what the hangup is about it.

Not Violence

Q: Does black power imply the use of violence?

A: Not in my connotation of it. I don't see why it should.

Magistrate's Study Unneeded In Traffic Cases

MADISON (AP) — Traffic charges do not have to be reviewed by a magistrate before the cases go to court, Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette said Wednesday.

The attorney general said a traffic citation amounts to a summons to appear in court and the voluntary appearance of a motorist is sufficient to give the court jurisdiction in the case.

He handed down the official opinion at the request of State Motor Vehicle Commissioner James L. Karns after a historic Wisconsin Supreme Court decision that arrest warrants must be issued by independent magistrates and not by district attorneys.

La Follette said if the motorist failed to appear in court the district attorney could issue a summons. But, he said, if the motorist ignored the summons, any warrant for his arrest would have to be obtained through a magistrate.

government is under heavy criticism for supporting the United States in Viet Nam at all.

Rusk defended the bombing of the Hanoi and Haiphong fuel depots and said the United States has no interest in bombing civilian populations there. He scoffed at critics who said the air attacks on the doorstep of North Viet Nam's two cities added an obstacle to a negotiated peace in Viet Nam.

Midwestern Governors Ask Contracts

Section Doesn't Get Share of Defense Money, Officials Say

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Governors of Midwestern states agreed Wednesday on a joint effort to win more federal defense contracts.

"We're discriminated against in the Midwest," Ohio Gov. James Rhodes told a news conference.

Rhodes released a report by the Midwest Resources Association which said:

"The simple truth is that the Midwest has not shared proportionately in the programs of the federal government as they relate to research and development, military contracts, defense installations and procurement."

'At Cross Roads'

The Midwest, the association said, "stands at a cross roads, facing a dilemma, the solution of which is of unprecedented importance to the area and its citizens—and indeed the entire nation."

Rhodes met with newsmen after a lunch with the governors of Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Rhodes said that governors agreed to make joint appeals to Washington in disputes over such issues as welfare and government contracts.

"Instead of one of us going to the federal government with a problem or two, we'll go as a united front," he said.

Rhodes made it clear that a big problem was federal defense contracts. He cited the Research Association report which said that in 1963 the Midwest received only 18.9 per cent of the contracts, compared to 35.5 per cent in 1952.

Farm Girl Slain 1906 Murder Inspired 'An American Tragedy'

By HERBERT G. PELKEY
BIG MOOSE, N.Y. (AP) — knowledge of the events was gained second hand. Sixty years ago next Monday on July 11, 1906, Grace Brown, a 20-year-old farm girl then 20 and four months pregnant, met death in Big Moose Lake in the Adirondacks, still alive, and Roy C. Higby, a hundred miles north-west of Albany. The finding of her body the following day touched off one of the most celebrated murder cases in American history, forming the basis for Theodore Dreiser's literary classic, "An American Tragedy." Chester E. Gillette, 23, an ordinary murderer, was later executed and has long since vanished into an unmarked grave in Auburn, near the state prison. But the years only add to the legend and folklore. It now includes two books, two motion pictures, two plays, a television program, magazine articles, student theses, a folk song and the uncounted personal memories of those of a generation whose days and nights were marked by the case. The case is still a popular topic among residents of the area, although most of the voices are those of a generation whose only days and nights were marked by the case.

if they had boats. Jim said they did. "Gillette said 'any damn old place will do,'" Denio related. "The next noon they found the boat, and her coat and his hat with the lining torn out, on the south bay in Big Moose," he said. "They arrested him over at the old Arrowhead Inn, not the present one," Denio said. "He was there three nights before they caught him and I had to go over and identify him." In his office on the shore of Big Moose Lake, Roy Higby applied a match to his pipe one day recently, leaned back and told his story.

Higby was 13 at the time and working at the Glenmore for his uncle, Dwight B. Sperry, who owned the hotel. "On July 11, 1906, a young man and an attractive young lady came to the Glenmore on the backboard, arriving about the Tabor House there as noon, and registered as 'Carl' (Charles George, N.Y.). He apparently had decided on a course of action. "The couple had lunch at the hotel and shortly rented a boat," he said. "Graham, as he was then known to us, took with him his suitcase, tennis racket, top coat and umbrella. The woman left her bag and jacket in the hotel and went to the Glenmore. "This was the last seen of them together." The boat was found the next day floating up the south shore of Big South Bay, a straw hat floating nearby. At first it was believed both stood by the station looking at a little map," said Denio. "Jim had drowned, Higby recalled. A search was organized "but my asked them if they were going mother told me not to go out to the hotel and Gillette said he with the men to drag for the bodies but to remain on the steamer with the engineer. "Then he asked if the Glenmore was close to the lake and Frank Crabbe."

Waste in the Poverty Program

It is a 90-mile trip from Rhineland to the Job Corps camp at Clam Lake in Northwestern Wisconsin but it took a Job Corps enrollee two days to make the trip last February following an itinerary which the camp director described as a "bit outlandish."

The Rhineland enrollee was put aboard an airplane for a trip to Duluth, where he changed planes to fly to Minneapolis. There he was housed for the night at the YMCA and given meal tickets to eat for three days. The next afternoon he boarded a plane for Clam Lake where he was housed in a barracks. The Clam Lake camp director paid for the trip for a 145-mile airplane trip and for 160 miles bus to get the enrollee to the camp 90 miles from home.

This travelogue may rank as no picking when placed within the framework of spending in federal bureaucracy but it is just one case in a 70-page report of the Republican minority of the House Committee on Education and Labor. The Democratic committee majority has endorsed the administration request for $17 million for the next fiscal year for the anti-poverty program.

The minority report is filled with examples of bungling which should not be overlooked even if allowance is made for the fact the anti-poverty program is in its infancy and may have been organized on a crash basis.

The minority report complains of rental of a $250,000 hotel in Charleston, W. Va. from a local Democratic politician for $94,600 a year plus utilities and taxes and the spending of $225,000 for renovation to turn it into a women's Job Corps center. There are instances of poor screening of Job Corps candidates, missing federal money, different standards for participation of the poor in anti-poverty administration in different cities, and Neighborhood Youth Corps and Head Start enrollees from families with incomes above the specified poverty level.

Romania Is Still Neutral

The political upheavals that are continuing in power bids in Communist China plus a series of failures of the Chinese to influence governments from Ghana to Cuba must have prompted Chou En-lai to take the gamble that Romania was a ripe target for Chinese persuasion.

Romania has been increasingly independent of Soviet controls as far as trade and other economic policies are concerned. Speeches by top Romanian leaders have emphasized that independence although the leaders have also insisted that they have been misinterpreted and that Russia is Romania's dear old friend. In the split between Russia and China, Romania has claimed to be neutral and has attempted to stay on good terms with both countries.

But Chou En-lai, in his visit to Bucharest, must have tried to get Premier Nicolae Ceausescu to swing completely over to the side of the Chinese. This is in line with the Chinese view that the loyalty of other Communist countries must be absolute. So far the only adherent to the Chinese side of the division is Albania. Even Ho Chi Minh knows where most of his military assistance is coming from and it's not Peking.

There was wide speculation that the Movies for Communists

A novel by Hans Helmut Kirst, The Night of the Generals, is being made into a movie by an American film company. Unfortunately a rather important part of the original story has been changed in the movie and for a rather disturbing reason.

The plot concerns a schizophrenic Nazi officer who murders prostitutes, somewhat like the 19th Century British Jack-the-Ripper. After World War II he becomes a general in the Communist East German army and eventually commits suicide in East Germany when a dozed police officer exposes his double life.

But for some reason the film company wanted to film the movie in Poland. So the story was changed. The Nazi general becomes a partisan leader in West Germany, supported by right-wing industrialists and his suicide takes place in Hamburg. A production spokesman explained that from the Polish viewpoint to have the last chapters take place in East Germany would have offended a sister Communist country." Presumably the company could risk offending West Germany and the industrialists who are turning out the weapons of war to deter any Communist aggression in Europe.

The spokesman also commented that "the problem of right-wing industrialists in West Germany seeking political power—touched on in Kirst's novel—actually has become more of a problem today than five years ago when Kirst wrote the book." Nevertheless the change, merely to be able to make the movie in Communist Poland, certainly is a compromise of ideals. It's a little like making Jefferson Davis a Canadian for movies filmed in the South or blaming the Bataan Death March on the North Vietnamese in today's new churning up of sides.

Can anyone imagine the outcry from Hollywood if the original story involved the industrialists and the scene was moved to East Germany so not to offend the West Germans?

Looking Backward

Germanic States Go to War

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for June 30 and July 14, 1966.

The war in Europe has begun again. Prussia has declared war and has sent her troops into Saxony and Hanover. Austria is moving to frustrate the movement of Prussia.

Prince Charles, of Bavaria is to command the federal army. Prussia has issued a manifesto justifying the invasion of Saxony on the plea of self preservation.

A Berlin dispatch of the 29th says the Austrians were defeated by the first army corps on the 29th near Nuremberg and on the 30th at Trierstadt by the corps of Life Guards and at Munchenstadt by Prince Frederick Charles. The Prussians claim to have captured about 8,000 prisoners, numerous trophies, guns, etc.

There was great rejoicing in Berlin. The inhabitants presented an address to and serenaded the King. The Crown Prince of Prussia reports that in his engagements he had 22 battalions opposing 28 battalions of the Austrians.

The Hanoverian Army on the 29th surrendered with quarter to the Prussians. The officers retained their side arms and the men were dismissed to their homes.

The whole federal army was on the march near Frankfurt and further battle was anticipated.

Finding examples of bureaucratic mismanagement and waste may be something of a parlor game in the United States, but the question is whether the Office of Economic Opportunity is not beyond rescue despite its laudable mission of training the poor to qualify to win places in the nation's general economic prosperity. The Republican minority report has called for a sweeping reorganization and offers as a substitute, mainly for administration, an "Opportunity Crusade."

This program with a request for state and local financial participation, would provide $24 million in programs, $15 million of it in federal appropriations.

The suggested reorganization would move the Job Corps and the Neighborhood Youth Corp under the jurisdiction of the Department of Labor. There would be an increased emphasis on vocational training, with two-thirds of the wages of Neighborhood Youth Corp enrollees paid by an employer for whom they were being trained.

Head Start and adult education programs would be moved to the federal Office of Education to tie them in with existing educational programs, and the minority report estimates this could double the amount of funds available for Head Start.

The Office of Economic Opportunity would keep the difficult community action programs and "the criteria would prevent the divisive conflict that has marked community action in the past by allowing total involvement of all individuals and groups in meaningful communication to plan and implement programs."

The Democratic majorities in Congress mean that the reorganization idea will be swept aside when the appropriation request is voted on. But the minority report is deserving of close examination for the ideas it offers for improving the administration of the anti-poverty program and keeping waste at a minimum when appropriation requests are made in the years ahead.

Romanians might issue a statement indicating close ties with the Chinese in another stage in the confusing political intrigues of Eastern Europe that have not been dissipated even with Communist rule. Such adherence might have gained a few more concessions from the Soviet Union, it was argued.

But the Chinese terms must have been too tough. Chou and Premier Ceausescu were supposed to appear at a huge friendship rally and issue pledges of enduring loyalty. Instead they were two hours late and merely spoke about how nice everybody was. Chou left Romania in what was very close to a huff and the Albanian premier, a mouthpiece for Communist China in Europe, issued a pointed statement that "there are some who contend that they are neutral in the struggle between true Marxism-Leninism and modern revisionism. However, in this struggle neutrality favors only the revisionists."

Romania may not in the future be able to maintain friendly relations with both Russia and China. But probably for a while the Chinese will keep on hoping. In the meantime so will the West where Romania has some major trade agreements.

Communist country." Presumably the company could risk offending West Germany and the industrialists who are turning out the weapons of war to deter any Communist aggression in Europe.

'I hope Mr. Johnson realizes that this is very damaging to him, politically.'

Cow Was Replaced

Clipped Lawns of the White House Started Fad That Is Regular Chore

WASHINGTON — The winter months now bring the only respite in the never-ending battle between suburbanites and grass. But it was not always so.

A century ago, neat green lawns were not considered a household necessity, and most people could hardly care less about how the yard looked. Lawn mowers were unknown. Almost no one had time to trim his lawn with a scythe or hand sickle. The usual grass cutter was the family cow, valued more for her milk than her ability to keep grass cropped.

Abraham Lincoln was a cow-keeping suburbanite when he lived on the outskirts of Springfield, Ill., the National Geographic Society says. Lincoln let his lawn take care of itself; like most householders he did not bother to plant trees or shrubs to dress up the appearance of his frame house.

Lawn Mower Invented
During Lincoln's lifetime, however, the first fatal step was taken toward modern suburbia: The lawn mower was invented. The early models were awkward monsters that failed to catch on, but a young mechanic named Elwood W. McGuire of Richmond, Indiana, changed all that.

Young McGuire had tried to develop machinery that would trim grass efficiently. In 1870, a Quaker neighbor told him about a newly invented mower that would cut much faster than the crude machines then available, but it weighed so much that only a big man could push it.

McGuire redesigned the new device and made it easier to push. Soon his factory was producing the first practical mowers. The lawnmower factory's own source of power was conventional. It was a horse on a treadmill.

Before President Grant left office, the White House lawns were being trimmed by the new mowers. Visitors to Washington gaped as whirling machines clipped the greensward at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue as smooth as a carpet. People went back home with stories of the new-fangled wonder. Soon hardware stores were getting calls for mowers.

Untidy Lawns Deplored
It didn't take long for the well-kept lawn to become a mark of middle-class respectability. People began sniffing at neighbors who failed to keep their lawns trimmed. As the day of the handyman ended and husbands discovered that pushing a mower was a backbreaking summer-long chore, it was too late.

The backbreaking part of the problem was solved about 1940 when small gasoline engines were bolted to lawn-mowers. The noise was deafening, but the contraption had only to be steered. Sales soared from 42,000 power mowers in 1940 to about four million in 1960.

See Fancier Gadgets
The sit-down mower for householders is now rising fast in popularity, dealers report. There are hints of even fancier gadgets to come.

Highway officials are experimenting with a remote-control device to cut grass along the turnpikes. One electrically propelled robot is guided by a 200-foot-long control cable. A man can steer it while sitting comfortably in the cab of the parent truck that hauls the mower about the countryside.

The nine-foot-mower drives itself down a ramp off the truck, climbs the slope to be cut, and sets about its task. Then the vehicle climbs back onto the truck all by itself.

State Government Is Intensively Covered By Wisconsin Press

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Occasional disputes between reporters and officials on the statehouse "beat" may create the impression that there are unreasonable or unusual barriers to the dissemination of news about state affairs in Wisconsin.

It is fair and timely to report that such an impression is erroneous, and that the probability is that news gathering and distribution about state government and its operations in this state is as efficient and managed with as little interference from the bureaucracy as in any relevant situation in the country.

The private citizen may not always be aware, moreover, that there is more investment of time, money and talent in the business of "covering" state affairs than there is in many other state capitals, and especially in some of those of other states of this section of the country with which this reporter has had some contact over his own working lifetime.

All of this is not to say that there are not occasional irritants and grievances, or an occasionally stubborn or thoughtless officeholder who confounds his own convenience and prejudice with the public interest. It is not to say that a comparatively placid public affairs reporting system developed accidentally.

ON THE WHOLE

There are a few officeholders who view their jobs as proprietorships, rather than as offices held through the will of the people. There are some civil servants who dislike and distrust the calls of reporters, but mostly because of a lack of sophistication and an infrequency in dealing with such men they tend to regard as intruders. For the most part, the responsible leadership class in state affairs has been responsive to the principle of full public information about public matters, even without the literal compulsion of the anti-secrecy act adopted a couple of years ago which is probably a model for the country in its comprehensive application.

When problems arise, they come most frequently through the lack of understanding of part-time officers of the government, including those unpaid counsellors drawn from the ranks of private business and industry where there is a wholly different concept of public information rights that has no relation to the operation of public agencies. They arise sometimes also when new men come into public office without sufficient previous exposure to the methods and practices of governmental administration in a state such as Wisconsin with its spewful democratic traditions. Candor compels the admission also that they can sometimes result from excessively zealous or contentious reporters who occasionally find it difficult to draw the line between their jobs and theatrical posturing.

PENALTIES

Over many years of daily work in the state capitol, this reporter has learned to know many of its ranking officers well.

Some of them have been gun shy, in press relations terms, they have from time to time acknowledged, because of the inadequacy of some reporters' training and their occasional carelessness in relating the policies and acts of public agencies. The news "lead," as every professional in journalism is aware but officialdom doesn't always know, reflects the choice and the taste and competence of the reporter on the scene. He may not always agree with the official. He may be wrong, and sometimes is, as any official can ascertain by reading a variety of news accounts on the same public development. Once a prominent political functionary confided to me that I was welcome at his meetings, but he didn't want another man around because of his overt hostility in news treatment.

These are ingredients of the problem, but they do not justify a wall between the official and his constituency. There is no more assurance in a democratic society of letter perfect and objective reporting than there is of high efficiency and integrity in every public place.

Keith Van Vuren of Seymour to Oppose Rogers in 2nd District

Keith Van Vuren, Seymour, declared his candidacy today for the 2nd District State Assembly seat from Outagamie County. Van Vuren, a Republican, will oppose Democratic incumbent William Rogers, Kaukauna, in the fall election. The candidate is presently serving on the Legislative Council Interim Study Committee on Vocational Education. He has been on the committee since last fall.

Van Vuren was the publisher of the Seymour Black Creek Community Press for 20 years before selling the newspaper last fall.

"I've been a Republican all my life," Van Vuren said this morning.

Van Vuren, 46, is a graduate of Seymour High School and Purdue University. He served 4 1/2 years in the U.S. Army during World War II with overseas duty in the Pacific theater.

Van Vuren took out nomination papers today from Outagamie County Clerk Mollie Pfeiffer. He and his wife reside at 740 Fulton St., Seymour. The Van Vurens have three children, two students at Wisconsin State University-Oshkosh, and the youngest is a senior at Seymour High School.

CLINTONVILLE — Funeral services for Henry Meisel, 66, route 2, who died Tuesday morning at the Wood Veterans Hospital will be 2 p.m. Friday at the Eberhardt and Hoh Funeral Home.

Meisel was founder and for 35 years president of the American Metered Postage Society.

Negotiates for Shore Easements in Menominee County

MADISON — Negotiations will be started immediately to secure a public use easement on the shores of the Wolf River in Menominee County under enabling legislation passed by the State Legislature.

A conservation department spokesman said the agency expects the contract with the Indian-owned corporation will be comparatively simple, guaranteeing public access to the river and Mary Slughter, 17, Milton, died when his car overturned Wednesday on Highway 141 south of Crivitz in Marinette County.

Sutherland to Serve Byrnes as District Leader

John Conway, Republican district chairman, announced today that James P. Sutherland of Appleton has been appointed coordinator of the Eighth District Republican Congressional campaign.

Currently a special agent with the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., Sutherland attended Appleton Senior High School. In 1957, he was graduated from Georgetown University, Washington, D.C. He is married and resides at 422 E. Washington St., Appleton.

Sutherland's primary job will be to assist in the formation and operation of volunteer groups throughout the Eighth District to support the reelection of Rep. John W. Byrnes.

Sutherland served as Eighth District Byrnes coordinator in 1964. In 1965 he was appointed as an adviser to the National Republican Congressional Committee.

Polar Bear organization.

Survivors are his widow, a daughter, son, brother, half-sister and half-brother. Friends enacted this year. The three- and Disabled American Vet- may call at the funeral home after noon today.

State officers also will negotiate with a small number of individual owners of land and structures along the river.

The Legislature has authorized the department to pay $150,000 a year to the corporation for the preservation of public access and use rights.

Tributary Streams

The lease arrangements also will cover such tributary streams as the department may designate, but only in Menominee County. Some of the best trout fishing tributaries of the Wolf are in Langlade County and involve a considerable number of private owners. The conservation department, in a separate project, contemplates acquisition of substantial tracts of Wolf River shoreline in Langlade County through an exchange with several large corporate landholders.

The lease payments were welcomed by the corporation which holds the lands and forest properties of the former Indian tribe, while it was hailed by conservation interests as the inauguration of "wild river" status for the scenic river. Legislation is pending in Congress to provide federal assistance for the preservation of the river, but it is not likely to be enacted this year. The three- and Disabled American Vet- may call at the funeral home after noon today.

Safe and Sane Fourth

The State of Wisconsin can congratulate itself for having come through another "safe and sane" Fourth of July — there was not a single death from fireworks. And despite the opinions of thousands of young Wisconsin boys to the contrary, this fact alone proves the wisdom of the state statute outlawing firecrackers.

Mr. Carley and Highways

The Wisconsin State Journal at Madison has reported David Carley, the Democratic national committeeman for Wisconsin who is asking for the gubernatorial nomination of his party, for holding two utterly contradictory positions on the issue of Wisconsin highway construction acceleration in the space of two years.

Mr. Carley is now traveling the state asserting that the legislation recently enacted at the initiative of the Knowles administration is the road of fiscal responsibility. Yet only two years earlier he was glad to be the chairman of a promotion committee supporting a far more ambitious and costly acceleration plan that was being sponsored by the Democratic administration of John W. Reynolds. Aspirants for high office, even as lesser folk are entitled to change their minds. Yet in the recapitulation of Mr. Carley's whole record in Wisconsin public affairs, this is a striking reversal of course for a politician. When the candidate was an employee of the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce a little more than a decade ago he was one of the cheerleaders for more highway building. When he was a leading officer of the Gaylord Nelson administration more recently he said nothing to disparage the idea of quasi-public corporation borrowing as a means to acquire capital funds for other state needs.

Remembering that this candidate asserts as among his qualifications for office and political leadership the fact that he is a trained student of political science, it is puzzling to find him so uncertain on the basic issues of the times in state administration.

It was mentioned in the headlines Tuesday that 26 persons lost their lives on the state's highways, an all-time record. But we are much more inured to friends and relatives being killed by automobiles than we are by fireworks. And it is much more difficult to legislate restrictions on drivers who vote than against youngsters who do not.

We suspect that Mr. Carley's motives are not entirely those of the man confessing the error of his earlier ways. He knows the relation of efficient transportation facilities to the economic health of the state to which he has professed devotion, and to which he contributed when he was the executive head of the State Department of Resource Development in its fledgling days. We seriously doubt that if he becomes governor he will reduce highway service, as his present position seems to suggest.

His purposes relate to the peculiar exigencies of his candidacy, and the tactical problems of winning a nomination, as he sees them. His flat repudiation of highway improvement legislation will undoubtedly bring him the endorsement for the nomination of the Democratic Capital Times, of Madison, which is obviously looking for excuses to oppose the man who is generally thought to be the front runner, Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey. The Madison newspaper's blind, ferocious opposition to highway construction and its wild indictments of the "highway interests" are notorious and are generally discounted by informed politicians. But Mr. Carley is willing to take them at whatever value they may have in steering Democratic primary election votes. Time will show whether he paid a price that is far too high for a gain, if not altogether fanciful, that is almost surely a minor incident in the decision making of several hundreds of thousands of Democratic partisans.

The Sprinkling Ban

Confusing as they may have been, Appleton's bans and restrictions on sprinkling to conserve water during a city-wide emergency met with most favorable response from residents of the community who realize the seriousness of the city's plight.

It is unfortunate and slightly more than embarrassing, too, that such a progressive community with the biggest inland waterway to its south and Lake Michigan to the north should even be encountering these problems.

Certainly Dr. William Gallaher, superintendent of the Appleton water treatment plant and a national authority in his field, has been issuing warnings for a decade now that eventually the string will run out on the polluted Fox River, and the sooner it is abandoned the better.

Most Appleton residents rightfully deserve praise for the manner in which they responded to last week's emergency and the members of the Common Council can take solace in the fact that by expediting the Lake Winnebago pipeline and treatment plant expansion projects they are doing the right thing and providing the community with an adequate water supply until such time that others in the region band together and go along with Appleton's and the State Board of Health's proposal to form a Lake Michigan water utility district.

The Debates Are Off

Some months ago East Germany's puppet premier, Walter Ulbricht, rashly suggested that there be televised debates between representatives of East and West Germany over reunification proposals. Now the strings attached to Ulbricht are showing and there is no question about who is tugging at them.

West German leaders had somewhat reluctantly taken up the suggestion since they believed for the most part that there must be something wrong. The proposals served to split much further apart the ruling Christian Democrats in Bonn and some of the more left wing parties. But plans went ahead for two televised debates, one in Karl-Marx Stadt on July 14 and the other on July 21 in Hanover.

In order to facilitate things West Germany passed a safe conduct law so that East German leaders, coming into the West for the debates, would not be arrested for the shooting of those Germans who had tried to escape across The Wall. Instead of encouraging the East Germans the safe conduct law is now being used as the major reason for not going through with the debates.

The East German argument is that the safe conduct law not only defames East Germany and its citizens, but also supports the ambition for power of the West German imperialists. Since it is based upon the assumption that East German leaders really are under the authority of the West German government and are not part of a sovereign nation themselves.

The East German propaganda chief,

Albert Norden, furiously denied both that his government wanted to back out of the debates because it dare not face a free exchange of political arguments and that the orders to halt the proceedings came from Moscow. "Our position is so good that we would win in any exchange. But more important than the exchange is that we not be discriminated against. The Bonn government is always looking at what President Johnson says before making any decision but we are a sovereign state. We do what is best for our workers. No foreign diplomats tell us what to do."

The move was obviously a deep disappointment to Willy Brandt, Mayor of West Berlin and head of the Social Democrats who would like to challenge the Christian Democrats for power in West Germany. "It is a complete retrogression to the cold war," Brandt said.

But the move is not out of character with Communist policies. What is a surprise is that Ulbricht thought he was independent enough of the Soviet Union ever to suggest the debates in the first place although it is possible that he never thought the plans would progress as far as they have or that West Germany would go along with any suggestions coming from the East.

Some of the European satellites have shown enough independence to scorn Russia in economic ways. But East Germany, both on its own and because of the control from Moscow, does not dare expose its people to free and open political discussions.

100 YEARS AGO
Crescent for July 14, 1866.

In some quarters a foolish attempt is being made to give a political character to the latest assault upon Gen. Lucius Fairchild.

From the facts as thus far made public, there is not the slightest reason to suppose the affair has the remotest relation to the governor's political views or his political position.

The governor is not invested with sufficient power, the fortunes of state, to render him liable to midnight conspiracies nor is his manner of urging his opinions so obnoxious as to induce even the meanest man in the state to wish him personal injury.

On the contrary, in his demeanor as a public official, Gov. Fairchild is recognized as a gentleman and in that respect has the good will of his political opponents, as well as his political friends. But from whatever the source the assault proceeded, every right-minded man will execrate its author as both a coward and a brute and would rejoice at the summary arrest of the villain and his swift and condign punishment. Milwaukee News.

De Gaulle's Trip to Russia Splits His Leftist Opposition in Splinters

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

PARIS — Can Gaullism survive Gen. Charles de Gaulle? Or will it be, after him the deluge?

The general's trip to Russia has put that semi-eternal question in new perspective. However meager the concrete achievements of the voyage, the impact on French domestic politics has been deep.

Kraft

Opposition to Gaullism has been set at sixes and sevens. There is now every chance that in the parliamentary elections due by next December a clear majority can be won by the Gaullist Union for the New Republic, or UNR. That means that Gaullism has a future in France, even after the general leaves the scene.

The prospect of Gaullism surviving without de Gaulle is a sharp reversal of form. On the first ballot in the vote for president last December, Gen. de Gaulle received only a minority of the votes. The majority went to an opposition of three political groupings — the Communists, the federation of the left (including the Socialists) under former Premier Guy Mollet and a few led by Francois Mitterrand) and the Democratic Center led by a young Christian Socialist, Jean Lecanuet.

At that time it was widely predicted that a working alliance of the three groups could win a majority in the parliamentary elections, thus seriously dimming the future for Gaullism. But Gen. de Gaulle's policy toward Moscow has had the effect of hopelessly dividing his opposition.

REDS RESPECTABLE

The French Communists, once considered mere agents for Moscow, have now become respectable. They are demanding a large and visible place in any electoral alliance; they are also demanding that the joint election platform condemn the Atlantic alliance and the European Community, the Common Market.

With the Communists legitimized, the other left wing parties are under tremendous pressure to work with them. Mitterrand has already agreed.

Mollet, once bitterly anti-Communist and a pillar of the Atlantic alliance who moved only three months ago to censure Gaullist foreign policy in the Assembly, is tending to follow suit. "We must work," he said the other day, "to make both NATO and the Warsaw Pact unnecessary."

The Democratic Center, however, has made fidelity to the alliance and to a unified Western Europe the centerpiece of its policy and of its opposition to Gen. de Gaulle. A tie with the Communists would be a denial of basic principles; as Lecanuet put it the other day: "It is futile to imagine an agreement between us and a left group which includes the Communists."

With the potential opposition thus divided, the Gaullist UNR has a clear field. A party congress in Poitiers last week exuded confidence. Premier Georges Pompidou announced that for the first time the UNR would present a candidate in every single constituency in France.

GAINS IN PROSPECT

Predictions are that the UNR will add 100 seats in the next election. That would make for 250 UNR seats out of a total of 484 in the Assembly — a clear majority.

Given that kind of a majority the Gaullist succession would present no problem. The general's place would simply be taken by the chief UNR leader — presumably Premier Pompidou. Except for the dramatics, policy would largely continue as before.

The only hope for a moderation of Gaullist policies would depend on a softening of the Gaullist Party itself. There are in fact some signs of such a mellowing — a falling away from doctrine in the interests of staying in power.

Individual Gaullist leaders are beginning to form little groups of their own. Premier Pompidou said at Poitiers that the UNR would include persons who came from "the right, the left and the center." And already it is being said that the Gaullists are on their way to becoming the modern version of the radical socialists — the many-sided party of the 3rd and 4th Republics, which had no doctrine except to be in office.

But the mellowing of Gaullism is still a long, long way off. For the time being the important prospect in France is the prospect symbolized by the nearly universal popularity of Gen. de Gaulle's opening to the East. With or without de Gaulle, there is going to be Gaullism here for many years to come.

So much so indeed, that, if it comes to playing a waiting game, the present regime in France may well outlast the present regimes in many other countries, including the United States.

Maier Crusade for Urban Tax Relief Bucks Strong Tide

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The campaign of the Milwaukee city administration for a redistribution of the multi-million dollar budget of state taxes shared with localities is a forlorn cause only slightly improved by the declaration of Gov. Warren largely into local treasuries according to the accidental location of those sizeable properties. Often a rural town or a small village will have a bonanza, deriving from the fact that it is the beneficiary of taxable wealth sustained by a whole region.

Yet while this is a chronic target for complaint and a reasonable obvious instance of discriminatory practice, it is not a matter that would make any perceptible difference in the larger city tax pressures. If all of the utility taxes of the state were distributed with perfect equity, the average household in Milwaukee almost surely would perceive the difference in his own relations with the city tax budget.

Mayor Maier, and Gov. Knowles by indirection, suggest more than that. What Mayor Maier wants is a system of state tax sharing that would recognize the level of local service taxation as a test of eligibility for help from the state treasury. But that would mean that more conservative or thrifty rural jurisdictions would be penalized, even if it is acknowledged that city government is intrinsically more expensive through no fault of city dwellers.

COUNTY BASE

To some degree the financial problems of the City of Milwaukee are related to the fragmentation of the tax base of the metropolitan community. Much of its taxable wealth, personal and industrial, escapes the levies of the city assessors because it is domiciled in the suburb. The utility tax is an irritant here too, for those city officials who remember that the legislature a few years ago chartered a new municipality in Milwaukee County largely as a means of fencing off a huge utility tax base that otherwise might have been annexed to the parent city.

But the idea of governmental consolidation in Milwaukee County, at this late day, is even more chimerical than the idea of persuading the legislators of the state as a whole to subtract state tax payments from their own consciences, for the relief of Mayor Maier's worries in the Milwaukee City Hall.

The legislature has taken on a stronger urban orientation. But it will require more redistricting acts to give Milwaukee and its allies the kind of state capitol punch they desire even if the governor gives them vocal encouragement in a year when he wants more vote support in the city.

Two Great Teachers Wrote Not One Word

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

It amuses and embarrasses me that so many readers apparently think I am able to direct and control my life by my "thoughts" or my "philosophy." And they want to know how they can do likewise.

"Actually, a "philosophy of

life" is meaningless unless it reflects one's deepest feelings and attitudes — and then it is unnecessary. Some of the world's worst men have had the noblest philosophies, which they failed utterly to put into practice.

It is not what one consciously believes that counts: it is what one feels at the marrow of existence. Millions of people call themselves Christians, and believe every item in the Apostle's Creed, who in their daily lives are as far removed from the gospel of Jesus as if they had never heard of Him.

We cannot direct or control our lives by such inanimate things as a body of thought or philosophy, but only by following an example of a person. I have long had such a person in my life, and in times of stress, I try to imagine what he would do—but I am not always good enough to do likewise.

It is no accident that the two greatest teachers of the Western world, Jesus and Socrates, wrote not a word. They taught by questioning, by parable, and most of all, by example. They were not so much concerned with how we think, or what we think, as with how we behave toward one another.

Not a single thought or piece of philosophy is able to help me when I am confronted with a moral decision—for one can find all sorts of reasons to justify any sort of conduct. The crimes committed over the centuries in the name of "religion" by well-meaning men have been far greater than those committed by evil and irreligious men, as all church historians will unhappily admit.

We can draw strength and righteousness only from another person, from someone we perceive to be better than we are, to be more of what a person was meant to be. When we find such a person — and he or she can always be found if we look hard enough—we must use him as a touchstone for testing the truth of our own behavior.

For truth cannot be found in ideas, in institutions, in books, in philosophies or theologies—but only in the living person as he confronts us in the fullness of his existence. When Jesus said, "Follow me," He did not mean in creed, but in love, in sacrifice, in suffering. How much easier it is to follow Him only in prayer, only once a week.

Cost of Living Rise Hasn't Affected Washers, Dryers

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Con-Statistics show that today's gressman Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo.) recently praised the home third the service required by laundry industry to members of Congress for "performing commendably against the main stream of upward pricing."

Curtis cited the latest U. S. Bureau of Labor statistics which show a drop of almost 14 per cent in automatic washer prices since 1959 and a drop of over 5 per cent in the price of dryers.

"In contrast," Curtis said, "the cost of living has gone up 36.2 per cent since 1949, while appliance prices have gone down 26 per cent." During the same period, the Congressman said that housing prices have risen 39.5 per cent, automobiles 32.7 per cent and food 30.5 per cent.

Credits Competition "The enviable economic behavior of the major home appliance industry demonstrates," said Curtis, "what undampened competitive fires can do."

"Yet today," said Curtis, "the housewife has a machine that holds more clothes, offers variable water temperatures, and up to 10 cycles to handle countless fabrics."

"On top of all these comforting new features, the rate of service repair calls has also declined," he said.

Bathing Ideas Help Ease Summer Heat, Insect Bites

Most Americans today take a bath for a set purpose . . . to advantage since conventional get clean, ease an aching muscle, soothe a rash. As for bathing just for the sheer enjoyment of relaxing in a tubful of water . . . an old Greek custom . . . it's practical-ly passe. Responsible for a fall of the tub is the speedy, time-saving shower.

But this summer, why not get reacquainted with the bath and revive the leisurely soak. There's nothing so refreshing on a hot day when you can't go for a swim, or if you've been for a swim but its cooling effect has worn off by the time you got home, or if you come down with an overdose of sun. Make it a tepid tub. A warm one on a warm day will lull you to sleep. A cool one perks you up, but only temporarily. Once the contrast between cool bath and hot sticky air hits you, you're apt to quickly droop.

Added Refresher Add a cup of baking soda to the water. Because of soda's alkaline properties it gives your bath a healthful, spa-like quality that not only peps you up but soothes a sunburn or stems the itch caused by summer-dry skin. You'll be benefiting from soda's gentle detergent action, too. You'll come clean without moving a muscle . . . a distinct advantage since conventional cleaning methods tend to aggravate dry, flaky or sunburned skin.

A tip to those of you mindful of bathroom decor. You can transfer a couple of pounds of baking soda from boxes to a plastic cleanser container which is available in many colors in five-and-ten's and the house-ware departments of local department stores. The holes in the top of the container are large enough so that with three or four good shakes you'll have the prescribed amount of soda in the tub.

If you're artistically inclined, fancy up the shaker . . . turn it into a pretty bathroom accessory by painting a design with household enamel or oil paints.

And for a short-cut cooler, try a footbath. Set a basin of cool water out on the back porch or patio; spike it with a handful of baking soda; and sit, read and relax while your feet soak. You'll be surprised at how fast you'll revive from the hot-weather doldrums.

Muscle Toners

Are you stiff and sore? There are more aching muscles and joints around than in many a moon.

The Fourth weekend seems to be a signal to start exercising like mad. And, unaccustomed to workouts, lazy muscles are in no shape to stand a sudden spurt of activity. So they tire and lie down. . . on a bed of pain!

If you are among the sufferers and dream of quick relief, here's what you do:

Buckle two sturdy belts together to form a strap and, with strap in hand, lower yourself to floor. Easy . . . it's "ouch" work!

1. Sit erect on floor, legs straight out, and sling center of strap under arches of feet; on level with knees, bring ends of strap together and grasp with both hands. Pull strap taut and slowly lower back to floor.

2. On back with strap ar-

Women Look Outdoors to Expand Decorating Area

The modern American family's desire to combine indoor and outdoor living has given the housewife a fourth dimension in which to express her personal decorating tastes.

Women have proven themselves to be masters of the three interior dimensions bounded by walls, floors and ceilings. But now they have the unlimited fourth dimension of the wide outdoors to decorate.

Housewives who are used to spending weeks hunting for the exact shades and fabrics for their living room walls and furnishings are again proving their inherent taste for beauty and harmony on the exterior of their homes.

The new trend in exterior decorating is an outgrowth of the indoor-outdoor living theme which influences the design of most homes being built today. Entire walls of new houses have been replaced by glass doors, converting patios into extensions of the living rooms and play rooms. Even owners of older dwellings are finding new ways to simplify the transition between indoor and outdoor living by building additional doors and removing walls of closed-in porches.

This summer families are spending more time than ever before living outside their darker shade. But the low ranch homes — meals are barbecued on the grill and tables have a dark roof. Here bright con-been set up for backyard dining trasting hues are cared for. Col-away from the heat of the or can be used to establish a kitchen. Patios serve as lounges mood—cool refreshing greens or soothing tans, warm rusts.

Contrasting colors will relieve the monotony of long unbroken surfaces.

Thereafter take a steam bath, or contrasted with the roof by To get up steam, close bath- selecting the colors from the room door and let hot water run infinite variety of exterior until tub is half full. Then add several inches of icy water, pre- several inches of water, finished siding materials.

Next adjust temperature with Trim and accent areas, such more hot water — keep bath on as window frames, doors, shut-hot side. Now soak for ten- ters and planters can add bright minutes. After a sudsy scrub, contrast to the overall portrait dry well and rub down with of your home. Trees, shrubbery, mentholated alcohol.

It's a promise the kinks will ture also should fit into your be done. Of course, if you made exterior decorating plan. Even a habit of exercise, your fences and light posts can muscles would always be in extend the harmonious effect shape. Your figure, too! beyond the dimensions of the house.

Bold Bids, Cautious Play Mix

If you don't mind mixed metaphors, the secret of winning at bridge is to bid a hand to the hilt and then play the parts of the cards. No European expert is more famous for both of these arts than Mrs. Ray Markus, for many years one of Great Britain's most distinguished players.

simple. Making the slam was not quite so simple.

It would be easy to try the trump finesse first and the heart finesse later, relying on one of the finesses to work. When both fail, the slam is down, but at least you have a reasonable excuse to give to your partner.

Since Mrs. Markus is just as cautious in the play as she is bold in the bidding, she found a way to make the slam without risking either finesse.

The English expert took the first trick in dummy with the ace of spades, discarded two hearts on the top diamonds, and ruffed a diamond with the ten of clubs. When both opponents followed suit, it was clear that the diamonds were going to break normally.

Jersey has a new look this season. It is beautifully tailored and crisply sophisticated. The one at left will be shown Saturday at the Pierre Hotel when Monte-Sano & Pruzan participate in the New York Couture Group's 47th National Press Week. The fabric is salmon worsted jersey, single-breasted and with a modified dirndl skirt. Shoulder epaulettes are softened with a pull-through scarf of brown silk. The suit at right is another fall brightener. Red worsted wool is teamed with a black and white jailbird striped blouse. The suit is by Branell, to be shown in his collection Friday.

Suited to a Fall Breeze

NEW YORK — Although the big style news in suits this season is the longer jacket, there still are plenty of the short lengths around. They are handsomely tailored, soft and feminine, with eased skirts that flare from soft pleats at the waistline or from pleats worked for no bulk at the hip.

Color is important on the suit scene. When a suit is black, it's elegant. But for daytime there are shades from purple to lilac, from alabaster to banana, browns, from putty to ginger, reds, from orange-red to blue-red, greens from pale to vivid, and lots of combinations.

Jo Copeland for Pattullo - Jo Copeland, cut black blistered crepe into the cocktail suit above. The slim skirt, twinkie-buttoned weskit and jacket, with pink satin blouse showing a cuff-like collar, will be shown Friday morning. The suit at right, by Junior Sophisticates, was scheduled for viewing by the nation's fashion press Wednesday. It is in spicy tones, with a wide turtleneck knit in camel under a speckled mohair tweed in camel and grey.

Orange covert cloth was used by Originala for the charming double-breasted suit at left. The skirt was worked with clever double pleats to form A-line panels, a new shape this season. Originala was scheduled to parade its fall line Wednesday morning at the New York Couture Group's fall preview.

Miss Wisconsin Honored by Contestants

OSHKOSH — One might have termed it "the price of fame" if the Miss Wisconsin contestants developed writers' cramp Wednesday evening during Oregon Street Days. Hundreds of wide-eyed youngsters stood in line at the various stores where the girls signed their slips of paper.

The autograph business was so good that the stores overbooked their 9 p.m. closing time and were still going strong at 9:25. One of the largest groups of children gathered at Oregon Clothing House where Miss Oshkosh, Mildred Breitenstein, and Miss Appleton, Barbara Silwanowicz, were busy asking "What's your name?" as each boy and girl came forward.

Each store on Oregon Street had one or more contestants "in residence" and most folks made the rounds to get a close-up look at the beauties who begin competition at 8 p.m. today in the first preliminary pageant. Miss Wisconsin, Sharon Singstock, stopped at every store to greet her admirers.

She tells Sharon that one of the gifts in the box is a giant mug for when Sharon comes to LaCrosse for the Oktoberfest. (Post-Crescent Photos)

There were other lovely items for the young woman who has captured the hearts of all Wisconsinites — charm bracelets, paintings, electric coffee makers, a portable mixer, an electric fry pan, five months' membership in the cheese of the month club, a mink pin, 18 holes of golf and dinner for two, a gold jewelry box, a cookbook and stationery.

The gift that brought tears to Sharon's eyes was a set of gold goblets presented by Mr. Erkilla for the Miss Wisconsin pageant committee. The inscription on the card read: "A golden treasure for a golden girl with golden memories for all."

Miss Oshkosh's gift was a set of gold candles and place mats, while Sharon received tickets to the Milwaukee Symphony Concerts from Sandra Bulawa, that city's representative, who explained, "At first I was going to bring you Milwaukee Braves tickets."

Perhaps the most unique gift came from Miss Spooner, Tonya Jane Thompson, who gave the sports-minded Miss Wisconsin a "diamond-studded" fishing reel, moccasins and "handmade night crawlers from my brother's creepy crawlers set!" Miss Karen Howe, representing Stevens Point, gave Sharon a copy of that city's Polish newspaper, one of only three published in the United States.

Miss Appleton's gift to Sharon Singstock was a triplod Aspen which has been developed at the Institute of Paper Chemistry. Above, Miles Benson, right, a research assistant at the Institute, hands over the tree to Jerry Schoepke of the Jaycees who selected Miss Appleton's gift. During the banquet, left, Miss Appleton, Barbara Silwanowicz, chats with Neil Murphy, a salesman at Oregon Clothing House.

Antique Furnishings Need Humidity

Antique-hunting has become such a popular pastime that it might well be included on a list of America's favorite sports.

Especially during the warm weather months, antique-hunters swarm into country villages, farm auctions and second-hand shops looking for a "find." The prize may be a Chippendale chest worth thousands of dollars or a simply-designed cane-back chair for $5.

What happens when the treasured antique is brought home is another matter. Too often, inadequate indoor humidity — can destroy the beauty and charm of an irreplaceable piece.

"Just because a piece of furniture has come through a hundred or more years in excellent condition doesn't mean that it can survive without damage in the modern home," explains Burton Shaffer, a humidification engineer.

"Many people don't realize that the 'climate' inside today's homes can be harmful not only to precious antiques, but to all other furnishings as well," he says.

Mr. Shaffer notes that while antique-hunting reaches a peak in the warm weather months, the cold-weather months are the most dangerous for antiques.

This is because when the heat inside the house is turned on, the heating process lowers the relative humidity of the air. As the inside air becomes dry, it seeks to regain a moisture balance by drawing water from everything it touches.

Just like a sponge, this dry air soaks up moisture from the furniture, carpeting, draperies, walls, woodwork, bookbindings, and even from your skin and mucous membranes.

"The natural moisture content of wood is from five to eight per cent," Mr. Shaffer says, "which makes furniture quite susceptible to warping, cracking, and buckling as the moisture is drawn out. Veneers can peel. Joints become loose. Finishes craze and crack."

While furniture polishes may help preserve the surface finish, no polish can deal with the away from sources of direct pervasive damage that dry air heat can cause. The only remedy is that of restoring proper humidity levels by using a humidifier in your home.

Of the several types of humidifiers available, he says, one which is installed as a part of the heating system often proves most satisfactory.

Ideal Humidity Level

In selecting a humidifier, he emphasizes, it is important to choose one that can do the job of keeping the relative indoor humidity at a level of 35-45 per cent.

To maintain this level in extremely cold weather," Shaffer pointed out, "it may be necessary to evaporate as much as 35 to 40 gallons of water into the air during a 24 hour period."

Insuring proper humidity in the home is one of several basic precautions which will help keep antiques in prime condition.

Experiment Shows Effect Of Lack of Vitamin B-6

Chances are that if you eat diets. They ate only a thick well-balanced meals each day gelatin, cream of rice cereal you'll have all of the vitamin B-6 with casein, a rice casserole 6 (pyridoxine) you need. That's that had some carrots, celery because meat, vegetables and and onions in it, peaches, pears, wheat cereals have generous grapefruit juice, carbonated amounts of this vitamin. And beverages and a homemade many foods furnish some.

But occasional outbreaks of The men also had minerals, vitamin B-6 deficiency show fat and all vitamins except the that a lack of it can be a B-6 to complete their diet. At certain times they were given some of the missing vitamin so the low intake wouldn't have harmful effects on them.

On this diet, proteins broke down in an abnormal way when the vitamin B-6 was missing. Since about 50 enzyme systems in the body depend on vitamin B-6, many other changes take place.

The more protein in the diet the more the vitamin B-6 is needed. Since nature provides this vitamin in meats and other proteins this is a happy combination.

All the effects of a low vitamin B-6 diet aren't known. But usually a well balanced diet has enough of this vitamin. But usually a well balanced diet has enough of this vitamin. But usually a well balanced diet has enough of this vitamin.

Drill Schedule for Guardsmen Cut

Undersheriff Seeks For Outagamie Post On Republican Ticket

Norbert J. Marx, 53, of 32 Garden Court, today filed his nomination papers as a candidate for Outagamie County sheriff on the Republican ticket. Undersheriff for the past four years, Marx has more than 28 years of experience in law enforcement, most of it with the Appleton Police Department. He

Major Albert Starritt, training officer for the battalion, said Wednesday there is a possibility that the local unit will be required to conduct 10 additional drills per year to "maintain readiness status."

Completed Tests
Major Starritt said that the division's commanding general, Maj. Gen. John Dunlap, announced that the units had successfully completed the tests at summer camp and would revert back to the 48-drill schedule.

Weekend and weekday drills are planned for the local guardsmen. A battalion exercise will be held this fall in the Kettle Moraine area, Starritt said.

The cutback in National Guard training has been rumored from Washington for several months. SRF units were given intensified training, Pentagon sources said, in case the war in Viet Nam should require mobilization of national guard units.

Femininity Reigned Supreme in "Battle of the Sexes" competition at the Columbus School playground Wednesday, but males can take hope in the fact that it's not the battle but the war that counts in the end. The boys did win one skirmish, however, that being in dodgeball (right). The girls captured the playground championship.

Council Okays Final Parking Ramp Plan

Not Practicing What He Preaches

Buckley Attacked on Council Floor for Plan To Visit Reserve Camp

Mayor George Buckley was man of the city's personnel accused Wednesday night of not practicing what he preaches and having been out of the city when the finance group met, missing a two-day trip to Camp Polk, La., his first committee session later this month to review since being elected an alderman.

Buckley, who has criticized municipal employees who attend out-of-state conventions and make trips that take them away from their municipal jobs, was the target of a blistering verbal attack by Ald. John MacDonald (7th).

Earlier in the week at a meeting of the finance committee, to which Buckley had sent a letter saying he had been invited by the Army to attend training activities of Wisconsin Reservists from July 21-23, aldermen gave a conditional okay.

The committee recommendation before the council last night was that Buckley be allowed to go to Camp Polk, providing that his calendar is such as not to conflict with other business in the city.

Appleton To Advertise For Job Bids

Final construction plans for the multi-level Soldiers Square parking ramp to be erected in downtown Appleton were approved Wednesday night, and the city clerk was directed to advertise for bids.

The action of the council by a 16-2 vote was indicative of its previous decision to follow the College Avenue reconstruction and traffic flow recommendations contained in the central business district plan prepared by a St. Louis firm.

Because College Avenue will have front-to-back parallel parking once it's reconstructed, there will be fewer spaces and that was the intent for the most part in getting the new 450-car capacity ramp construction underway this summer or fall.

Mayor Backs Projects

Mayor George Buckley, at the request of Ald. Roy Pointer (14th) was asked to state his position on the related avenue-ramp construction projects and said he favored them.

"The majority of aldermen previously approved parallel parking instead of angle parking," Buckley said. "I stand with the council on this, absolutely."

In other developments: A petition circulated by a group of merchants on the west end of College Avenue — wanting to retain angle parking, make sidewalks narrower than planned and eliminate the extended curbs at intersections — was received by the council, along with a letter from Attorney Samuel Sigman, representing several property owners and merchants.

Schedules Special Meeting

The council recalled that previous hearings had been held on the matter and the question of eliminating angle parking had been resolved. However, it agreed to schedule a committee of the whole meeting for July 20 to hear from the petitioners.

Received a briefing on the ramp construction timetable from Public Works Director Robert W. Bues who said the four-level structure could be finished by April 1, 1967.

Purpose of Meeting

Pointer, who presided over last night's committee of the whole meeting to discuss the final ramp plans, said the purpose of the session was to approve the plans and advertise for bids.

"I want to emphasize, however, that you keep in mind your deliberations that we are building expansion plans."

Appleton Girl Hurt In Two-Car Accident

Donna Lee Heinritz, 16, 1716 S. Jackson St., Appleton, received a bruised leg and was advised to consult her family doctor after a two-car accident at 9:35 a.m. Wednesday on East College Avenue at Weimer S. 114 intersection as the first Street.

Miss Heinritz told Appleton police she was driving west on College Avenue when the accident occurred. Joseph P. Schiltz, 63, 49 Weimar Court, Appleton, was reportedly driving north on Weimer Street, stopped for a stop sign, and crossed onto College Avenue when the cars collided.

County Police Find Stolen Cash Register

Second Unit Taken In Seymour Break-ins Still Missing

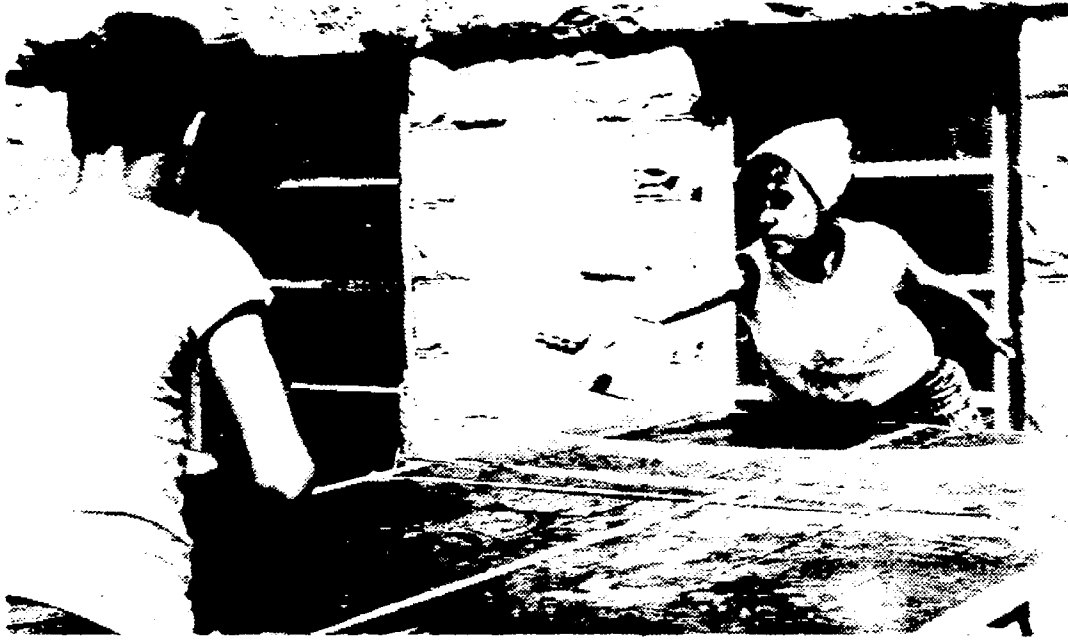

Outagamie County authorities Wednesday recovered one of two cash registers which were reportedly stolen Sunday from two service stations in the county. The sheriff's department said today that the cash register was found by James Krahn, 16, route 1, Seymour. It was discovered in a ditch south of Seymour on County Trunk C.

The registers were said to have been stolen from a Citgo Service Station in the Village of Oneida at 3:32 a.m. Sunday and at 6:49 a.m. on the same day from the Cal Stewart Station, route 3, Seymour.

The cash register reported stolen from Oneida was said to be worth about $100 and contained approximately $5 in cash and $15 to $20 worth of tools. Witnesses told county authorities that they observed a man take the cash register from the station.

Reports said that the safe missing from the rural Seymour station was worth about $15 and that four quarts of oil also are missing.

Sheriff's department officials are combing the Seymour area hoping to recover the second register. They believe the alleged break-ins are related.

Norbert J. Marx

joined the force in 1938 as a patrolman and handled almost all types of police work before retiring in 1962 as a detective sergeant.

Marx also had military police training while in the army during World War II and took correspondence courses and attended FBI training schools throughout his long police career. He has served as president of the Wisconsin Professional Policemen's Association and was on its state board of directors for 16 years.

Marx was an Outagamie County delegate to the state Republican convention in Milwaukee in May.

In filing his nomination papers with County Clerk Mollie E. Pfeffer today, Marx said, "I am seeking the nomination because I would like very much to be sheriff and believe I can do a good job for the people of Outagamie County."

Marx said he believes his 28 years as a policeman and four years as undersheriff "provide the qualifications and experience necessary to give Outagamie County residents the type of law enforcement they are entitled to and deserve."

Legal Action Recommended In Delinquent Tax Cases

Report Says ICO Appleton Firms, Individuals Owe City Money

Legal action should be taken against more than 100 Appleton firms and individuals to collect delinquent personal property taxes and special assessments, the city has been informed. The recommendations are contained in the annual audit of 1965 municipal books by Pusch, Larson, Seifert and Co., an Appleton certified public accountant firm. It was also suggested by auditors that the city should consolidate its checking accounts, pointing out that on Dec. 31 it still had 11 accounts in various Appleton banks.

Finance Director Henry Schreve, who has been on the job less than a year here, said he agreed with the comments of the auditors as did members of the council's finance committee.

Personal Property Taxes
Leroy Seifert, a member of the auditing firm, wrote pointing out $14,559 in delinquent personal property taxes was uncollected as of Dec. 31, 1965. The delinquent special assessments receivable totaled $44,182, some of the unpaid bills dating back to 1957 but most of them being from recent years.

Recommend Collection
The auditors enclosed a detailed list of the individuals and firms behind in payments with the recommendation that an attempt be made by the city attorney's office to collect.

"Any taxes that are determined uncollectible legally or for other reasons should be written off the city's records by council action," the report said.

With regard to the delinquent special assessments, legal action to recover the money also was advocated. The list of properties is on file in the city treasurer's office, the report said.

In recommending the checking accounts be consolidated, the auditors said it would reduce time spent on bookkeeping functions and make more funds available for investment purposes.

"To solve the problem," the auditors said, "we suggest the city attorney, treasurer and director of finance work out a consolidation of checking accounts bearing in mind state laws and city ordinances."

The auditors said in accordance with their agreement with the City of Appleton, they did not audit the detail records of the public schools, water commission, vocational school, library board, park board, police pension commission, firemen's pension commission and school construction funds.

"Transactions shown for these accounts were summarized from reports submitted by the city treasurer without audit," the report said.

Grand Chute Asks Halt To Construction Work

Injunction, Building Permit Actions Brought in 2 Courts by County, Town

A case involving Outagamie County, the Town of Grand Chute, and Stokely Van Camp, Inc., was recessed Wednesday in Circuit Court by acting Circuit Court Judge Urban P. Van Susteren.

The proceedings on an injunction requested by the Town of Grand Chute asking that the construction by Stokely Van Camp of so-called "temporary buildings" be halted, will probably commence early next week.

The injunction request was preceded by action taken in Judge Gustave J. Keller's Branch 2 court. The Town of Grand Chute brought two charges against both Stokely Van Camp's and Calmes Contractors alleging that the defendants had commenced construction without building permits. Innocent pleas were entered on the charges and Judge Keller set further proceedings for Friday.

County Complaint
In the meantime, a complaint was filed by Outagamie County in County Court, saying the defendants had failed to obtain permission from the town board of Grand Chute to construct the buildings. That complaint is also returnable on Friday.

Stokely Van Camp's then petitioned for a writ of mandamus, asking that Circuit Court order permits to authorize them to build "portable and moveable building units and a service building" on property in the west portion of the Town of Grand Chute.

Don Herrling, town attorney for Grand Chute, asked the court to quash the mandamus

Referendum Voted Down

The question of female bartenders in Appleton is dead, at least for the present. The city council Wednesday night rejected, by a 10-8 vote, the proposal to conduct a referendum in the fall on the matter. The vote rescinded previous council action calling for a public ballot.

Last month, aldermen spent considerable time on the subject and admitted there was confusion as to needed action.

Ordinance Remains

City Atty. David Geenen said he did not think the matter could be brought up again by the present council — that it had been exhausted from a legal and parliamentary standpoint.

As it now stands, the ordinance banning the issuance of an operator's license to a woman in Appleton remains in effect, and once again the longstanding rule has survived a m-j. attack.

Ald. Norman Beyer (20th) said the people should have their say on the matter, recalling they did on another referendum last fall.

However, other aldermen indicated the council had more important business to conduct than to become involved in discussions and parliamentary entanglements on women bartenders.

The council also:

— Filed a letter from the Project 85 Committee of the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce in which it made recommendations concerning the proposed construction of a new bridge over the Fox River at Oneida Street.

— Authorized the city clerk to advertise for bids for the sale of the city-owned Red Star School and site and directed an appraisal be made of the property.

— Referred to the plan commission a resolution calling for a meeting of property owners of the recently annexed area of College Avenue, Matthias Street and North Western Railway Co. property, with the intent of forming an industrial park.

— Awarded a $20,900 contract to Charles O. Green, Inc., for installation of sewer and water

Bues Asked to Remain On Job Indefinitely

Appleton Council Request Unanimous; City Has One Application for Public Works Post

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues, who recently resigned his $13,900 a year job for "personal reasons" was asked by the Appleton council Wednesday night to remain on the job indefinitely.

It was learned the city has received one application for the key city position since Bues made his surprise resignation announcement last month.

The resignation was to have become effective July 31, and Bues had two weeks vacation coming before that period.

Unanimous Vote

The council was unanimous in voting to negotiate with Bues to extend his time of employment with the city. Ald. Roy Pointer (14th) said it was important to have Bues fill in the gap until a successor is obtained.

The council also: — Voted to liberalize the requirements of applicants seeking the position of city recreation director, eliminating the college degree qualification.

— Approved a new city policy of presenting distinguished services plaques to elected city officials retiring in 1966 and building this structure in part to provide more spaces when angle parking is removed from the avenue." Pointer explained.

Ald. John Ayers (12th) recalled the council agreed last year to postpone the installation of parallel parking then and wait until the avenue was reconstructed to do so.

Parking Not Issue

"The planning for the new ramp was expedited on this basis so we would make up for spaces lost when angle parking is removed," Ayers said. "It is my feeling that angle versus parallel parking was settled by the council last year and is not an issue."

At the request of Ald. R. P. Groh (8th), Bues and City Planner Walter Rasmussen discussed the ramp plans and said they had been in constant contact with Richard C. Rich and Associates, Detroit, which drew them up. They said criteria had been met.

"The construction and size of the ramp conforms with the master plan," Bues said.

Ramp Location

He said the ramp would occupy the block bounded by Soldiers Square, Lawrence, Morrison, and Oneida Streets.

The property the city is obtaining will be vacated about July 15, Bues said, and plans call for the razing of buildings on the site from Aug. 1 to Sept. 1.

Bues said that although the city is working under a tight schedule, as it has been in the past even though there were some delays, construction bids could be opened Aug. 9 and contracts awarded Aug. 17.

"I would say construction would be ready to start on Sept. 1," Bues said, "and April 1, 1967 should be the completion date."

He said the ramp must be completed before the reconstruction of the avenue can get underway. Plans for the avenue reconstruction are now being prepared by the city engineering division.

Rasmussen said he and Bues would make a thorough study of the working plans, noting that the council previously approved the preliminary plans.

Rasmussen said if need be,

Politics Upsets Stock Market

Warsaw Pact News Unsettling, but Rally Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — A rallying stock market was unsettled early this afternoon by a report that the Warsaw Pact conference has agreed to send volunteers to Viet Nam if Ho Chi Minh's government asks for them, according to a Soviet broadcast.

Stocks had been continuing their rally of Wednesday, although on a more limited basis. Some brokers said they believed the "traditional summer rally" was under way on schedule.

Even as the over-all market was continuing to rise, however, there was scattered profit taking by traders which held the averages to moderate gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.4 at 322.2 with industrials up 2.0, rails up .9 and utilities up .4.

Dow Jones

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 2.78 at 891.64.

Auto stocks remained narrowly higher, slicing their best early gains.

Steels turned mixed.

Du Pont bolstered the averages with a 3-point gain.

Addressograph, the most active stock Wednesday, remained in demand and held on to the best part of its early rise exceeding 2 points.

Gains exceeding a point were displayed by Illinois Central, IBM and Air Reduction.

Prices rose in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

minor revisions could be made by them, and the council agreed.

Condemning Property

The city is in the process of condemning some of the property needed for the ramp.

The council also: —Concurred with recommendations of the parking commission and board of public works that parking meters be removed from the south half of Soldiers Square during the new ramp construction.

—Paid Richard C. Rich and Associates $9,918 for the design-development phase of the proposed ramp, and $1,762 for the preliminary design of an adjoining mall sketch. A mall will be considered after the avenue is completed.

—Received a report that land costs may increase the price of the overall project.

Car Owner To Appear On Charges

Combined Locks Man Allegedly Left Scene of Accident

COMBINED LOCKS — Joseph W. VanDera, 20, 208 Kamps St., has been ordered to appear before Municipal Justice Wayne Hull at 8 p.m. Friday on charges stemming from a high-speed chase and accident Sunday night.

VanDera has been charged with driving 95 miles per hour in a 25 m.p.h. zone, two arterial violations and failure to heed an officer's signal.

Kimberly police have served a summons on VanDera for leaving the scene of an accident and failing to give aid to the injured, speeding, and failure to stop for a police vehicle.

Last Sunday night, Combined Locks and Kimberly police there were about 115 city cases charged the car owned by VanDera through the two villages at speeds up to 95 m.p.h. During the chase, the auto struck a car driven by Thomas VanDerHyden of 522 Michael St., Kimberly. Five members of the VanDerHyden family were injured.

The unidentified motorist fled on foot from the accident scene, collecting almost $50,000 in Monday, VanDera appeared overdue city taxes and special at the Kimberly police station assessments.

and told police he was informed by his brother they were looking for a part-time elected city attorney for him. He denied being the one, it also hired a part-time driver of the car, said he did not know who was driving it.

Council Okays Hiring Legal Aid for Geen

Assistant Attorney To Work for City; Cite Heavy Caseload

Appleton aldermen — acknowledging that the city needs additional legal counsel in view of the many public projects in the works — has authorized hiring of a part-time assistant city attorney.

The action, by a 17-1 vote with Ald. Roland Voss (3rd) dissenting, was taken at Wednesday night's meeting.

Previously, council committees pointed out that the workload of City Atty. David Geen was too much to handle, considering traffic cases, other litigation, condemnation proceedings and preparation of ordinances, in addition to serving on the board of public works and other committees.

Green's Work Praised

Several aldermen lauded Geen for the good job he has done to date and the matter boiled down to when the assistant attorney should be hired.

Final agreement was reached that he receive $3,600 a year and handle mostly traffic cases, giving Geen a chance to concentrate on more important city matters.

Earlier, the council received a letter from County Judge Gustave Keller pointing out the need for the city to have more than one attorney, along with commending Geen for the job he has done since he was elected in April.

The jurist said he felt the legal caseload was more than one person could handle, and the council agreed with him.

115 Cases Pending

Green, who has been handling traffic cases and working on condemnation cases, along with serving on the city's land negotiations committee, said there were about 115 city cases pending, including several in circuit court relating to condemnations for city projects to be undertaken soon.

Among those speaking in favor of hiring the additional legal talent was Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th), finance committee chairman, who said the city may have to go to court to start collecting almost $50,000 in overdue city taxes and special assessments.

Previously, when the city had hired a part-time attorney for him, he denied being the one, it also hired a part-time driver of the car, said he did not know who was driving it.

Buckley Attacked for Plan to Visit Camp thing to do with operation of the city.

"I can't see how you in good conscience, after the way you performed in front of this council and municipal department heads, can even think of leaving the city for such a purpose at a time when we have a lot of important projects and other matters in the works," MacDonald said. "I believe these pressing city matters take precedence over any trip to any army camp."

MacDonald claimed department heads and other employees who had presented full agendas for out-of-state conferences and seminars in the past had justification to attend in some instances but did not do so because of the "mayor's unrealistic attitude on the subject."

Might Retract

MacDonald said if Mayor Buckley could justify leaving city business to go to Camp Polk, and the connection it might have with municipal business, he would be willing to retract some of his statements.

"I will not answer your charges or viciously worded attack," Buckley replied. "When I saw the wording on the report that the trip not conflict with other city business, I decided not to go." Buckley said with the wording there was bound to be a conflict because there was always city business to attend to.

Buckley explained he had been contacted by an army official who told him many Appleton area men would be in training and that mayors and other officials in the state were being asked to view their training and "take an interest in by aldermanic ballot at the first meeting in August.

In the meantime, persons interested in the council job may contact the city clerk or said the position would be filled mayor.

the men, encourage them and say hello to them." Buckley said no city expense would be involved.

'Not Satisfied'

"I asked for a justification by you for this trip on the basis of the policy you previously laid out and I am not satisfied," MacDonald retorted. "You're talking about withdrawing the request now. Why did you put it in there in the first place?"

"In view of your attack on department heads, and the fact your Louisiana trip has nothing to do with city operations, I think you are insulting the intelligence of this council and the citizens of Appleton," MacDonald declared.

Buckley said he took serious issue with some of MacDonald's adjectives but did not intend to engage in personalities. "If I haven't satisfied your question, I am sorry, Ald. MacDonald," Buckley said.

At that point, Ald. Roy Pointer (14th), council president, had the item concerning the mayor's trip stricken from the finance committee report to end debate. The council's action to delete it was unanimous.

Dr. Kagen Cites Need to Recruit Skilled Workers

Management and labor need to work together to step up recruitment of skilled workers, Dr. Mary Kagen, Democrat candidate for the 8th Congressional seat told the Appleton Carpenters and Joiners Union Wednesday night at Appleton's Labor Temple.

"There is a crying need for apprentices in many trades," Dr. Kagen said. "Businessmen and labor leaders should go out and actively recruit apprentices in order to keep our local economy going strong."

Dr. Kagen noted current shortages of apprentices in the building and manufacturing trades. He said continuing shortages will make new industries reluctant to locate here.

"There will always be a demand for skilled workers," she said. "New processes and inventions will increase the need in the future for more people who can meet the requirements of today's technology," he added.

Dr. Kagen said he "strongly favors" expansion of vocational and adult education. He said he feels it is both necessary to train new workers well and to sharpen the skills of the currently employed.

Oshkosh Nips Menasha, 6-5, In 10 Innings

MENASHA — The Menasha Twins and Oshkosh Legion hooked up in an extra inning game for the second time this season at the Menasha Ball Park Wednesday night and with the same result — a 6-5 victory for the invaders.

The victory boosted Oshkosh into first place in the Valley Legion's League's southern division with a 7-2 record. Fond du Lac is second with 6-2 while the Twins slipped to third with 6-3.

A fine last of the ninth rally, good for two runs, sent the game into extra innings but an unearned run in the top of the 10th gave the victory to the visitors.

Gerry Steffen, who also hurled the first 10-inning loss, went the distance for the Twins and allowed eight hits. He struck out 15 and walked five.

Starter Tom Bartelt hurled 8 and 1-3rd frames for Oshkosh before Jeff Drexler was dispatched to halt the ninth inning uprising. He put down all five hitters to face him, four on strikes, to gain the win.

The Oshkosh duo permitted seven hits, struck out 16 and didn't walk a batter. One was hit by a pitched ball.

State Committee Says Kewaunee Must Install More Sewage Facilities

MADISON — The City of Kewaunee has been ordered to construct secondary sewage treatment facilities as a part of its sewage treatment plant.

The action came at a meeting of the State Committee on Water Pollution Wednesday and followed a study by the committee staff which indicated that clear water was seeping into the city's sewerage system. The committee had previously ordered that the city take steps to insure that clear water in the future would be segregated from sewage, or that sewage plant capacity be expanded so as to adequately handle all waters.

The additional requirement will necessitate the construction by the city of a second treatment plant to further purify sewage after its processing by the existing facility, which has been in operation since 1957.

The major concern of the project is the repainting of buildings which haven't had a paint job in years, particularly those in residential areas and along State 47, the village's Main Street. The campaign was started by a traveler who was appalled when he saw that the once naturally beautiful area had become an eyesore. He donated funds for paint to refurbish some of the blighted buildings. The community has since taken a major interest in the project. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Mayor Holmes Urges Speedup in Planning

MENASHA — Taking the ask the council to consider initiative to speed the city's master planning program. Mayor Kenneth Holmes said today he will ask the common council to consider helping pay for preliminary studies while awaiting federal aid for more advanced phases of the city's master plan.

The mayor said he will suggest the action to the council at its July 18 committee of the whole session. He said he believes the planning effort is essential before several major city projects can progress further.

Mayor Holmes said it also will be necessary for the council to determine the boundaries within the city in which the plan will be concentrated, and in which the Menasha Redevelopment Authority would have jurisdiction.

City Share
The mayor said his decision grew from a meeting of the MRA Wednesday in which the redevelopment body outlined for local officials and businessmen its campaign to raise as much as $19,000 as the local share of the planning funds.

The amount includes $11,000 that would be paired with the expected federal allotment of $22,000. The remaining $8,000, the mayor said this morning, is the approximate cost of the initial two phases which he will be investigating two complaints of

Menasha Firm Picketed by Lithographers

17 From Union Stage Strike at Litho-Printing Co.

MENASHA — Some 17 members of local 88-L Lithographers and Photoengravers International Union, went out on strike at Earl Litho-Printing Co. this morning.

The union workers began picketing the firm on Midway Road at 6:30 a.m. after agreements on a new contract could not be reached.

Several negotiation meetings were held before and after the contract expired June 30, John Hornke local president, said this morning.

The union is asking wage increases, reduction of work week from 40 to 37½ hours and a union shop, Mel Galbraith, International representative from Des Moines, said. Some nine workers in the lithographing and photoengraving unit at Earl are non-union. Hornke said.

John Wylie, attorney for Homer Earl, employer, said a federal mediator is being sought by the firm to bring about a settlement.

A meeting with the employers, Galbraith and workers was held Wednesday afternoon and no agreement was made before the strike deadline.

Galbraith is attempting to set up meeting with the employer, Hornke said.

Non-union workers and workers in the firm's bindery are still at work, he added.

Disputes concerning the previous contract, signed two years ago, are now before the Winnebago County Circuit Court. Wylie said. The Wisconsin Employment Relation Board (WERB) mediated in a dispute over the employer's alleged refusal to grant wage increases.

Some 30,000 yards of fill have been added to the edges of the slough, Anunson noted, with a large amount donated from the city, including the new YWCA building. The requested money would have gone toward the machine south side of Cecil had almost work necessary to level the free been completed and the com-fill.

Wage increases retroactive to July 1, 1965, Hornke said. Earl weekend and reported Tuesday is appealing the decision and Mrs. George Phillips, 208 Taylor St., reported the theft of a Negro statue, valued at $35, County. Wylie said.

This matter is an aspect of the difficulty involved in reaching an agreement, union officials state, but Wylie said it was not brought up at the three previous negotiation meetings.

Neenah Property Owners Protest Street Projects

NEENAH — About 50 property owners won at least part of their battle against proposed street improvements in front of Kalfahs Street and half of Peckham Street were deleted from this year's construction program.

Further opposition and possible changes can be expected when taxpayers living on the three streets adjacent to the new post office site appear at the council chambers on July 20. That hearing on the work on Church, Caroline and Franklin streets was re-scheduled to the next council meeting after a mistake was discovered in the legal advertisement for Wednesday hearing.

But some 10 citizens who own homes near the new post office were allowed to voice their objections to the street assessments even though the public hearing won't be held for another two weeks.

Councilmen Veto Slough Fund Request

NEENAH — Further improvements to the slough received a setback Wednesday when aldermen voted down a resolution calling for an additional $2,000 for further work this summer.

Ald. Howard Anunson, special slough committee chairman, asked for the extra funds to complete the leveling and dredging of the slough between Cecil Street and Winnebago Avenue.

Previously, several aldermen had objected to the added expenditure since they felt the improvements would benefit the property owners along the slough more than the city as a whole.

Since the $2,000 wasn't included in the budget, a two-thirds vote was needed. The measure failed when Aids large amount donated from the city, including the new YWCA building. The requested money would have gone toward the machine south side of Cecil had almost work necessary to level the free been completed and the com-fill.

Village Signs Salary Pact

Kimberly Board Okays Increase For Employees

KIMBERLY — The village board Tuesday night signed an agreement with the Kimberly Municipal Employees Association granting hourly paid workers a 4 per cent wage increase retroactive to Jan. 1.

The new agreement is in force until Dec. 31, 1966.

Ted Kemps and William Courchane were appointed to three-year terms on the board of appeals.

The board approved the rezoning of approximately 1.75 acres of land between John and Railroad streets from temporary to permanent industrial zoning as recommended by the planning commission. No objections to the rezoning were made at a public hearing. The board felt adding the tract to about half an acre of property already zoned for permanent industry would make the site more desirable to interested firms.

Purchase Shelter

The board approved the purchase of a new street sweeper from Mid-States Engineering Co., Milwaukee, for $8,357 plus trade-in. Also approved was the purchase of a small shelter for the Washington Street-Maes Avenue play area for $350.

The fire chief was authorized to attend a convention at Appleton Sunday through Wednesday.

The board of review will meet from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the village hall. The clerk's office will be closed all day. Persons having questions on assessments may appear at the board of review hearings.

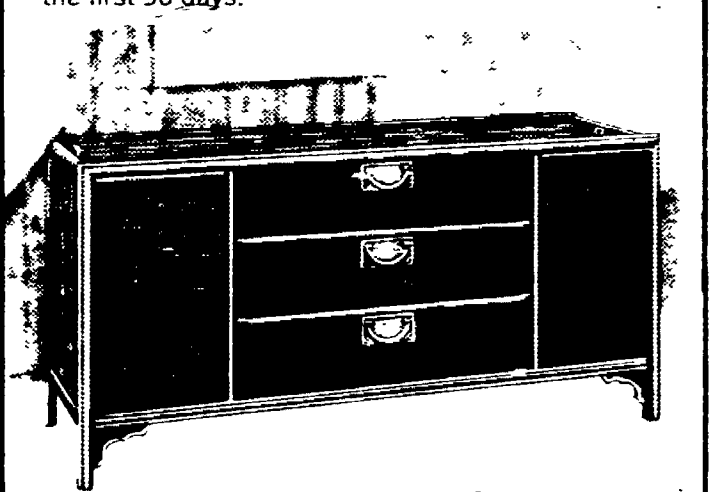

The committee was seeking to fill the east side of the slough between Winnebago and Cecil.

Some 30,000 yards of fill have been added to the edges of the slough, Anunson noted, with a large amount donated from the city, including the new YWCA building. The requested money would have gone toward the machine south side of Cecil had almost work necessary to level the free been completed and the com-fill.

Dynamic Duo Attempts to Foil Riddler

BY T. SCOTT

6:30-7:30 — Channels 11-5-9 — Batman and Robin escape becoming candles by a shaky maneuver that's hard to accept, even for this series. Then they attempt to foil the Riddler.

7:30-8:30 — Channels 11-5-9 — The Old Flame flickers dimly on The Double Life of Henry Phye. The idea is amusing. Henry must woo a gorgeous foreign agent who thinks he is her old beau. (L) But the execution is obvious with Red Buttons mugging as if he were a Casanova with a hot foot and Francine York wiggling as if she were on fire. (R-Color)

8:30-9:30 — Channels 11-5-9 — Shelley Morrison is back on Laredo as Linda Little Trees, the deadpan, larcenous squaw. This time she is heading a gang of bank robbers. The Rangers are chasing her as well as trying to cope with Albert Salmi, a well meaning fellow for whom things keep going wrong. Lots of fun in this one.

9:30-10:30 — Channels 11-5-9 — If Dean Martin Summer Show has a couple of diverting scenes, hosts Rowan and Martin spoof from Harvard and Columbia cowboys at a showdown and is associated with the Uta Kent Clark who can't get into New York.

Theater Festival Opens July 13 at Stevens Point

University Drama Department Initiates

Repertory Season With Four Great Plays

BY JINGO

Four plays will be presented on an unusual rotating basis at Wisconsin State University Stevens Point starting Wednesday, July 13. Titled the International Theater Festival, the venture will feature Robert Bolt's "A Man for All Seasons," Henry Gardner's "A Thousand Clowns," Graudoux Ondine and Mo'har's "The Guardsman."

Rather than offer the pass or the usual several straight nights basis, the summer theater group will vary the production from night to night. Three directors will handle the four plays.

"A Man for All Seasons" will open the Festival July 13 and will be repeated July 16, 22 and 28. "A Thousand Clowns" debuts July 14 and runs July 23 and 29 before ending Aug. 3. Ondine plays July 15, 21, 27 and Aug. 4. The final play, "The Guardsman," will be presented July 30 and Aug. 2 and 5.

"Guardsman" was separated from the remainder of the schedule because it will be directed by Jack Poggi who also handles "Seasons." Poggi Dean Martin Summer Show has in his second year as guest hosts Rowan and Martin spoof from Harvard and Columbia cowboys at a showdown and is associated with the Uta Kent Clark who can't get into New York.

Johnson Using Personal Plea For Support

President's Familiar
Call Appeals to Citizens' Patriotism

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — Four days after he became president, Lyndon B. Johnson declared: "I cannot bear this burden alone. I need the help of all Americans, and all America."
He has resorted to this technique again and again since then, making support for an administration program, bill or course of action a deeply personal matter.
And now, in mounting an offensive for his Viet Nam policy, Johnson is using his patented personal technique once more — in spades.

"There is no human being in all this world who wishes peace to come to the world more than your president of the United States," he said last week in Omaha.

"And if you are too busy or not inclined to help, please count 10 before you hurt," he told a crowd assembled on the bank of the Missouri River.

Praised Forces
At his news conference Tuesday at Johnson City, Johnson voiced high praise for the U.S. forces in Viet Nam and added this patriotic note:

"I am fearful that sometimes we do not give enough thought to those men as we sit here in the luxury of our front porch and lawn, that we don't recognize the men that are dying for us out in the rice paddies."

Not all of America's wars have been popular on the home front, but the call of patriotism largely succeeded in stifling meaningful opposition. The Viet Nam war is particularly unpopular.

In part, what Johnson is doing is seeking to squeeze out dissension from the stepup in the war's tempo by wrapping his policy in patriotism and in the institution of the presidency itself.

Nonpartisan Gloss
He does not ask support for himself as such but for the institution. This gives a nonpartisan gloss to the policy and seeks to reduce opposition to the level of petty bickering.

The "doves" and others who have doubts about the wisdom of the course the United States is following in Viet Nam see no easy solution.

Johnson is not saying there is one, but he insists there is only one course the United States can follow: Bring inexorable military pressure on North Viet Nam "until the day they decide to end this aggression and to make an honorable peace."

And he is saying it is his patriotic duty to steer on — and the patriotic duty of all Americans to follow.

Home Support
While Marines are "wading through the rice paddies up to their belts," he said in Omaha, "the least they are entitled to is for you to be as brave as they are and to stand up and give them the support they need here at home."

"We're not going to tuck our tail and run out of South Viet Nam," the President said at another point.

Bravery. Duty. Loyalty to friends in trouble. Not running away from responsibility. These are at the heart of patriotism.

The question now is whether the President's expression of these virtues will unite the country more solidly behind him — and convince some of his critics to drop their brickbats.

Osteen Pitches, Bats Dodgers To 1-0 Triumph

Mays Cracks 3-Run Homer as Giants Edge Cardinals, 3-2

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Take a strong arm, add lots of pressure and a portion of self-help and you have a Los Angeles Dodger pitcher. Claude Osteen fits the formula perfectly.

Osteen won his sixth game by a one-run margin this season Wednesday night — 1-0 against Cincinnati — and he drove in the run.

In bringing his record to 11-6, Osteen allowed the Reds just three hits and went 2-for-2 to raise his average to .261 with 12 hits in 46 at bats. One of his two singles drove home John Kenney in the eighth inning. In two of his other one-run decisions, Osteen who now has three RBIs, scored the winning run.

"Best First Half"
"This is the best first half I've ever had," Osteen said after gaining his second shutout of the year. "I've always pitched a lot better the second half of the season than I did the first."

Last year at this time Osteen was only 6-10, but he closed with a rush to finish at 15-15.

Coming through with key hits is nothing new for Los Angeles pitchers. Don Drysdale has done it many times in his career, so has Sandy Koufax, a notoriously poor hitter, and rookie Don Sutton is catching on fast. Sutton is hitting .271.

1 1/2 Games Ahead
Willie Mays smashed a three-run homer to give San Francisco a 3-2 victory over St. Louis and kept the Giants 1 1/2 games ahead of second place Pittsburgh, which trounced Chicago 10-5 for its 10th victory in the last 13 games.

The New York Mets beat Philadelphia 7-5 and Atlanta walloped Houston 8-1 in other National League games.

Mays' 524th career homer and 18th this season, came off relief pitcher Don Dennis with two men out in the eighth. It left him 10 behind Jimmy Fox who hit 534 homers, second only to Babe Ruth's 714.

Roberto Clemente doubled home two runs and drove in three more with his 13th homer.

Biole Offered Administrative Post at GBW

GREEN BAY (AP) — John Biole, who built Green Bay West into one of Wisconsin's perennial high school football powerhouses, has been offered the vice principalship at the school.

Should Biole, 50, accept the position, it would mean the one-time Green Bay Packer guard would have to resign as football and track coach and athletic director.

Biole was reportedly under-12 years at West, Biole's football teams have compiled a 64-26-3 record.

The Wildcats have won six Fox River Valley Conference championships.

At one stage, West had a 27-game winning streak.

Biole's track teams have won five conference titles and one state championship.

'Boog' Powell Ties AL's RBI Mark, but A's, Orioles Divide

Washington Sweeps Twin Bill From White Sox, 4-3 and 3-2

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boog Powell had his fancy hitting clothes on, but the Cincinnati Reds' slugger turned out to be Larry Stahl, who brought the Kansas City A's home just before the clock struck midnight.

Powell, Baltimore's slugging first baseman who has been on a hitting tear since the beginning of May, tied the American League record by driving in 11 runs in the Orioles' two-night doubleheader against the A's Wednesday night.

But the best the Orioles could do was gain a split, winning the opener 11-0 before Kansas City took the nightcap 3-8 when Stahl slipped into the glass slipper and doubled home the winning run in the 11th inning — just before a midnight curfew would have halted play.

Role As Spoilers
However, neither Stahl's key hit nor the A's sudden role as spoilers — they've won nine of their last 15 against front-running Baltimore, Detroit and Cleveland — could overshadow the one-man show put on by Powell.

The 24-year-old left-handed swinger drove in four runs in the opener with a three-run double and a sacrifice fly, then pushed into high gear in the nightcap and added seven runs batted in with a grand slam homer, a two-run homer and a run-producing double.

That tied the AL record for RBIs in a twinbill, accomplished previously only by Earl Averill of Cleveland in 1930 and Jim Tabor of Boston in 1939. It also lifted Powell's average to .301 and raised his RBI total to 66 — one short of the major league leader, teammate Brooks Robinson.

Other Games
Elsewhere, California edged Detroit 1-0 in 10 innings, Minnesota nipped Cleveland 4-3, Washington swept the Chicago White Sox 4-3 and 3-2 and Boston took two from the New York Yankees 5-3 and 5-1.

Powell's efforts in the first game backed Steve Barber's five-hit pitching, but he couldn't do it alone in the nightcap. The A's trailed 6-2, then moved ahead with a six-run rally in the eighth.

Powell pulled Baltimore back into a tie with a two-run homer with two out in the ninth before the A's finally won it in the 11th when Roger Repoz and Stahl

Foxes Lose To Dubuque In 13th, 5-2

January's 2-Out Homer Ends 3:52 Duel; Fox Cities in Cellar

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

"June in January" has been sweet music to the romantically inclined for years, but "January in July" has the slumping Fox Cities Foxes singing the blues.

Dubuque's Don January sent the Midwest League's first round champions down to their eighth defeat in 11 second-round starts and into the cellar with a 3-run, 2-out, 13th-inning homer at Goodland Field Wednesday night.

The veteran catcher's left-field blast off seasoned relief pitcher Willie Hooker climaxed a tense, 3-hour, 52-minute struggle and gave the Packers a 5-2 win in the rubber contest of a 3-game series.

Loss 3 In Overtime
The Foxes, who split even in 10 first-round extra-inning games, have now lost three overtime decisions in as many times during their hard-luck second-half start.

Fox Cities opens a 2-game series with Waterloo here at 8 p.m. today as it continues its uphill battle to become a second-round pennant contender. The Foxes, who trail pace-setting Cedar Rapids by six games, will start pitcher Steve Kuker.

Each team had several opportunities to end last night's defensive duel long before the 11:58 p.m. curtain descent, but outstanding pitching quelled threat after threat. Dubuque's Dick Hall pitched 11 strong innings before being relieved by winner Hugh Howden.

Foxes starter worked nine superb frames — allowing no earned runs and striking out 11 — but all he could show for it was a 2-2 standoff when he was removed for a pinch batter.

Hooker clutch-pitched his way out of three straight jams — stranding eight runners in the 10th, 11th and 12th — before

Fox Cities scored in the first inning and held a 1-0 lead for the first five frames. Three walks and a "receiving" error by first baseman Sonny Jackson accounted for the run.

The Foxes, who managed only seven hits in the game — for a collective average of .167 — were blanked by Hall for the next seven stanzas.

Dubuque, meanwhile, tied the game in the sixth on an error by shortstop Tom Dix, a single by Dwight Kenney and a sacrifice fly to short right field by January. Second baseman "Deacon" Jones saved a second run in the same inning by throwing out Kenney at the plate after recovering Dix's second bobble of the frame.

Leaves Game
Jones, incidentally, rapped a single to right in the eighth inning to extend his consecutive-game hitting streak to 15 games — the Foxes' longest of the season. Jones, however, had to

Packer Teammates Soon

Anderson, Grabowski Battle for Last Time In All-American Game

ATLANTA (AP) — Two rich-where they plan to room together young college football players — er, Donny Anderson of Texas Tech and Jim Grabowski of Illinois — will battle for the last time Saturday night before they team up East's starting fullback and Anderson playing halfback for the Green Bay Packers.

Anderson will play for the West and Grabowski for the East in the Coaches All-American Game, which marks the second time they have duelled.

The two youngsters — each of whom received a bonus reportedly in the neighborhood of $600,000 to sign with the Packers — were on opposite sides last January in the Hula Bowl at Honolulu.

"Had Better Day"
"We won that game by one point," Grabowski said, "although Donny had a better day than I did. I scored a conversion, but he caught a couple of nice passes."

Grabowski and Anderson will team up for the College All-Star Game in Chicago Aug. 5, when the 1965 college standouts meet the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Football League.

Then the two hard-running backs will report to Green Bay.

Dale, Voss Sign Packer Pacts for '66

GREEN BAY — Packer General Manager Vince Lombardi today announced the signing of Carroll Dale and Lloyd Voss to their 1966 contracts.

Dale, a 6-2, 200-pound speedster from VPI, came to the Packers last season from the Rams and broke into the starting lineup immediately.

Last year he ranked second among Green Bay receivers with 20 catches good for 382 yards and two touchdowns.

In the championship game he scored the initial Packer touchdown on a 47-yard aerial from Bart Starr.

Dale is also considered an excellent blocker.

Lloyd Voss, the Packers' No. 1 draft choice for 1964 from the University of Nebraska, has 10-pound walleye and a 41-inch northern that weighed 21 defense.

Reports from other fishing counties in Wisconsin said that efforts continued to be rewarding. At least 29 counties listed good bass fishing. The Sawyer County summary told of catches that included a 6-pound bass, a 10-pound walleye and a 41-inch northern that weighed 21 pounds.

Eagles Sign Gros, Howell and Baker

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Signing of Fullback Earl Gros, offensive tackle Lane Howell, and kicking specialist Sam Baker, was announced Wednesday by the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

Baker was the club's leading scorer last season with 38 conversions and nine field goals for 65 points.

Midget Combines High IQ With Acting Talents

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Pound for pound and inch for inch, Michael Dunn may well be the smartest man in the world.

But undoubtedly he is the most successful dwarf in show business, since the late Tom Thumb.

Michael is 31, weighs 78, stands 3 feet and 10 inches in his stockings, and has an intelligence quotient of 178.

"Theoretically, I'm a genius," said Michael, peering owlishly through thick-lensed glasses over a plate of parsley at his favorite Broadway saloon.

"Being a so-called genius doesn't mean you can do anything. But it is of some help to anyone. It makes your mind more fun."

For his role as the philosophic traveler in "Ship of Fools," Dunn became the first fellow his size ever to be nominated for an Academy Award. He recently completed work on a second film, and has two more lined up.

Also in the works are a Broadway play and a television series of his own in which he plays a detective who is "more cerebral than muscular."

Height Incidental
"I'm not a professional midget — I'm an actor," carefully pointed out Michael, whose theater pals call him "Gremlin" and "the Purple Avenger."

"There's a difference. A midget gets carried onstage in a basket, pops out, says a funny line and runs off. I don't think that takes much talent."

"My lack of height is incidental. It would be foolish to say that people don't notice it, but I transcend it."

"Most stage parts for midgets or dwarfs are pratfalls. But now they are writing me real roles."

Michael suffers from achondroplasia, a congenital but not hereditary disease also known as fetal rickets, in which cartilage fails to develop properly.

"I knew by the time I was 3 or 4 that I would always be small," he said matter of factly. "But my mind gave me a good edge."

"I never got hung up emotionally because my parents wisely let me do what I wanted to as a child. They didn't overprotect me. If they had, I'd have turned out to be a pretty sour character."

"I played football and basketball and got my nose broken a few times. I'm still a good swimmer and a very dirty water polo player."

Concert Pianist
Unable to achieve a career as a concert pianist, he started singing in night clubs at $5 an evening, now on occasion makes $2,000 for a single television performance.

Using special rigs, Dunn is able to drive a car or fly an airplane. He is cheerful and light-hearted about being a small man in a tall world.

"I can't change a ceiling light bulb," he remarked, "and I carry a cane to push elevator buttons."

Children to Display Acquired Swim Skills

KAUKAUNA — The final day of swimming instruction for the first summer class will be held Friday and will be designated "show-off day". Parents will be permitted to enter the pool area to observe skills acquired by their youngsters.

Youngsters are to attend even though not accompanied by a parent as report cards will be issued, according to Richard Stegeman, pool supervisor.

You can imagine what a problem I have on a hot day to get a drink from a water cooler. But how you take a handicap depends on how you were raised. I never was brought up to feel that my short size made me any less of a human, or to assert my difference in order to gain respect. The idea is to be the most human being you can."

Skilled Sculptor
Michael was born in Shattuck, Okla., and grew up in the Detroit area, where his father is an engineer and his mother teaches school.

Dunn is a skilled amateur sculptor, sometimes reads five to six books in a day, and is as gregarious as a friendly fox terrier.

"I genuinely like all people unless they prove they aren't worth it," he said. "What I do detest is voluntary ignorance, the complacent stupidity some people nurse so well. Iron brains!"

Michael smiled, shook his head, took a big bite of parsley.

Economics Focus of Bloc Talks
BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Leaders of the Soviet bloc turned to economic discussions today after agreeing on a declaration concerning European security and Viet Nam. The declaration, to be published later today, was expected to reflect disagreement about Germany and Soviet control over the other European Communist armies.

In a communique signed Wednesday night, the leaders from the Soviet Union and its six European allies condemned "new criminal acts of the American armed forces directed toward intensifying the war against the Vietnamese people."

This was an obvious reference to U.S. bombings of fuel depots in the suburbs of Hanoi and Haiphong.

The communique, issued at the end of a secret three-day meeting, was signed by delegations from Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, Romania and the Soviet Union.

Will he know enough to stay free?

To stay free a country requires informed citizens. In today's world newspapers are the great information multipliers. They are the foundation of responsible citizenship on which every free nation depends.

Luis is ten years old, bright but only half-literate. Luis lives in a developing country. It is a country emerging from poverty, ignorance, political instability and disorder, struggling to enter the 20th century world of high living standards, modern technology and free democratic institutions.

In a few years Luis will be an adult. Upon him the future of his country will rest. Luis will depend, as men do in all free countries, on a newspaper to teach him, keep him informed. Luis' country needs newspapers. Newspapers can stir Luis, awaken him to the needs and opportunities which face him and his country. Only to the extent that Luis can emerge from his semi-literacy can he participate in the building of a free and modern nation. One hundred and fifty years ago, when America was an "emerging nation," Thomas Jefferson put it this way: "If a nation expects to be ignorant and free, in a state of civilization, it expects what never was and never will be."

In this struggle to enter "a state of civilization," repeated today in nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America, American citizens have a stake. For ignorance anywhere, as we see every day, threatens freedom everywhere. This year the American Newspaper Publishers Association Foundation, an organization founded to encourage freedom of speech and press around the world, has inaugurated the World Press Achievement Award. Its purpose: to recognize and honor these newspapers in the developing nations of the world which are contributing to the building of informed citizens. These newspapers need encouragement.

Often they operate with obsolete printing equipment. Their personnel are ill-trained. They must frequently combat government hostility. Their readers, often wretchedly poor, lack the education to read or understand. Frequently, it is a struggle for these newspapers to exist at all. Yet the newspaper is indispensable in these countries, as it is in free nations everywhere, because nothing substitutes for the newspaper's capacity to educate, to arouse, to challenge, to inform. A newspaper sets forth the face of its age. It interprets the manifold possibilities which lie before Luis, his nation, or any nation. A free and independent newspaper offers people the freedom to think and to know and thus the capacity to do. The world to stay free needs such newspapers.
